Equitable Representation in Legislature to Be Considered by Members.

SESSION BEGINS MONDAY

Public Service Board and Liability Law Among Subjects of Interest to Corporations. Other Work Outlined.

With no United States Senator to slect, the time of the Oregon Legislature, which convenes tomorrow, will be occupied in the consideration of legislation. Several bills, important to the state and its various administrative departments, have been prepared and will be presented early in the session. It would not be at all surprising, however, if the aggregate number of measures proposed fell far snort of the record of the Legislature at the two preceding sessions.

of particular interest and importance to the entire state is the reapportionto the entire state is the reapportionment of Representative and Senatorial districts, which must be made at this session. There is a constitutional provision that requires the Legislature to make a new apportionment of the legislative representation in the state at the session immediately following a state or Federal census. As on former occasions this legislation will consume
a great deal of time.

Reapportionment Is Difficult.

Reapportionment Is Difficult.

It will be a difficult problem for the apportionment to be made satisfactorily without increasing the present membership of the Legislature. In this Multnomah County is especially interested Having a third of the population of the state and paying 36 per cent of the total state tax, Multnomah County has only 20 members, including one Joint Representative and one Joint Senator, of a total membership of 90 in the Legislature. It will be the purpose of the delegation from this county to undertake to obtain for Multnomah its proper legislative representation in the undertake to obtain for Multnomah its proper legislative representation in the apportionment that is to be made.

It is also more than probable that the Legislature will be called upon to redistrict the state by creating another Congressional district. It is generally agreed that the population of the state, agreed that the population of the state, as determined by the recent census, entitled Oregon to another Representative in Congress. Before the additional district can be created, and this is to be determined by the Legislature, it is necessary for Congress to fix the basis of apportionment for determining further representation in Congress from the different states. Congress is expected to take this action in time to smable the Legislature to establish the new district before adjournment. district before adjournment.

State Line to Be Adjusted.

Final determination of the boundary ne between Oregon and Washington this session. By the decision of the United States Supreme Court two years ago, Sand Island was awarded to Oregon. At the same time it was stipulated that the exact boundary line in the vicinity of the island should be determined by commissions appointed by the two states, the decision of the joint commission to be enacted into law by the Legislatures of the two states and to be final. It has been represented by session. to be final. #### required. Corporation Laws Promised.

Of particular interest to corporations is the probability that legislation will be enacted creating a public service commission. It is understood that two such measures already have been pre pared. One applies generally to all public service corporations of the state, while the other is designed to reach and regulate these corporations in Multnomah County only. There is some talk of extending the powers of the Oregon Railroad Commission so as to include all public service corporations not now served by that organization. This is being urged in some tion. This is being urged in some quarters as being preferable to the creation of an additional commission. However, it is reasonably certain that some legislation will be enacted look-ing to the regulation and control of all electric light, gas, water-power corpo-rations and electric street railways.

Corporations will seek to secure some amendments to the employers' liability law, passed by the people under the initiative at the November election. By large employers of labor it is contended that this statute in its present form is too drastic. Besides removing the limit of damages which may be sued for the death of an employe, the law imposes conditions, say employers, which are not only onerous but operate as a serious handicap to their enterprises, besides discouraging investment of out-side capital,

Illinois Will Oppose Change.

Representatives of the labor organisations, however, are not unmindful of the proposed amendment of the law and will make a determined fight to retain the measure in the form as adopted by the people. In fact, labor leaders have been active among the members of the Legislature for several days.

Creation of a Board of Control, which will have control of all of the state boards and institutions, is among the bills contemplated. Many of the Re-publican members of the Legislature feel that such a board should be provided, in view of the fact that the state has a Democratic Governor. In urging such a board, the personnel of which undoubtedly would be named by the Legislature, which is strongly Re-publican, Republicans refer to the fact that in event of a vacancy in the office that in event of a vacancy in the office of Secretary of State or State Treasurer. Governor West would appoint a Democrat, giving to the minority party two of the three members of the State Board. This would give to the Democrats complete control of all state natronage.

paironage. Provision undoubtedly will be made by the Legislature for purchasing sup-plies for all state institutions at one time and then distributing them through a commissary department to the various institutions as they are required. Such a reformation in the purchase of state supplies was promised the people of the state by Acting Governor Bowerman during the late campaign. Governor West has since expense to the court of the state are not averse to giving Multinomah all the Judges actually required to handle the work of the courts, but in doing so they feel that they are entitled to some relief, since the salaries of all Circuit pressed himself as favoring some plan for centralizing the state's purchasing power as a measure of economy. Many members of the Legislature also recog-nize the expediency of such a pro-gramme, so it is to be expected the proposed plan will be established.

Deficiencies to Be Avoided.

Representative Bonebrake will advocate some plan for insuring to each state institution and branch of the state government adequate appropriations at each blennial session of the Legislature to serve for the ensuing two years. It is his idea that the Legislature should make adequate appropriations to meet all needs and, if possible, relieve each succeeding Legislature from providing for the deficiencies which are now reported from the different institutions at every session. Mr. Bonebrake realizes that he proposes an intricate matter, but he believes the purposes can be served through the appointment of a committee which shall visit the various institutions, ascertain their legitimate needs for the two-year period and then submit its report to the Legislature for its guidance in making appropriations.
The Benton County Representative has interested several of his colleagues and expects before the session ends to devise some practical plan for carrying his idea into operation.

