

is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Paine also attended the university, and it was in Eugene that the romance found its origin. Rev. Henry Marcotte, of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Portland, assisted by the local pastor, Rev. Everett L. Jones, performed the ceremony. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Alexander McNair. She wore an attractive costume of ivory crepe meteor with panels of lace and a court train. Her veil was gathered into a dainty halo with fillets of the valley, and in her arms she carried a cluster of bride's roses and orchids. She was attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Blanchard McNair, maid of honor, and Miss Grace Noyes, bridesmaid. Miss McNair was attired in pink messaline overdraped with crystal tulle. Miss Noyes wore a similar gown of blue. Each carried bride's roses. The bridegroom was attended by Terry Beck, of Portland, and Floyd Hines, of Beas and Roy McNair were ushers. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McNair, of Tillamook. Mr. Paine is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Paine, of Eugene, Or. The decorations of the church were white lilies and roses combined with green. Owing to the unusual popularity of the bride the church was filled with guests from the entire state. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the McNair home, where autumn shades predominated in the decorative scheme. Mr. and Mrs. Paine departed later for a short wedding trip. They will be at home at the Caburn Hotel, Eugene, after November 1.

The celebration by D. M. Watson of his 60th birthday last week was an important event. He gathered a number of his best friends about him and dined them at the Perkins Hotel. Miss Delta Watson, who has recently been visiting in Walla Walla, returned for the dinner. Others present were Mrs. D. M. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morden, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. N. U. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Phillips, of Vancouver, Mrs. W. W. McCreedy, of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. James Mock and Mr. and Mrs. Van Duser.

Wedding plans are shaping themselves about the bride-to-be, Miss Mary Gertrude Cronan, who will marry Herbert Noonan at the Cathedral of the Holy Spirit, Oct. 15. The ceremony will take place at half-past eleven o'clock and there will be no wedding reception. An individual touch to this affair is the presence of two maidens of honor, Mrs. Louis Cronan and Mrs. Paul Cook. Miss Cecelle Wiley and Miss Josephine Cronan will be bridesmaids. Mrs. Cronan will be best man and the ushers will be Frederick Root of Seattle, Harry Humphrey, Louis Cronan, John E. Cronan and Plewden Stott.

The wedding of Miss Peris Marjorie Billings to Fay Errol Smith which solemnized Wednesday evening at St. Mark's Church was one of the prominent nuptial events of the past week. Rev. John E. H. Simpson, assisted by Mrs. Palma, ferns, autumn leaves and asters decorated the altar and church. Sue Billings, cousin of the bride, was her attendant. Dr. W. I. Northrup gave the bride away. Later a reception took place at the home of Judge and Mrs. H. H. Northrup on Portland Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Sims have gone to the Columbia and returned to their homes a few weeks after which they will pass a month in a cottage at the seashore.

Miss Ines Bever Stockton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Stockton, and Frank Demarest Butler were married Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. Peter Grant, a sister of the bride. Owing to a recent death in the family only relatives were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Roy Edgar Remington, Rector of All Saints Church. The bride was given away by her father, Miss Daisy Stockton was maid of honor and Charles A. Stockton attended the bridesmaid. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Butler will live in Portland.

Among the social activities of last week was the 25-mile horseback ride to the Tualatin Valley, taken by the Misses Flinders, Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mrs. William Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jenkins and Mr. Nichol of the Riding Academy, Thursday.

Other Portland folk at present in New York are Mrs. George T. Willett and Miss Evelyn Casey, who are registered at the Wolcott.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Levinson, formerly of Portland and now living in Fresno, Cal., will be glad to learn that their small daughter, Peggy, who was alarmingly ill with pneumonia recently, is out of danger and recovering rapidly.

The engagement of Miss May Belle Heuser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Heuser, which was informally announced last week is causing a bit of a flutter among the younger set. Just when Miss Heuser will become the bride of Charles Brewster Arthur has not been definitely decided. Miss Heuser is extremely popular with the younger society folk. She is a clever equestrienne and is regarded as a star at tennis. She passed the year before last in the East, attending school at Ossining-on-the-Hudson, and during last season was active in social events here and took part in the Kilmess.

Plans are now under formation for the regular winter series of entertainments given by the Scottish Rite Masons. Though no definite dates have yet been decided upon, the opening party will occur about the middle of November. H. P. Mackenzie, J. E. Weirlein, Harvey Wall and James V. Moffat.

A reception for the benefit of the Child Welfare Exhibit to take place at the Armory the first five days of November will be given tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 3 and 5 in the parlors of the Hotel Portland, under the auspices of the Oregon State Congress of Mothers. The public is invited to attend. The receiving line will include Mrs. F. J. Mason, Mrs. D. C. Rutter, Miss Millie Trumbull, Mrs. William B. Fechtelmer, Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, Mrs. Edward Elliot, Mrs. Julius Lippitt, Mrs. W. J. Heston, Mrs. C. F. Clarke and Mrs. W. R. Litzberg. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. A. King Wilson, Mrs. James Ladd, Mrs. Ada Wallace Trunk, Miss Carrie Holbrook, Mrs. Henry Russell Talbot, Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Elliott B. Corbett, Mrs. T. L. Elliot and Mrs. E. B. Colwell.

Mrs. W. D. Jellison will entertain at cards Wednesday and Thursday of this week at her home on Portland Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cook returned to Portland last Thursday after an extensive tour of Northern and Central Africa, Turkey, Greece and Central and Western Europe.

Mrs. Harper Skuse, of Bend, Ore., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. F. Cronin, at Garden Home, was honor guest Thursday evening when Miss Dagmar Korrell entertained with two tables of bridge.

Swinging into form are the several dancing clubs now that the winter is closing in on society. The Wednesday Evening Club will give their series of assemblies at the Portland Heights

Club this year. The first dance will take place Wednesday evening, October 11. The patronesses will be Mrs. Jay Smith, Mrs. Oliver King Jeffery, Mrs. A. R. Grant and Mrs. Benjamin Trenkman.
