Democratic. This action settled the whole Canadian reciprocity question so far as Congress is concerned and save for executive approval and the Canadian Parliament ratification, virtually makes the pact the law of the land.

Congressional practice will delay the affixing of the President's signature until next Wednesday, when the House is again in session. The reciprocity bill having originated in the House, must he returned there for engrossment and for the signature of Speaker Clark while the House is sitting.

Canada Still to Act.

The Canadian Parliament has not yet acted on the agreement and with one exception the provisions of the bill as passed by Congress will not become effective until the President issues a proclamation that Canada has ratified the pact. The exception to this proredure is in the paper and pulp section of the bill, which it is announce will become immediately effective when the President signs the law.

The Esapada cleared from Aberdeen over the bar. That is the last heard of her and as the normal passage time on this run is 75 days, mariners believe there is no hope for the craft.

The Espada cleared from Aberdeen tain Inghart Jacobson, of Tacoma, and was manned by ten men. Among the passengers on the trip, which is thought to have been fatal for all on board, was Mrs. Jacobson, who was formerly Miss Olga Anderson, of 2156 South M. street, Tacoma,

The bark loaded at the Slade Mill with a full cargo of lumber for the Australia port. Unless she struck a storm it is the belief of local scamen that she ran aground, as it would be almost impossible for a ship to sink in midocean when filled with lumber. Reinsurance on the Espada has gone up in the last few days and it is now denied. Efforts have been begun to trace the missing vessel.

Ease-Loving Senator Has Enough.

PEOPLE ARE TOO EXACTING

Vice-Presidential Boom, However, Is Idle Talk.

STRONGER MAN IS WANTED

Oregon Member in Mood Not to Run Again for Present Seat, Which He Finds Involves Much Besides Mere Honor.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash ngton, July 20 .- In view of the fact that Senator Chamberlain thinks of retiring voluntarily from the Senate at the close of his present term or so informs some of his Senatorial col-leagues, talk of nominating him for the Vice-Presidency next year would seem to be mere idle gossip. It is no stopped off in Vancouver today, and took a trip around the city. Brownie wears tags from many cities, including New York and Chicago.

The fact about Senator Chamberlain is that he is getting tired of his job publicly, and has not authorized the publication of any such statement. But he has talked more or less with friends of late, and frequently he has conveyed the unmistakable impression that on term in the Senate will satisfy him. Senator Chamberlain is only one many men who have attained a seat in the Senate only to become discou aged with the job after a very brief service. Being a Senator is not all honor. There is a great deal of work attached to it, and there is so much work as to make the position unattractive to a man who has comto love his ease. There are men in the Senate who do not let public duties interfere with their ease, but they do not represent hustling

Western Constituents Exacting.

The West demands hard work from ts Representatives in Congress. It insists upon receiv as constant attention, and the citizens of the West have so many more personal requests to make than do the average citizens of the older states of the East. That is be cause the West is growing and developing, and needs Congressional aid. The East is pretty well developed; land matters have ceased to be; there are no Indian problems; no forestry troubles; no irrigation projects to be looked after; no new river and harbor pared to the Western Senator, his coleasy time of it.

He does not feel that he can devote all the time and energy necessary to satisfy his constituency and his state, chief of Herrin. and he has expressed a willingness to retire and permit some younger and more sturdy, man to don the toga.

Opinion May Change.

Of course it is three years until Senator Chamberlain comes up for renomination. He may, in that time, change his opinion, as have others who, in the early part of their careers, have talked as he is talking now. Being a Senator grows on a man. "There is a fascination about it that one cannot resist after he has been here one term," as (Concluded on Page 2.)

TAFT FAITHFUL TO DYING MAN'S WISH

PPOINTMENT FULFILLS RE-QUEST OF REPRESENTATIVE.