Demand for good roads throughout the state, it is believed, insures legislation which will promote these improvements. Several bills on this subject have been drafted and will be introduced. Five measures will be submitted by the Oregon Good Roads Association. Priefly they provide as follows: mitted by the Oregon Good Roads Association. Briefly they provide as follows: Issuance of bonds by the several counties; creation of a highway commission; appropriation by the state of $10,000 per annum to each county expending $20,000 in road construction; employment of state, county and city prisoners on roads. Just to what ex-tent these measures will be indorsed by the Legislature is entirey problemati-cal, but it is to be depended upon that some definite and practical plan of road building will be provided at this

Scale of Salaries Proposed.

At every session of the Legislature, numerous bills are presented for adjusting the salaries of county officials in different sections of the state. Representative Buchanan will again this year offer a bill, which, if enacted, will fix the compensation of all county of fix the compensation of all county of-ficials for some time. He has a measure that provides a graduated scale of salaries for all county officials in the state. The salary of each is based on the population and assessed valuation of the county to be served. The same bill was introduced by Mr. Buckerne at the 189 service but it falled chanan at the 1909 session, but it failed to pass. The author of this bill figures that, if enacted into a law, his plan will operate satisfactorily in every county and will relieve the Legislature of the trouble every two years of wrestling with numerous bills on the same subject.

Two years ago the Legislature declined to amend in any important particular the direct primary law. Considering the complexion of the incoming Legislature it is not to be expected that this statute will be materially changed at this session. There is talk, however, of amending the law in two or three slight parsion. There is talk, however, of amending the law in two or three slight particulars. Under the operation of the law in its present form, the primary nominating election comes on Saturday. This keeps a great many laboring men from participating. An effort will be made to change the law and have the primary election held on some other day of the week.

Ballot May Be Changed.

Some objection exists to that provision of the pamary law which provides for the alphabetical arrangement of the names of candidates on the official ballot in both the primary and the general elec-tions. This objection can be met by either of two changes. One suggests the drawing of lots by rival candidates to

Normal Issue Out of Way.

For many years much of the time of the Legislature has been taken up in wrestling with the Normal School question. This issue always has re-sulted in obstructing other legislation and at the same time influenced frequently other measures before the law-makers. Members or the session this year feel that they will be spared a further consideration of this trouble-some subject.

At the November election the question of whether or not the state should support three normal schools was sub-mitted to a vote of the people. A tax was voted for the support of the Mon-mouth school but the others were re-jected. This verdict of the people is accepted by the average legislator as final and it is improbable that the friends of either the Ashland or the Weston school will seek further aid from the state at this time. It is more than probable, however, that an appropriation will be asked for needed buildings at Monmouth.

As a consequence of the adoption by the people in November of a constitu-tional amendment which admits of a virtual reorganization of the judiciary system of the state, legislation on this subject is sure to appear during the session. Among other things, the popular amendment has placed no limit on the number of Justices of the Supreme Court. An effort will be made, it is said, to increase the number of Jus-tices from five to seven.

Judges Bill Resisted.

There also is a report to the effect that a bill will be introduced provid-There also is a report to the effect that a bill swill be introduced provid-ing for two additional Circuit Judges in Multnomah County. Such a bill will be resisted vigorously from many quar-ters. Sentiment among several of the ters. Sentiment among several of the legislators from counties outside of Multnomah is such that if any attempt is made to increase the judiciary in this county then a demand will be made by the outside counties for more Judges, increased salaries for those now serving and more frequent terms of Circuit Court.

of Circuit Court.

There are several sections of the state in which terms of court are held only once in six months. In such districts the Judges receive only $3000 annually and the reason more frequent court terms are not held is that the expense to the Judge in covering his district is too great. These legislators from the interior of the state are not averse to giving Multnomah all the Judges actually required to handle the

DEATH TAKES RUBEN WEEKS, PIONEER OF DAYS OF GOLD IN CALIFORNIA.

Reuben Weeks, a '49 pioneer of San Francisco, and of Portland in 1850, died in his apartments at the Hobart-Curtis yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Mr. Weeks was born in Dutchess County, N. Y., on February 15, 1829. He was of English ancestry.

At the age of 20, learning of the discrovery of gold in California, he joined the Argonauts and came West, via Cape Horn, arriving at San Francisco late in 1849. He visited a number of mining camps in the Winter of 1849-50, and made the acquaintance of James Fields, a Portland pioneer of 1845, and was thus induced to come to Portland in the fall of 1859. Soon afterwards he went to Southern Oregon, and then to Yreka, Cal., where he resided until 1862. He then returned to Portland and had since been a resident of this city. Mr. Weeks had a varied experience in business affairs, first as a miner, then as a butcher, and afterwards as a retail grocer, for many years in partnership with A. H. Morgan. He acquired a competence and retired from business several years ago. He was married to Miss Clarissa W. Churchill in Orange years ago. He was married to Miss Clarissa W. Churchill in Orange County, N. Y., on May 24, 1854. She survives him. He became a member of Trinity Episcopal Church soon after becoming a citizen of Portland, and as a representative of that church was a charter member of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, which was organteed in March, 1868.

The funeral will take place at Trinity Episcopal Church tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock. The following persons will act as pall bearers: Judge John B. Cleland, W. A. Cleland, Judge E. C. Bronaugh, E. L. Thompson, William H. Dunckiey and R. Tucker.

That interest in the Angora goat industry is growing was the tenor of an address by Alva L. McDonald, secretary of the association. Mr. McDonald said that the Angora industry had furnished a partial solution of the logged-off land question, as goats were able to obtain nutriment from the plants and grasses which grow on such lands.
