HELEN AND GAIL CAPLES ON BEACH AT SEASIDE

LOIS BELLE WINSTOCK AT SEASIDE

SEASIDE, Or., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Contrary to superstitions the Elks flocked to the beach to begin their annual week-end festivities on Friday, known to them as their lucky day. And not to be hampered by prejudice they will end their frolic on the 13th, tomorrow. The interim, however, is one which fills the souls of the Elk men with delight and the pockets of the hotel folk of Seaside with cash. Everywhere from the point to the mouth of the Necanicum River, the jovial cry, "Hello Bill!" resounds with true brother to brother greeting. Thus true is it, that the Elks own Seaside today and the 10,000 whole-souled, bright and genial folk who coursed the beach a year ago in honor of a similar occasion held then, are back, and with them have come their friends brought hither by the enthusiastic rooting of the former clambake visitors. Preparations were made for twice the number of people who came last year and these preparations were not for naught. Prominent Elks who have charge of the affair are J. S. Bellinger, chairman of the general committee, and G. B. Johnson, secretary. Other committee chairmen are Mayor H. L. Henderson of Astoria, E. C. Judd, Charles V. Brown, John Fox, John Day, G. B. Johnson and J. M. S. Hawthorne.

Seaside Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haussman and their daughter Miss Marjorie Haussman, who has passed the past Winter in New York studying music, have arrived at the beach and are visiting Mrs. I. Bergman at her beach home near Wahana. The Haussmans were guests at the I. N. Fleischner cottage at Seaside Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Litt, who are guests at Hotel Gearhart-by-the-Sea, also were guests of the I. N. Fleischners the fore part of the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Honeyman motored to Elk Creek Tuesday. They entertained over Sunday at their cottage here on the Shell road Mrs. Honeyman's sister, Miss Maleta Ward, who returned to Portland last Monday evening, but is expected at the beach again within the week for a longer stay.

Mrs. L. W. Therkelsen and her daughter, Miss Hazel Therkelsen, were week-end visitors at the Moore Hotel the past week, as was also Mrs. Therkelsen's son Cachot Therkelsen, who is still at Seaside and will remain for a fortnight. Miss Catherine Therkelsen, who has recently been a guest at the Nickerson cottage, is now visiting Miss Louise Heusner at her home on the board walk.

Miss Helen Kavanaugh is with Miss Lucille Dunne at the David M. Dunne cottage in the grove near Hotel Moore and will be her guest for another week.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Lang passed the week end with their daughter, Miss Gladys Lang, in the Mayo cottage just off the promenade, which they have taken for the entire season.

The house party of young men who have been taking place at the Rumelin cottage, Rhodalyn, has broken up, and the guests, including Henry Goode, Walker and Philip Kamm, Colin and Robert Livingstone, Harry Lytle, Kent Weaver and Hallet Maxwell, have returned to their homes in Portland. Hallet Maxwell and Kent Weaver went up on the train Wednesday evening with Howell Jones, who was a guest at the Gearhart Hotel awhile last week, after passing some time on the Washington coast.

Miss Gladys Betts is visiting Miss Rhoda Rumelin for a few days, having come to the beach about a week and a half ago.

READY FOR A PLUNGE AT BREAKERS

NORTH BEACH GAYETY GROWS

Delightful Weather Adds to Pleasures of August Outers.

NORTH BEACH, Wash., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—Any one who complains of North Beach winds or murmurs comments about always having to wear an overcoat ought to happen down anywhere along that shore now and learn the grace of swallowing his words politely. More delightful weather could not be asked, and as for fishing and like sports, let the recreation seeker find any better elsewhere if he can.

The season is at its height. Each boat brings an average of from two to three hundred new beach comers, who scatter about to fill new cottages springing up on the boulevard, the mainspring of North Beach activity this year. After the first great rush of early August folk have become established and though hotels are filled there is no trouble now, as earlier, of having to turn guests away for want of room.

Preparations are under way for the tennis enthusiasts, who will soon come down for the tournament week, opening now in a fortnight at the Breakers. This tennis tournament, which means much to the North Coast, is one of the events of the year to the outdoor young folk of Portland. They come in parties and fill the hotels and the cottages of friends and relatives until the whole Washington coast catches their enthusiasm and laughs with them. And not to fun alone are these days devoted, for actual labor and skill are called forth on the tennis courts.

Registered at the Hotel Breakers last week from Portland were: Mrs. Isaiah Sichel, Scott Sichel, Stanley Blumauer, Mrs. Vera Pratt, Mrs. I. A. Boskewitz, Mina Boskewitz, Laura B. Black, C. H. Clement, Mrs. Rosenfeldt, Daphne Rosenfeldt, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. Fred Plummer, Mrs. Stephen Stoddard, Julia P. Bailey, Mrs. Edwin Newbegin, Mrs. Scott, Dorothy Scott, E. L. Bailey, L.
