ANOTHER ELECTION

"Boy Mayor" Wardall Said to Be Among Those Whose Head May Go.

MAN AND WIFE BACK MOVE

Meeting Scheduled for Tuesday Night May Bring Puget Sound City Into Another Costly Campaign of Importance.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 24 .- (Special.)-If the plans of the Citizens' Recall Association do not go astray three of Scattle's reform Councilmen may experience the fate that brought grief to the administration of Mayor H. C. Gill. That the recall is a sort of sword of Damocles, hanging over the heads of city officials is suggested by the lead-ing spirits in the so-called league. They are F. A. Stirtan and Mrs. Catherine Stirtan, and they have established headquarters at 123 Arcade building, with the announcement that past Tues. perience the fate that brought grief to with the announcement that next Tues-day evening they will start the ball for another election in Seattle.

They are aiming at Councilman Max Wardail, the "boy Mayor," who began the trouble for Gill and Wappenstein last year; Councilman J. Y. C. Kellogs, of the Councilmanic graft investigating committee, and Councilman E. L. For the present the Stirtans are keeping their own counsel. They have keeping their own counsel. They have said little, beyond authorizing a state-ment that at their recall headquarters they will have the assistance of Arne A. Nordskog, who was assistant secre-tary of the Public Welfare League, which caused the recall of Mayor Gill.

Others Back Movement.

There are also named Mrs. France A. Roberts and Mrs. Jesse E. Martin, the movement as so far unfolded indi-cating that the women are likely to take as active a part in the forthcom-ing contest as they did against the former administration. Blaine, in parformer administration. Blaine, in particular, has been outspoken in criticising the female lobbyists who for months have crowded the Council chamber, to the detriment of public business and the evident annoyance of Councilmen. Mrs. Stirtan insists that with the opening of headquarters the work will be pressed rapidly. The petitions are being drawn up, and it is said that funds are in sight sufficient to promote the work of securing 11,000 to 12,000 signatures, or as many as are required by law.

"The list of speakers for Tuesday night's meeting," says Mrs. Stirtan, "is practically complete. We do not wish now to publish our plans in full, but suffice it to say that we have assur-

Many Heads May Fall.

If Seattle concludes to get actively into another recall movement, there is __The last day of the three days of no telling how many heads may fall the Lebanon Strawberry Festival before the popular ax. #### Court Officials Worry.

One of the problems which court ofdeials are anticipating with more or less trepidation lies in the fact that after September 1 women will be drawn as jurors in the Superior Courts of the state. The judges for King County have ordered that the county be divided into four districts, instead of three as at present, the new scheme being de-signed to give citizens of the county outside of Scattle a better chance of representation.

The officials are now preparing the mew jury list, the basis being largely the registration for the recall election early in the year. There are approximately 72,000 names on the lists, in-ciuding women, and these are being carefully scanned to cut out those who, from any cause, are exempt from service. Since women residents of the county outside of the city have not taken part in elections, relatively few of them will be found on the lists.

Most women will be elegible because if the husband is a taxpayer the wife's interest in the community will make her a taxpayer also. But the law pro-vides a way for a woman to evade jury duty. She may claim exemption by signing a notice to that effect and returning it to the Sheriff prior to the date of appearance in court, but if the exemption is claimed by reason of sex, no fee shall be allowed for her ap-

LEBANON, Or., June 24 .- (Special.)

-The last day of the three days of reached the high mark of yesterday.

Fine weather today brought out a large crowd of farmers with heavily loaded excursion trains from Albany and valley points, and automobile excursion parties from every Willamette Valley town from Salem to Eugene. It is estimated that 10,000 people have visited Lebanon during the three days and the town has been taxed to its limit to care for the people at night.

Every hotel and boarding-house has been full and many private families have opened their homes to the strangers and visitors so that everyone has been cared for. This has been one of the greatest industrial and agricultural gatherings ever held in this county and has at-tracted more attention than any former event of the kind held here.

Pythian Wallace, of Scio, and Mrs.

M. T. Pollock, of Portland, were married this afternoon in the hig speakers' tent in the presence of thousands of people, and thus won the bedroom suite offered to couple who would be married in public. The event closed to-night with a band concert by the Leb-anon and Shedd bands.

Yesterday afternoon the judges on the horse parade of the preceding day made their awards. Prizes were awarded as follows: Standard bred stallion. H. E. Felton, Albany: Hackney, W. E. Anderson, Albany: Belgians, J. H. Car-ter, Lebanon: Percheron, Labanon Percheron Horse Company; Clyde, E. D. Farwell, Shedd; English Shire, George Rockwell, Lebanon. The grand champion prize for stallions was given to the Lebanon Horse Company, and sweepstakes for mares to W. S. Paull, Company.

The programme opened with a plano solo by Miss Lillian Belle Elder, the Conservatory of Music member of the graduating class. The commencement address was delivered by Rev. John J. Siaub, of Sunnyside Congregational Church, Portland. Mr. Staub presented most thoughtful discourse on the sub-sct, "The Investment of a Life." He said in part:

"A mistake in the investment of a life is fatal. The chemist may fall one, two, a dozen, even a thousand times in his experiments and is not discouraged his experiments and is not distance.

so long as the ultimate aim of his experimentation is attained. But there can be no experimenting when it comes to investing one's life. The wrong course laid out, the wrong ideals enthroned, and the result is wreck to a wreck and the result is wreck and t failure. What Is Required of Graduate.

"The young knight spent the hours, before presenting himself for knighthood, in solitude and prayers. After partaking of the communion he took the triple vow of Purity, Faith and Loyalty. The college graduate of today is debtor to society and is under special obligation to so invest his life as to make it a positive force for good in the world. He cannot afford to be passive or negative; he must learn the difficult lesson that humanity only attains to higher levels of moral and spiritual accomplishment through the self-sacrificing labors of those who have the true spirit of knighthood."
