AVIATOR DARES TO GOLDEN GATE

Latham Hovers Over Portals of Pacific, While 15,000 Witness Flight.

Willard and Ely Give Exhibitions of Spectacular Nature, While Radley Circles Goat Island. Weather Is Favorable.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Rivalry between the English aviator, James Radley, and Hubert Latham, the Radley, and Hubert Latham, the Frenchman, was responsible for two spectacular flights at the opening today of San Francisco's eight-day avia-tion meet. Not to be outdone by Rad-ley, who in his Bieriot monoplane, ley, who in his Bieriot monopiane, gave the city its first real aeropiane thrill by flying from the grounds and direling over the ferry slips and the Pacific cruiser fleet in the bay, Latham, a few minutes after the Englishman had returned to the aviation grounds in South San Francisco, mounted his Antoinette monopiane and headed for the Golden Gate.

Radley contented himself with hov-Radiey contented himself with hov-gring over the waterfront and round-ing Goat Island, which rears its recky front midway of the harbor, but La-tham followed the bay past the city and to the very portais of the Pacific, cir-cling like a huge guil over the cliffs that guard the Golden Gate. Returning to the grounds he took a lofty course about the enclosure and then swept down the field, having been nearly 50 minutes in the air. Both Radiey and Latham received evations for their ex-ploits from a crowd of more than 15, 500 enthusiastic spectators. $60 enthusiastic spectators.

Other interesting flights marked the tnauguartion of the meeting. Charles F. Willard and Eugene Ely gave bomb-throwing exhibitions from a height of several hundred feet and Walter Brookins and Phillip Parmalee delighted the crowd with altitude trials.

No records were broken today, but the majority of the man birds made frequent flights and cut fancy capers of a thrilling nature. Four or five machines were in the air at the same Other interesting flights marked the

AERIAL EXPRESS IS WRECKED

Masson's Machine Hits Earth Near Pomona Too Hard.

POMONA, Cal., Jan. 7 .- The first attempt to use a heavier-than-air ma-chine as an aerial express met with failure today.

Didler Masson, the French aviator, who left Los Angeles shortly after 7 o'clock this morning to deliver news-papers in Pomona and San Bernardino, became lost in the hills to the north of this city and after steering a procarious course between the precipit-ous cliffs of various canyons, landed with a joit near a winery at Rochester, 12 miles west of San Bernardino.

Masson was to have made his first landing here to unload papers and take off gasoline, but he evidently lost his bearings long before he arrived in this vicinity, as thousands of persons gath-ered to witness the arrival of the aerial express saw him flying over the foot-hills far to the northward. Business was suspended here during the walt for the aviator, and remained suspended while the hunt was on for him. Masson's mechanician, who was ent on ahead to awalt him, took one of the automobiles and while the avia-tor was on his way here to find his salstant, the mechanic reached Rochester and began work on the damaged

"There never can come to your excellency," he said, "a greater opportunity to reach out and do justice."

Fulton Makes Plea.

Ex-United States Senator Fulton declared that the public conscience revolts at the injustice of carrying out this judgment. "It would be a blot on the fair name of the state and on the sense of justice of the people of the state. I have never believed that the judgmnt was justified by the fact," he said.

Decrying the obscurity of the law and stating it is "shocking" to think that a man can be sent to the Penitentiary for five years because of a statute for which even those learned in the law must delve deep to find and after it is found will be uncertain as to its meaning and its intent.

City Treasurer Werlein, of Portland, ex-plained some of the tasks in connection with keeping public funds and ridiculed the idea that each city fund must be kept in a separate sack in the vaults. showing that it would be necessary to have 500 such sacks to properly care for the funds of the City of Portland if such should be considered a necessity.

Harrison Allen called attention to a letter directed to the Governor by mem-bers of the Supreme Court in which it bers of the Supreme Court in which it is shown that the acts of Ross involved no moral turpitude and he stated that in criminal actions, there must be criminal intent and where there is no moral turpitude involved there can be no criminal intent and that the Supreme Court virtually absolved Ross of guilt in writing this letter.

Ministers Tell of Character.

Rev. William Hiram Foulkes and Rev. Rev. William Hiram Foulkes and Rev. William S. Gilbert, both pastors of Presbyterian churches in Portland also offered pleas touching upon the character of Ross upon the humiliation and anguish he has suffered and the fact that it is the general concensus of opinion among the common people, as they have found it, that a pardon for Ross would be more of an act of justice than an act of mercy. An exceptionally strong exhibit was made in favor of Ross by petitions and letters. Petitions, bearing 2000 signatures were, presented to the Governor and Mayor Simon stated it is doubtful if it would be possible to secure a stronger would be possible to secure a stronger set of 2000 names in the State of Oregon. Having been asked for an expression of opinion on the application of J. Thorburn Ross for a pardon, we can state that an examination of the evidence brought up on appeal in his case shows no moral turpitude. In the management of the funds deposited with him by the State Treasurer, he seems to have acted on the belief that a prior decision of this court construed the law as upholding the right, generally, to deposit the educational funds of the state in any bank therein. The decision in that case reasonably justified the construction then placed upon it by Mr. Ross, but in the opinion of the majority of the our at the trial of his case it was determined that the law respecting this point was changed by the act of 1967, holding that a criminal intent was not an element of the alleged offense.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 .- A determined effort to lay the foundation for a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canaga was initiated today, when Secretary Knox welcomed at the State Department the repre-sentatives of the Canadian government. Mr. Knox explained to them the powers conferred on the representa-tives of the Department of State and the purposes of the United States Government in entering negotiations.

There were six Ambassadors at the conference, for in addition to Chandler P. Anderson, Charles M. Pepper and John B. Osborne, for the United States, and W. S. Indications are the negotiations will consume at least a week.