Mitchell of Kansas Gave Life to Vote for Reciprocity; Friend Now Named Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, July 27 .- In sending to the Senate the nomination of Charles S. Finch as postmaster at Lawrence. Kan, President Taft today compiled with the dying request of the late A. C. Mitchell, Representative of the second Kansas district, and proved that politics is not always so cold-blooded as

Mr. Mitchell promised the President to vote for reciprocity early in the present session. Long before the time for a vote came, however, he was taken seriously ill. He returned to Kansas and physicians told him he was a very sick man. He said that no matter how sick he might be, he would keep his promise to President Taft, go to Washington, and vote for reciprocity. In spite of the physicians he made the trip and cast his vote for the bill. Soon after his return to Kansas he died. A day or two before the end Mrs. Mitchell wrote to President Taft for her husband, asking that Mr. Finch be made Postmaster at Lawrence. Mrs. Mitchell added that Senator Bristow was opposed to Finch and Senator Curtis might prove favorable. The day the letter reached the White House, Mr. Mitchell died. The President called in the two Kansas Senators, told the

The veto struggle, which has been going on for months, assumes a new shape. It no longer is a contest be-tween the Liberal and Tory leaders, but between the Tory leaders and their own wilder followers.

Lansdowne Forced to Choose.

Now one of two things must happen. After the veto bill, with all the amendde by the Lords sent back to the upper chamber from the Commons, either the Lords will submit without a division or they will challenge a division. Then Lansdowne will have to make a painful choice be tween voting in favor of the bill and against his own followers or of allowing the bill to be rejected and thus compelling the creation of the peers. My impression is not in the least weakened that Lansdowne, if it comes to that point, will support the veto bill rather than allow the creation of the Tide Rising Against Balfour.

On the whole, the crisis of the present stage affects the prospects of the Tory leaders much more nearly than the Liberals. Discontent against Balfour is rising more highly every day and possibly some of the Tory extremists are pushing things in the hope of ending Balfour's long leadership and of replacing him by Austen Chamberlain or some other more convinced protectionist. The crisis is over and nothing special will happen, not even the resignation of Balfour. The other topic of the week was the

FACTS TO BE REVIEWED

Cameron Must Overcome Views Already Expressed-Governor of California Calls Oregon Prosecutor "Ignoramus."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22 .- (Special.)-Governor Johnson today, after a further hearing of the application for the extradition of Louis J. Wilde, presented to District Attorney Cameron an opinion written by Attorney-General Webb, of California, holding that no crime had been committed, but said that he would delay his final decision to give Cameron an opportunity to confer with Webb.

Should the California Attorney-Genral change his mind, said Governor Johnson, he would honor the requisiion, but he said he wanted it to be nade plain that he would not sign the papers if Webb continued to hold that here has been no crime, as he has held

Governor Is Sarcastle,

Johnson was sarcastic in his treatnent of Cameron at the hearing today. Secause Johnson had refused to sign the requisition and had continued the case from day to day, Cameron declared that it was unusual for the Governor of a state to refuse to honor the requisition of the Governor of a sister state. At the close of the hearing today Johnson made a caustic verbal assault on Cameron. Turning toward the Oregon District Attorney, who was seated just on the other side of the table, Johnson said:

"You have said there is something inusual in this proceeding because I refused to grant these extradition papers. There is nothing unusual about it. It is a proceeding always held when letters of extradition are protested. If you have said it was unusual you display a profound ignorance of the law. Do you know that just such proceedings were recently taken by the Governor of Oregon-and since the first of the

"You have appeared here three times and your statements of facts have been the same. Now please understand me, once for all. You confer with the Attorney-General of California. Present him with all your facts and if he decides that a crime has been committed by Wilde in the State of Oregon on your statements of facts, I will extradite this man. If the Attorney-General says there has been no crime ommitted I will not extradite him. Now, is that plain?"

The hearing ended abruptly, Governor Johnson had previously indicated that he did not intend to honor the extradition request of Oregon's Governor for one of his appointees. He said that he had presented all the facts to Attorney-General Webb and that the Attorney-General had decided that the crime of embezzlement for which Wilde was indicted had never been committed. The ruling was made on a technicality.

There is no dispute over the fact that 1700 stockholders of the Oregon Savings & Trust Company, which failed, had suffered by Wilde's alleged embezzlement of $90,000. The dispute is over the point whether it was emezzlement, or an offense with another
