  - William M. Killingsworth, president of Portland Realty Board, real estate.

That there will be a spirited contest in the election of governors for the Portland Commercial Club, to be held January 23, is already apparent by the presentation of names in opposition to the ticket presented by the nominating committee. One full ticket and one independent candidate are already in the field and it is likely that there will be several additional names and combinations before January 23, when the names are to be posted. Last year was the first year that there was no evidence of insurgency and the ticket suggested for consideration by the nominating committee was elected without appreciable opposition.

The anti-regular ticket is based largely upon the desire of the members of the club who patronize the billiard room for representation. They contend that they have had no representative on the board of governors for three or four years, and inasmuch as they furnish a good share of the funds they want three or four seats on the board. Hedley V. Carleton, of the George Murton Audit Company, is chief spokesman for the anti and is directing their campaign.

William M. Killingsworth's candidacy is based upon the action of the Portland Realty Board at its recent meeting and the appointment of a committee to secure the consideration of the board's claim. It is held by the real estate men that they should be represented upon the board of governors and have a voice in the operations of the club. It is asserted that real estate interests are now not represented.

With regard to the amendments which will be upon the agenda, it is argued that it is imposing an extra cost upon the club for all past presidents to receive life memberships, which exempt them from dues, and that United States Army and Navy officers should be admitted but that they should receive no other favors than are accorded any other member in dues and initiation fees.

The election will be held in the parlors of the club from 7 to 9 Saturday, January 23. The regular annual meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. Members

REVENUE IS INCREASED

Mayor Simon Studies Effect New Liquor Law.

Every detail of the new liquor ordinance is being studied by Mayor Simon, preliminary to determining regarding his approval of the ordinance. The Mayor yesterday morning caused statistics and estimates to be prepared to determine whether the revenue to result from the new ordinance will be a material increase over previous revenues. From these he learned that the new law would probably bring into the city treasury about $10,000 a year more than the present ordinance.

The figures show that the revenue for 1910 under the present law amounted to $265,241.10, while the estimates prepared by the license department show that the new ordinance should bring a revenue of about $274,999 a year.

"I cannot arrive at any conclusion until after I have given the ordinance careful study," said the Mayor. "I am going through it from beginning to end for the purpose of thoroughly understanding it before I act on it."

There has been some suggestion that the terms of the ordinance make valid powers of attorney granted by the new ordinance for two years to brewers, by which they can control the saloon men. There was no mention in the former liquor laws of the city of these powers of attorney and when the City Attorney was asked for an opinion regarding their validity, he held that they have no legal standing, as the liquor traffic was entirely in the hands of the Council.

In the new ordinance, however, it is provided that powers of attorney now in existence "shall be null and void so far as the City of Portland is concerned, from and after December 31, 1911." Whether the courts might construe this sentence to mean that until December 31, 1912, powers of attorney are made valid, is a question that may have to be determined later.

The new ordinance, if approved by Mayor Simon, will go into effect April 1, and after that time all liquor licenses, with the exception of saloon licenses, will be increased.

COURT HALTS SPENDTHRIFT

E. C. Bronaugh Named Guardian of Leon Vial, Wealthy Youth.

Leon Vial, a rich young spendthrift whose wife sued him for a divorce several days ago for cruelty, was placed under a guardian yesterday. On application of Paul Vial, brother of Leon, County Judge Cleaton named E. C. Bronaugh guardian of young Vial.

Heretofore Vial's allowance of cash will be limited to his actual needs and he will be prevented from encumbering his property or squandering his means. He has an equity in property at the northwest corner of Sixth and Washington streets, his share having a value of more than $100,000.

The young man did not resist the appointment of a guardian, acquiescing in the showing made in court that he is a spendthrift and incompetent to handle his financial affairs. His specialty has been "joy-rides" and roadhouses for some time. Until several months ago he was under the guardianship of H. L. Durham, who resigned that trust several months ago.

POULTRY CLUB NUCLEUS

Association Elects Officers and Plans for Next Year's Show.

The Oregon Poultry & Pet Stock Association closed up its business for last year recently and has a good balance in the treasury to start with for the show next year.

The new board of directors elected officers as follows: President, M. Jay Myers; secretary, S. E. Smith; treasurer, H. Lee Paget; superintendent, C. D. Minton. It was decided to have a score-card show again next year and the secretary was instructed to write to various judges for prices. The show dates for the coming year will be December 4 to December 9. It is the intention of the management to have the judges foot up score-cards each evening after judging and make the awards on the birds that have been scored during the day. The awards will then be turned over to the superintendent who will see that the premiums are in place the morning of the next day after the birds have been scored.

GROWERS UNITE TO PREVENT GLUTS

Apple Men See Necessity of Making Provision for Increasing Product.

YEAR'S OUTPUT $9,000,000

Vastly Greater Acreage Will Come Into Bearing in Near Future. Many Delegates Will Attend Meeting in Portland.

