"Spider" Baum mounted the hilltop
Tor the Senators for his first appearonce in Portland this season yesterday, and what he did to those league-leading Beavers is shameful to relate, for he twirled rings around them and Sacramento won a well-played game by The score of 2 to 0.

"Big Six" Steen opposed him for Portland, and for eight innings he did some grand pitching himself. The Senators managed to get one run over In the second on a double and a single, but that was the only damage Bill sustained. In the eighth inning Manager McCredie eliminated him from the game to allow Barry to but in his stead. Koestner replaced him in the box when the Senators went to but in the last canto.

Koestner Is Wild.

Koestner could not locate the plate with a handful of shot, and after he had walked three men, one of whom Walter Kuhn nipped off first base, Mc-Credle sent the silent one to the coolerend substituted collegian Henkle, against whom the Senators chalked up against whom the Senators chalked up a single and a sacrifice fly, which fallied another run.

Dankig opened the second inning with a two-bagger and took third on Mahoney's sacrifice. Kuhn pounced on Heister's intended squeeze and nabbed the batter at first, which put two on ice and left Dankig on third. Thomas then pasted a grass burner past Mc-Kune and the tail first sacker tallied. That was all for the Senators against Steen.

In the ninth Shinn walked, and Kuhn caught him off first, but Koestner became liberal with O'Rourke and Van Buren, and passed both. Henkle then went to his relief.

Ben Henderson Returns.

Danzie, the first to face the college man, spanked a single to left, which filled the bases, as O'Rourke was held at third on Krueger's fast fielding of the hit. Mahoney then skied a long high fly to Ryan, which brought O'Rourke over, and Van Buren reached third because Peckinpaugh booted Ryan's return of the ball for the only error of the affray. Heister flew to Krueger and Portland went in for a

Notes of the Game.

Charles Baum pitched a great game yea-terday and was always master of the sit-mation. He had excellent control and his side-arm delivery pussion the Beavers.

"Big Six" Steen also pitched time ball, allowing only four hits in his tenure on the ground, but was unlucky enough to allow two of those binstes in one inning. O'Rourke's two-bagger in the sixth in-ning was a high fly against the right gar-den wall, which Chadbourne might have eaught if he had been as tall as ital Dan-zig.

In the seventh inning, after liyan had

In the seventh inning, after Ryan had made the first hit for Portland, Bill Rapps followed with a smash that looked good for two bases as Beast, but Helater did the roshery act with a great running catch. In the eighth Lerchen picked out Krueger's vedit for what he would have liked to have had scored as a two-base hit, but Artie was just a little jesious of Heister's catch, and went the Benstor one better hy loaging in the air and making a circus stop.

Umpire McGreevy is an expert judge of baseball picys, but even he misses them once in a while. Baum argued with him several times, but each time Mac told him a little story shout arriights and 520 gold pickes which restored the "Spider" to good

In the sixth inning Bill Steen nearly got a lift on a pap fly over the pitcher's box. Haum signalled that he did not care to taking it owing to the high sky, and Jimmy shim thought of his "beam." which laft it up to Catcher Thomas. Toramy nalled it. U MPIRE M'GREEVY is down on his luck. Last Spring he participated in the drawing of lots by the umpires for their season's assignments, and he pulled out with saly one trip to Portland. McGreevy, who is well liked here, and who is one of the best industry handlers who ever same to the dicator handlers who ever came West, likes Portland so well that he intends investing in real estate here. He has already taken options on several sites and these deals will be completed for him by his friend. Ferdinand E. Reed, of Portland.

"Spider" Baum considers himself most fortunate parent, for his little daughter, who was hit on the head by a foul fly just as the child and its mother were entering the Sacramento park about two weeks ago, has thoroughly recovered from the injury. At first it appeared as though the little girl would be malmed for life, as her lower limbs appeared paralized, but ately worked hard and she is now pro-nounced permanently cured.

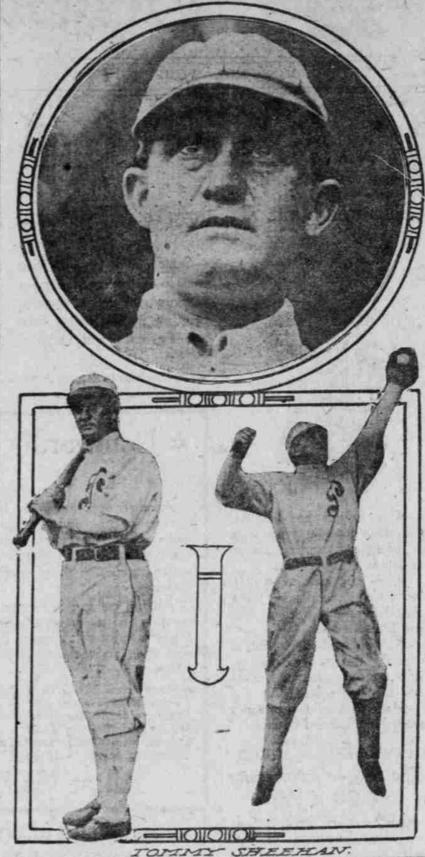

- Walter Kuhn is catching great ball for Portland these days, for the gingery little redhead is pegging to bases and nipping runners quite regularly. The Senatorial contingent are especially emphatic in praising the work of Kulin, to whom they attribute most of the Portland successes in the recent It will also be noticed that Kuhn has been hitting the ball with his old-time State League gusto during the time he has usurped Tommy Murray's duties as regular Beavers' receiver.

