Champion Form Vanishes.

Champlos Form Vanishes.

The less said about the game to the admirers of the boys from the north the better, for we did not look like the winning Beaver machine of the past three days. Our inside play was blocked at every turn by the Tigers and about every play we tried to execute went awry. But tomorrow is another day. Ben Henderson essayed to twild his second game of the series, but the handsome one was yanked.

The heavy hitting Brashear then walked to the bat and smashed the first ball pitched to him over the left. first ball pitched to him over the left field fence for a home run, tying the score. It is safe to say that had Ben covered the bag the Beavers would have been credited with another victory for it was apparent that Hogan's men were ready to admit defeat. With our lead of two runs up to the fourth inning it seemed sure that Walter McCredie's men would again be returned winners. But as Raiph Waldo Emerson said. "You can never tail." It hope that none of the descendants of the famous author reads this offering.)

Support Not Gitt-Edged.

Tom Seaton, who religeed Ben, could not stem the tide, but support could have been better. After the acore was tied Harry Stewart, the clever Vernonite, settled down and pitched winning ball. The Vernon line-up was shifted today. Burrell went to short and McDonald appeared at third and Hogan now feels that he has a combination that will win the series, but nearly every member of the Boaver camp made it a point to go to Hap's dressing that will win the series, but nearly every member of the Beaver camp made it a point to go to Hap's dressing room and yell. "Well, old boy you got the only game you'll get of this series."

There is much discussion here as to whether the tie game played at Vernon on the Beavers' last trip will be played now. Manager McCredie said tonight that the rules of the Pacific Coast League do not insist that this game again be contested, but Hogan inleague do not insist that this game again be contested, but Hogan interprets the rules differently. He insists that he will have his men on hand and that the game will be forfeited to Vernom by the score of $ to $ if the Beavers are not ready:

Taken out of the entire mass of figures, the work of Fred Weed, of Seattle, stands most conspicuously. Weed had a better fielding average at first base than Nordyke, although in fewer games, and led all the right fielders. Weed made six errors for the entire reason, playing in over 165 games, and that's simply magnificent work.

Young Coltrin, of Portland, finished with a spiendid mark. Considering the number of games in which he participated, he accepted a remarkable number of chances. The figures follow:

BY HARRY B. SMITH—

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(Special)
—Baseball fans in San Prancisco have been turning their eyes toward the southland this week, at the same time picking up what small crumbs of comfort were to be secured from the games between Oakland and San Francisco here. Imasmuch as nothing hinges on this series, save the question of whether the Seals are to be buried alive by the Senators, there hasn't been such a world of enthusiasm over the games. Consequently the sports have been considering the chances of the Villagers and the Beavers and talking rather glumly of the chances of the locals for another year.

To suit Berg.
Oscar Gustafson, Berg's Portland representative, said that he would telegraph his principal, who is in Spokane, and believed that the terms offered would suit the Portland man. The only thing Gustafson said he did not like was the weight of the Turk. He asked that some definite weight be agreed upon, as Berg did not care to give away too much in this respect. Tuchey assured Gustafson that Yousouf weuld not exceed 185 pounds in weight and there the matter stands pending verification by Berg.

The Turk's record is excellent, his only defeat in this country being at the hands of Demetral, the Greek, with whom he wrestled recently at Sait Lake City, the first fail going one hour and 57 minutes.

Villagers and the Beavers and talking rather glumly of the chances of the locals for another year.

A small-sized commotion was started the first of the week with the suspension of Tommy Tennant for the balance of the season without pay and the plastering of $50 fines on MeArdle and Browning for misbehaving in Portland.

J. Cal Ewing discovered these baseball stars perched at a table in a roadstars perched at a table in a road-house near Portland one Sunday morn-ing at 4 o'clock. He fixed them with his baleful eye, but passed on with-out more ado. When he returned to San Francisco the storm broke and the punishments were meted out.

Long's Fall crop of recruits is any-thing but promising. They predict that Johnson is the only one of the bunch who will turn out to be first-class material. The men he is now trying out have cost the club some money and for all that, they have not been of any great assistance. The outfielders, in particular, have been disappoint-ments and some new men must be se-cured to strengthen the team. Also it looks very much as if Danny must get some pitchers if he wants to have

Six of Beavers, Rodgers, Peckinpaugh, Krueger, Lindsay, Rapps and Ryan Are Slugging Over .250 Now-and Still Coming.

It begins to look as though Buddy Ryan is a fixture at the top of the Pa-cific Coast batting list, season of 1911, for, although the Portland outfielder is down to .344, his nearest rival among the original starters is Brashear, of Vernon, at .306.