ESTIMATED SALES OF PACIFIC NORTHWEST APPLES IN EAST IN 1910.
State	Amount
Washington	5,500,000
Oregon	2,500,000
Idaho	1,000,000
Total	9,000,000

If they can control the sale of $9,000,000 worth of Northwest apples in the Eastern states, advocates of the proposed Co-operative Apple Selling Agency Company believe that they will eliminate all possibility of overproduction and ruinous competition. Should this organization be perfected at its meeting in Portland January 24, it will be the largest fruit-selling agency in the world. Both the orange and raisin co-operative organizations, the success of which has been noteworthy, are smaller.

Regardless of its mere size, the advocates of the plan believe that the plan is practicable. Many fruitgrowers' associations of Washington, Idaho and Oregon have signified their intention to be represented at the meeting. Among the speakers will be Daniel E. Willard, of St. Paul, development agent of the Northern Pacific; Fremont Wood, of Boise, Idaho, judge of the Third Judicial District; Miles Cannon, of Weller, Idaho; E. F. Benson, of Prosser, Wash., president of the Washington State Horticultural Society, and C. E. Whistler, of Medford, Or.

Delegates Are Coming.

Delegates from every local association of fruitgrowers in the Pacific Northwest will be allowed to present. Acceptances have been received from the following Boise Valley Fruitgrowers' Association, Boise, Idaho; Yakima Horticultural Union, North Yakima, Wash.; Yakima Valley Fruitgrowers' Association, North Yakima, Wash.; Hood River Applegrowers' Union; Weller Fruit & Produce Growers' Association, Weller, Idaho; Walla Walla Fruitgrowers' Association, Walla Walla, Wash.; Goldendale Applegrowers' Union, Goldendale, Wash.; Rogue River Fruit & Produce Association, Medford, Or.

Shipments of apples from the Pacific Northwest originate to a large extent from the following points: Wenatchee, Cashmere, North Yakima, Toppenish, Prosser, Walla Walla and Goldendale, in Washington; Milton, Frazer, Hood River, Mosier, Medford and Ashland, in Oregon; and Payette, Boise and Weller, in Idaho.

An area twice, and some estimate three times as large as at present, will come into bearing soon. Hood River has trebled its apple tree area the past two years. Professor Lewis, of the State Agricultural College, has made the statement that there are 50,000 acres in the Rogue River planted to young apple and pear trees. There are fewer than 10,000 acres now bearing. That there are not to exceed 500 acres of commercial bearing orchards in Linn County, where three firms are planting or already have planted 6000 acres of young trees. Other districts report similar progress.

Reckless Marketing Avoided.

Apprehension on the part of the fruit growers is centered in the danger of over production and reckless dumping of huge quantities on the market for the benefit of speculators, who will have facilities to store the surplus. It is said that many of the apple growers last season did not realize 75 cents a box f. o. b. for their marketable apples in the Eastern markets. It is this condition which it is proposed to remedy and also to protect the apple-grower against the large increase in amount of saleable apples which must find a market in the next few years. It is estimated that the number of new trees, bearing apples, which will come into bearing this year, is as large as the entire number of trees which bore last year.

Past Consul O. F. Phillips was presented with a handsome gold badge for faithful work during his term of office. After the installation dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

The states invited to participate in the meeting are Washington, Idaho, Utah, Oregon, Montana and Colorado.

STEEL BRIDGE IN DANGER

Engine With Leaking Oil Pipe Starts Fire on Structure.

The breaking of a feed pipe on an oil-burning engine threatened the Steel bridge with destruction for a time, early yesterday. Patrolman Galbraith observed a flash of light under the bridge and turned in an alarm. He found that an engine, passing over the bridge, had spilled oil through a broken pipe, and that the flash from the fire-box had ignited it. As everything in the neighborhood is built of wood, the prospects were for serious damage. Prompt response from the fire department prevented a spread of the flames.

Lodgers in three flats at 44 Rodney avenue were aroused from their sleep yesterday morning by Patrolman Gill who had discovered fire in the lowest apartment. While the tenants were turning out, the blaze was extinguished with loss estimated at $100. The flats are the property of H. E. Joy, who lives next door to them. The fire is supposed to have started from a defective flue.

Natron Extension Work Hurried.

EUGENE, Or., Jan. 14.—(Special.)—Reports from Lowell state that the work on the Natron extension of the Southern Pacific is progressing rapidly and that the grading will be completed and possibly the track laid as far as Lowell by March 1. The two smaller tunnels, averaging 405 feet in length, are now driven through, and only 280 feet remain to be cut in Tunnel No. 3, which is over 2100 feet long. It is expected that this work will be completed by March 1.

RETAILERS TO MEET

Oregon Merchants to Convene at Salem.

MANY DELEGATES TO COME

State Organization Adds 250 New Members in Past Two Months, Making Total More Than 1000. Elaborate Programme Set.

