The Celebrated "New Method" Gas Ranges

This Is the Burner That Wins the Crown of Victory

Guaranteed to Save One-Quarter of Your Gas

The body of the "New Method" Gas Range is made entirely of steel, and all outside parts are treated with best baking japan, baked on both sides of the plates. This finish insures lasting qualities equal to castiron. They cannot rust out. Apartment-house owners will have no other gas range, after giving the "New Method" a trial. We carry many styles—from the single-burner plate to the high cabinet gas range. Special introductory prices on all.

City Forces Gas Company to Time

The Washington, D. C., Gas Monopoly Company refused to permit the "New Method" Gas Ranges to be connected with their mains. Thereupon, the "New Method" company went before the people of Washington with a publicity campaign. They showed the consumers just WHY the gas company did not want the "New Method" Gas Ranges used—demonstrating upon the street corners day after day that the "New Method" Gas Ranges consumed ONE-FOURTH less gas than the old style gas burners on other ranges. The public demonstrations were so conclusive and so satisfactory that the City Council passed an ordinance requiring the gas company to connect the "New Method" with their mains on the same footing with other makes of range. Since then the gas company has gone out of the gas range business. They sold a castiron range that was a great success as a GAS CONSUMER. A similar fight is being waged today in the City of New Orleans.

All other gas ranges are built alike—very much alike—but the "New Method" is decidedly different. It possesses eighteen superior points over any other style. Let us show you this week—let us show you tomorrow. It will be connected free and you have an opportunity to test it for a single dollar payment. Let us show you.

What Is the Great Improvement?

You will naturally ask, What is the Improvement? First we call your attention to the old-style burner used on all gas ranges, except the "New Method." The old-style burner is made of castiron, very thick and very soft iron, to permit of the small jet holes being drilled through it. Notice the small size of the jet holes and also the small size of the opening for the passage of gas from the service pipe. Compare this burner with the "New Method" burner held aloft by the figure.

It Is All in the Burner Employed

The "New Method" burner, as shown in the illustration (held by the figure of the woman) is made from sheets of stamped steel, heavily enameled like the ordinary cooking vessel. The large opening in the stem of the burner (grasped by the figure shown) permits of a large volume of air from the mixers to blow into the burner along with the gas; the funnel-shaped jet holes through the thin sides of the "New Method" burner permit the gas and air to reach the point of combustion without friction. And this gas and air are so thoroughly mixed by the time the match is applied that there is no "popping back." This danger is entirely avoided in the "New Method." You will readily see that the more air or oxygen you burn with the gas, the less gas will be consumed, and the same results gained. The air mixers are easily regulated according to the gas pressure in the mains.

And they are Guaranteed to save One-Quarter of your Gas. These "New Method" burners are vitrified enamel—cannot rust, crack or break; may be removed and washed like enamelware.
