Concerning Housefurnishings

Doubtless you need something new for your home—a piece of furniture, perhaps, or new floor coverings, draperies, curtains, or wall papers. In buying them look for comfort, for beauty of design and finish, and for durability. Buy these qualities as cheaply as possible, of course, but get them anyway. Don't waste your money on furniture that is uncomfortable, poorly made, tawdry or commonplace in design. You would soon be disgusted with it. The world has moved and the day of ugly and inharmonious homes is happily almost at an end. Just now we are offering the right sort of furnishings at prices that will delight you. Our stocks are very large, and are, as always, notable for their variety, beauty and exclusiveness. During January everything is included in our Clearance Sale. The price reductions are very great—so great that many people are now buying and paying for things not to be delivered for months. If you need house-furnishings, select now. The store is thronged with buyers and articles sold will not be replaced during this sale.

Gathered at the Portland Commercial Club at their third annual reunion, members of the Eighth Cathedral Class (1907) of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons, of Oregon, attended a dinner at noon yesterday and listened to a programme of addresses. A large percentage of the class was present and the occasion was a highly successful and enjoyable affair.

Being the second largest cathedral class organized since the charter of the Order of Perfection was granted in 1879, the class also contains many persons who are prominently identified in business and public affairs of the state.

Annand Is Toastmaster.

In the absence from the city of J. C. Roberts, president of the class, John Annand, a member of the City Council, presided as toastmaster. Mr. Annand made a short address, referring to the high membership of the class. Other addresses were made by W. R. Mackenzie, Archie Thurlow, E. G. Jones, Judge George Taswell, Isaac Swett, D. S. Tommasini, Dr. C. S. Hosmer, H. P. Palmer and W. H. See.

W. F. Dillon proposed a toast of good health and prosperity of the absent members of the class.

Among the prominent Oregon men who received the 32d degree with the class of '07 is Judge Will R. King, of the State Supreme Bench; Judge Grant B. Dimick, of Oregon City, a member of the mother lodge of the Pacific Coast; Judge George Taswell, of the Portland Municipal Court.

The Eighth Cathedral Class is the only one of the jurisdiction that has inaugurated an annual gathering and banquet. The members expect to make the reunions notable affairs in the history of Scottish Rite Masonry in Oregon. Records will be kept of each annual meeting for future reference.

The semi-annual reunion of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons of the Oregon Jurisdiction came to a close last night when the 32d degree was conferred upon the members of the 1910 Cathedral Class at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Morrison and Lowndale streets.

The ceremonies were directed by P. S. Malcolm, head of the Scottish Rite Masonic Lodge in Oregon, and L. G. Clarke, who is in charge of the Portland body. At the close of the exemplification an address was given by J. Woods Smith, orator of the 1910 class. The programme was concluded with a banquet given in honor of the members of the class.

BIG TRACT IS GIVEN

Mrs. Weinhard Donates to German Aid Society.

MAYOR SIMON HEADS LIST

Twenty Acres, Bought by Brewer's Widow With Benevolent Purpose In Mind, Is Now Declared to Be Worth $30,000.

Mrs. Louise Weinhard, widow of Henry Weinhard, the millionaire brewer, has donated a valuable tract of 20 acres east of Mount Tabor to the General German Aid Society of Portland. The gift was announced at the annual meeting of the society Friday night, and steps were taken at once to utilize the land by building a home for the aged. A subscription list was opened and about $7,000 cash was subscribed, Mayor Simon heading the list with a donation of $1000.

Situated on the north side of the Section Line road a quarter of a mile east of the Mount Tabor reservoir, the land is level and fertile. It is now occupied by a tenant who raises poultry, fruit and garden truck. The lease will expire next September, when the land will be taken over by the aid society.

The tract is well adapted for the purpose intended, and was bought with that object in view by Mrs. Weinhard five years ago, shortly after the death of her husband. She had a well driven on the place and it now supplies good water, and a city water main will soon be extended to the tract. The farm is at the edge of the city, yet has all the advantages of country life. While it is necessary now to walk some distance to the carline, it is expected that the tracks will be extended east along the Section Line road in the near future. Real estate dealers say the land is worth $1500 an acre, or $30,000 in all, at It has long been the cherished hope of a conservative appraisal.

of the aid society to build and maintain a home for the aged and also an orphan's home, which will follow in due course. With plenty of fresh air, good water and healthful occupation for the charges, it is thought that this tract will furnish an ideal location. In addition, the institutions will be in a measure self-supporting because of the productive character of the land.

The General German Aid Society was organized 40 years ago as a purely benevolent institution and is maintained by voluntary donations and by assessment on members. The society owns a valuable quarter block at the southeast corner of Eleventh and Morrison streets and has other property scattered in and about Portland.

At the meeting Friday night annual reports were made by officers, showing how indigent worthy Germans were aided during the last year. Officers for the ensuing year were elected, as follows: President, John Reissacher, re-elected for the 13th time; vice-president, Charles J. Schnabel, re-elected for the 17th time; secretary, H. C. Bohlmann, re-elected for the ninth time; treasurer, Peter Wagner, who was chosen to succeed the late H. Clausen; trustees, C. H. Meussdorffer, Albin Saling, John Griebel, William Isensee and John Matthies.