The Oregon Retail Merchants' Association will hold its fifth annual convention at Salem, January 25, 26 and 27. N. A. Perry, president, has campaigned over the state for the last two months and added 250 new members to the organization, making the total membership more than 1000. The convention will be the largest attended of any held by the association, and to assist in the turnout the railroads have agreed to give reduced rates. The Salem Business Men's League will entertain the visitors during the convention.

The convention will be called to order in Steeves Hall, at 10 A. M., January 25, by Theodore Roth, president of the Salem Business Men's League, and President Homan, of Willamette University, will pronounce the invocation. Mayor Louis Lachmund, of Salem, will deliver the address of welcome and Enoch Brayford, of Hood River, will respond. H. E. Gill, of Salem, will welcome the association on behalf of the Salem Business Men's League, and W. A. Ball, of Eugene, will respond. The Salem Board of Trade will extend its welcome through Max O. Buren, and James Craig, of Silverton, will respond. President Perry will then deliver his annual address, the report of C. S. Merrick, secretary, will be presented and the forenoon session will close with appointments of committees.

In the afternoon reports will be heard from local associations at Albany, Ashland, Astoria, Baker, Coos, Corvallis, Cottage Grove, Eugene, Forest Grove, Hood River, Klamath Falls, La Grande, Lebanon, Medford, McMinnville, Newberg, Oregon City, Roseburg, Salem, Springfield, Seaside, Pendleton, Vale and Willowa. Discussions will follow on "Figuring Profits," led by F. W. Funk, Portland; "How to Sell Goods at Profit," led by Theodore Roth, Salem; "The Economy of Cash Discounts and Losses Sustained by Long Credits," led by E. T. Barnes, Salem.

The night session will be given over to discussion on "The Best Kind of Advertising for the Retailer," led by Herman Wise, Astoria; "The Mailorder Evil and How to Off-Set Mailorder Advertising," led by C. H. Burkholder, Cottage Grove; "The Retail Merchant's Relation to the High Cost of Living," led by A. G. Watts, Scappoose. The session will close with an address on "How the Railroad Commission Can Assist the Retail Merchant," by Clyde B. Althaus, chairman of the Oregon Railroad Commission.

The forenoon of the second day will be spent in visiting the Legislature in session, the State Penitentiary, the Insane Asylum and the Chemawa Indian School. In the afternoon committees will report on "Quantity Prices," led by A. G. Hoffman, Forest Grove; "Retail Credits and Collections," led by William Hansen, credit man for Tull & Gibbs, Portland; an address on "Business Ethics," by W. I. Staley, president of the Capitol Business College, of Salem; and an address on "Limited Selling Prices," by J. W. Kahle, president of the Crescent Manufacturing Company, of Seattle.

At night the association will be given a banquet at the Hotel Marion by the Salem Business Men's League. The forenoon session of the third day will be given over to discussions on "The Problem of Educating Clerks and Customers," led by Victor F. Moses, Corvallis; "Delivery, Receiving and Order Systems," led by Max O. Buren, Salem; "Basis of Pricing Merchandise," led by Fred Dresser, Seaside.

In the afternoon a discussion will be heard on "The Wisdom of Special Sales," led by S. K. Friendly, Eugene. Reports of standing committees and the resolution committee will then be received, officers will be elected, the place of the next meeting chosen and the convention will close.

Property Bought for Division.

J. L. Day yesterday bought from Michael Owens a parcel of land at the northwest corner of East Seventh and Sacramento streets, comprising two lots and a half. The consideration was $3300. There is a six-room frame house on one of the lots. Mr. Day will divide and sell the property. It was bought by Mr. Owens five years ago for $2500.

BRIDGE PLAN INDORSED

Need of South Portland Structure to Be Told to People.

"Pull for a Greater South Portland Bridge" is the slogan that was adopted at a meeting of a committee representing various improvement clubs, held in the City Hall last night. The committee was permanently organized, with Dr. Day Rafferty as chairman and B. C. Jones secretary.

City Engineer Morris estimated that the cost would be approximately $1,200,000. It was decided to invite all the improvement clubs in the city to assist the committee in conducting a campaign among taxpayers and property owners so that the need of a bridge in South Portland will be well understood before the subject is voted upon next June.

Gin, Properly Prescribed

Valuable Kidney Remedy

The medicinal value of gin as a remedy for kidneys and bladder has been known by the medical profession for a long time and it is often prescribed. "Six ounces best gin, half ounce Murex compound, half ounce fluid extract Buchu." This mixture, taken in doses of one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time, will quickly stop such symptoms as pain in the back, rheumatic soreness in the joints, frequent scanty or painful urination, highly colored or scalding urine, pains in groin, dull pains in back of head, dizziness, irritability, all of which are sure signs of kidney trouble and must have prompt attention to prevent dread kidney disease such as Bright's disease, chronic rheumatism or diabetes. First-class druggists keep the above ingredients. Some folks prefer to get the gin at a good liquor store. Anyone can mix.
