The Exposition of Spring Fashions in Women's and Misses' Apparel

Portland's Premier Showing of the Season's Authoritative Styles and Materials

Will be the event special in the Cloak and Suit Salons for the next few days. Yesterday's opening of this event was attended by hundreds, who were unanimous in their approval of this wonderful assemblage of beautiful styles and materials—Fashion's decree splendidly adhered to in the new modes in Gowns, Tailored Suits, Dresses, Coats, Waists and accessories. The window displays, unquestionably the most attractive ever seen in Portland, are worth a trip from a distance to view

Women's and Misses' Tailored Suits at $20.00 to $30.00 That Bear the Mark of Distinctiveness

More so than ever has Fashion favored the plain Tailor-made Suits this season. And the styles that are finding favor with most women are those with the 24, 25 and 26-inch Jackets, cut on the straight lines, although there are some good models more closely fitting. Many are shown with hand-made revers, showing no stitching.

The Skirts are cut to give the narrow effect and many are perfectly plain, yet the introduction of plaits is noted in some of the smartest models. Those who desire the wider skirt effects are assured of satisfaction.

The plain materials are mostly in the men's weave or Garfield serge, while the mixtures are shown in great variety, assuring distinctiveness to the woman who seeks distinctiveness in her dress.

At $20 are shown several good styles in plain and fancy mixtures, equal to many shown elsewhere at 25 or even more.

At $25, $27.50, $29.50 and $30 is a wide range of styles, some of which are direct copies of imported models. The men's wear materials and fancy mixtures in pleasing assortment. Our Suits at these prices are strictly man-tailored and lined with guaranteed linings—possessing an individuality and value that women will not find duplicated elsewhere.

Spring Readiness in the Carpet and Rug Store

Good taste in the covering of floors and interior decoration of the home goes farther towards its furnishing and harmony than perhaps all other items. It is with this always in view that our selections in Carpets and Rugs are made, whether it be for the most modest or finest homes. This season finds the stocks of the Carpet Store more complete in variety—in extensiveness, than at any previous season. From the inexpensive Body Brussels Carpet at 90¢ to $1.25 yard; the Velvet Carpets at $1.25 to $1.50 yard; the Axminsters at $1.50 to $2 yard, and the finer Velvet Carpets at $2 yard and up, homefurnishers will find their needs exactly met here. And that matter of workmanship in the sewing and laying of carpetings is worthy of consideration—it's done here according to the best methods.

RUGS—When it comes to rugs, the range of possibilities is so wide that something good can be found here at most every price.

9x12 ft., priced at $65.00. In the 10 ft. 6 in. by 14-ft. size at $105. Ask to see it.

The Bundhar Wiltons and French Wiltons have come to us this season in the most beautiful designs and combinations—and no better variety was ever seen in Portland.

Other room-size rugs as low as $12. The Kysmak, a rug with wool facing, in attractive designs and colorings, offered at this price.

The Bundhars, as deserving as ever of the slogan, "Durable as Iron," are finding favor with Portland's many new homefurnishers.

The 9x12-foot size in these Rugs specially priced this week at $42.50. Their regular price is $50.00.

Just as practical but still finer and more artistic are French Wiltons. These beautiful rugs satisfy the taste that yearns for the Kermanshahs, Sennas and other rare Orientals, at one-tenth the cost. Permit us to call attention to one in particular—a most beautiful reproduction, in size

Staine's Inlaid Linoleums

—the best that the world produces—a fact attested to by the service they are giving in millions of homes.

The Carpet Store announces the recent arrival of a shipment of "Staine's"—with patterns and colorings "better than ever." $1.60 to $2 square yard, according to thickness.

Individuality in Home Decoration

Harmony and character correctly expressed—something different than you have seen elsewhere.

Are you satisfied with the interior decoration of your home? If not, come in and see our new cut-out borders and panel effects—the dainty, pretty things for chambers, with fabrics to match, and the richer leather and tapestry effects and self-tones for the dining-room, library, parlor, living-room or hall.

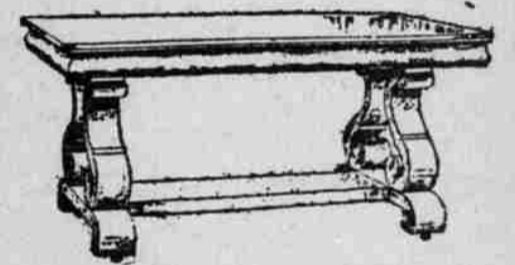

Our stock is the latest and best expression of the decorator's art. The Bureau of Interior Decoration—Sixth Floor.

The Furniture Displays Are Being Increased Every Day

The claim of this store as "Portland's Best Furniture Service" was never more strongly borne out than right now, when the stocks are being greatly increased by the arrival of productions from the leading Grand Rapids and other factories. And that guaranteed dependableness that is the distinguishing mark of Tull & Gibbs' Furniture, commands, as it always has done, the consideration of most careful homefurnishers.

Living-Room Furniture

Furnishers of new homes or those who contemplate renewing or adding to the furnishings of living-room or library, could not wish to choose from a better selection of the finer furniture pieces than what makes up our fifth floor showing.

The most comfortable Chairs—Easy Chairs and Rockers and Davenport—some of them the over-stuffed pieces; others with exposed frames of mahogany—they're here in the best designs, workmanship and finish—many of them copies of old Colonial and other period pieces. Library Tables—those with massive Colonial scrolls supporting the tops—they contribute a dignified usefulness to the living rooms.

New Arrivals in Willow Furniture

The demand for the practical and artistic in living-room furniture, at moderate cost, has brought forth nothing better than the new designs in reed and willow furniture. Many of the new pieces in both have come to the furniture store in the past week or two. In willow furniture some very attractive designs in Rockers, Chairs and Tables came in during the week. These are in that quiet walnut finish that harmonizes so well with the prevailing treatments of living-room or bedroom. They're well worth seeing.

CEDAR CHESTS—They've come just in time for the woman who is preparing to put away her furs until next season. They're richly finished, too, and very ornamental. Some have copper trimmings. Each chest furnished with a sack of cedar dust. Priced very low, when the fact that they're entirely of select stock cedar, and so well finished, is taken into consideration.