Hal Danzig, the big Sacramento first baseman, who formerly played for Port land, is figuring on playing baseball for about three or four more years, after which he intends to retire and enter into some business. SEASON 13TH IN BASEBALL

Three Years in Big League Part of Long Record of California Native Son Who Has Been Playing Ball Since 1898.

One of the pivotal points in the mechanism of the Benver machine, which keeps the Portland band at the top in the scramble for the Pacific Coast League bunting in this gruelling 1911 race, is Third-Baseman Tommy Sheehan is almost the vetera performer of the team, for in the length of his service on the diamond, he is or his service on the distinction and antedated only by Jack Barry and Walter McCredie, both of whom are employed more or less in the capacity of bench-warmers. Though each occasionally contributes to the home club's victories by their coaching, neverthe-less, coaching is by no means so much a factor as the work of the third-

All successful baseball teams are noted for having high-class artists at the "difficult corner." T. Sheehan has filled that place acceptably on the Portland champions of 1910 and seems in a fair way to find himself on a remeating aggregation. At least the work peating aggregation. At least the work of the Beavers so far this season makes it likely that they will hook first honors once more.

Sheehan Is "Native Son."

Speaking of pennant-winning teams, it might be mentioned that Tommy Sheehan has been with other pennant-win-ning clubs. He first became acquainted in Portland while drawing pay from Mique Fisher's Sacramento club, which later was transferred to Tacoma and celebrated the switch by annexing a couple of pennants.

Sacramento, by the way, is Sheehar's native heath, for his Celtic parents were native heath, for his Celtic parents were among the early settlers in the Sacramento Valley. Tommy, now field captain of the league leaders, saw the light of day in California's capital city in September, 1872. As a youth he was of athletic turn of mind and excelled his schoolmates in many sports, but his favorite was baseball.

In this respect he was like many Cali-

In this respect he was like many Cali-fornia athletes who later became fa-mous on the diamond. After playing with several amateur and semiprofes with several ameter and samples of sional teams, he became a member of the Sacramento club in the California State League in 1898. That year the league comprised six clubs, San Fran-cisco, Sacramento, Stockton, San Jose, Oakland and Santa Cruz. Later San Jose, Stockton and Santa Cruz were dropped and Los Angeles admitted.

Pittsburg Drafts Him.

Young Sheehan remained with Sacra-mento all this fime, and when Mike Fisher secured control of the club in 1902 he stayed at the urgent request of that ingenious freak of a baseball pro-moter. Fisher had been an outfielder on the Sacramento club when Sheehar broke into the game. Mike took a liking to Sheehan and Tommy was a mem-ber of the famous "Irish brigade" until Pittsburg drafted him from the Taof 1905.

Sheehan joined the "Pirates" in the Spring of 1906 and played third for that club until sold to Brooklyn in 1908. In the Fall of 1908 Sheehan's father began to fall in health and the third baseman secured the consent of the Brooklyn club to return to his home before the end of the season. The fact that his parents were in such poor health and that his wife and little daughter did not like the East caused Sheehan to request Brooklyn to sell his release to some Pacific Coast club. President Ebbetts, of Brooklyn, instead of granting this request, as he had promised, placed quest, as he had promised, placed Sheeban on the black list when he falled to report in the Spring of 1909, and Tommy forthwith signed up with the California outlaws.

Brooklyn Does Injustice.

In the case of this player the Brook lyn club and the National commission lid a decided injustice to an honest and thoroughly reliable player, Sheehan had asked for his release or transfer in good faith, pleading the most legitimate of reasons. To put him under a ban for this was decidedly unjust.

Sheehan played with the California outlaws in 1909 and 1910, but in the latter year the State League, then admitted to the organized fold, proved a Fourth of July" league and Sheehan found himself out of a job. In August Manager McCredie secured permission to play Sheehan with Portland for the rest of the season and Tommy became a Beaver. He immediately jumped into popularity and helped the crack 1910 team win the pennant in one of the hardest fought baseball struggles ever recorded.

Last Winter Tommy Shehan was re instated and McCredie forthwith purchased complete claim to his services from Brooklyn club. Tommy Sheehan, third sacker, was good enough to help win one pennant for Portland and his work this season. work this season is even bet which ought to help win another.

The Glants outbatted the Nicks and the fielding, clean and often brilliant, was about a standoff. But Casey and Williams dropped in a couple of two-baggers in the warming-up round and that was all the home visiting for the week-end party.

Seattle Scoreless 19 Innings.

The two teams have been fighting each other two weeks. This morning they were a fie; each having won six. Portland now has a lead of one, the count being seven to six, and Seattle must win in order to break even. Williams' players are going splendidly. Seattle has not been able to score against them for 19 innings, the count going back to the third game.
