OREGON CITY, Oct. 28 .- (Special.)-Cleta Pearl Alisky, wife of Charles W. Alisky, both of whom are suing for divorce, today filed suit for $150,000 damages against her husband's parents, Charles A. Alisky and Mrs. Caroline Alisky. The plaintiff, who is a sister of Maybelle Gliman Corey, alleges that her husband's affections were alienated by his parents. She has similar suit for damages pending in the Superior Court in Seattle.

Court in Seattle.

Mrs. Alisky says they were married in San Diego, Cal. October 14, 1997, and that they lived happily until August, 1909, when her husband's parents took a dislike to her and planned to cause estrangement between them. She avers that they succeeded to the extent her husband considered it best to remain more with his parents than with her.

Wife Enters University. It was at this time, the plaintiff further alleges, that she and her hus-band agreed that she should become a student at the Pacific University at San Jose. She matriculated in August, 1909.

The plaintiff says that after this she saw her husband only at long intervals, and the meetings were kept secret from his parents. It is charged that Allsky became entirely estranged from his wife in April, 1911.

Another allegation is that Alisky told his wife it was necessary for him to leave her to receive his inheritance from his parents, who were worth $1,-100,000. It is alleged that to humiliate the plaintiff and drive her away from the home of the defendants, where she was visiting, a woman of questionable character was brought there. She avers she was so humiliated by this and other treatment that she left the house at midnight and went to a hotel.

Plot Charge Repeated. Mrs. Alisky repeats the story in her complaint for a divorce of how an effort was made to trap her with another man, she declares, that her husband might have evidence upon which to have his suit for divorce. WOMEN VOTERS SOCIALISTS

Poll of 50,000 Expected by Party in Washington.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 28 .- (Special.) With most of the officials out of the capital city for the time being, specu-lation is rife in a political way, but as yet nothing definite is announced. probability the campaign will not formally opened until after January , and some would like to see a delay until April or later. Every little while some one predicts that the woman vote will overturn everything and then fol-lowing this will come the announce-ment that there will be no change.

One thing is certain, many women voters are Socialists. This party is going to poll not less than 50,000 votes at the next election, according to wise ones, and it is predicted that J. Allan Smith, a University of Washington professor, will head the ticket. He has played an important role in the unisome time and about six years ago there was serious talk of aving the regents dismiss him because of his Socialistic teachings. However, that he will head the ticket is only mere rumor, but his is the latest name added to the list of Gubernatorial possibilities. No statement has issued from

DISTRIBUTIVE RATES WAIT

Appeal From Spokane Case Delays

Their Publication. OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 28.—(Special.) the Interstate Commerce Court rules on the appeal from the Interstate Commerce Commission decision in the Spokane rate case. In addition the Commission declares that the new distributive rates will be based on the distance tariff, or rather a "merchandise" distance tariff rather than the general. This will be done to give a fair rate, as the Commission regards the class or commodity tariffs too high. The reductions on the long hauls will be much greater than on the short hauls, as there is where the biggest complaint comes from. The Commission declares that all jobbing centers will be treated alike and that the rate east from Puget Sound will be the same as that west from Spokane.

Sooner or later the Commission, which will make the distributive rates which will make the distributive fates apply alike to all jobbling centers, will have to determine just what a "jobbing center" may be. In general it is any town, regardless of size, where goods are received in carload lots and sent to other places in less than carload lots. The Commission's appropriaload lots. during the next term of court.
The little word "request" hung the ory and upon it depended the fate of the six ranchers, prominent residents of the valley. When the jury took its first vote it is said to have stood nine to three for conviction. Two of those who were at first not willing to return a verdict of guilty finally agreed to go over to the majority if the third would but he refused on the grounds. it is said, that he was not sure in his mind whether or not the threatening letter sent to Beyer by the conspirators was intimidating in character. He pointed out that the letter said that if the contest was not stopped the defendants would "request" Erwin and Beyer to leave the valley. Had the word been "must" he would, he said, vote guilty.

VOTE NEEDED MORMON

Former Governor of Idaho Suggested as Candidate for Nomination. History of His Knifing in 1904 Is Told.

BY C. E. ARNEY. BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 28 .- (Special.)-The past week has been marked in political circles by the attention paid by the weekly papers of the state to an unsigned postal card, mailed from Bolse to several parts of Idaho, containing the bold statement:

"For Governor, John T. Morrison. If not, why not?"

Some have wondered that the inquisitor falled to sign his name to the interrogation. Others have excused him with the statement that he did not wish to have "honors thrust upon him." while others have suggested an adroit political venture. None have made adrerse comment.

But as to John T. Morrison for Governor! If not, why not? There are several reasons "why not." One is, broadly stated, that the ex-Governor is in bad odor with the men who shape the political destinies of the Republican party of the Gem of the Mountains. Another is that he has studiously avoided doing that which others would do and have done, to "make his calling and election sure." Another is that and election sure." Another is that probably he did things while Governor and falled to do other things, which in-hibits him now from making a deal with Judge Alfred Budge, Mormon candidate for the State Supreme Court bench, and the probable spokesman of the Mormon Republicans of the seven southeastern counties, which are nec-essary to secure Morrison the nomination in the direct primary election the last of next June.

John T. Morrison was Govenor of Idaho from January, 1903, until January, 1905. He succeeded Governor Frank W. Hunt, a Democrat, and was succeeded by Governor Frank R. Gooding, a Republican. Then, as now, he was a lawyer. He was elected from Caldwell, in Canyon County. Since his term as Governor he has resided in

His administration was without serious criticism. In fact, it was one of the very best administrations which the State of Idaho has ever had. Morrison is a scholarly man. He is not a poli-tician. If he had been less able and more inclined to neglect his official trust and travel over the state to "campaign" while Governor, he might have brushed opposition aside sufficiently to have been his own successor as Governor.

The state convention at which he was defeated for the nomination was held defeated for the nomination was held in 1904 at Moscow. It was a representative convention. Gooding had been state chairman for the two years preceding, and in this capacity he had gained the friendship of the men of the southeast, including Sait Lake City. With James H. Brady, from Pocatello, he pooled issues. Representative French, of Latah, had been indorsed by the Latah County convention for re-Trench, or Latan, and been indorsed by the Latah County convention for renomination, with Governor Morrison, En route to the convention, a journey which required the southern delegates to travel through all of Southern Idaho, Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington, a deal was made for Gooding as the candidate for Governor against Morrison. It was indorsed by all the Mormon delegates, by Brady. Borah and Montie B. Gwinn. Noses were counted with great care when the State University city was reached, and it was found that the insurgent combination was siy a few votes. The Gooding crowd, however, won the organization, and sent for French. They served notice on him that he must abrogate the instructions of his county convention and get the delegates in line for Good-ing and against Morrison or another candidate would be put in the field to defeat him for the nomination. French was indersed by his county, but second to Morrison. The task was delicate. He was inherently for Morrison. He did not like the job of attempting to change his delegation. It might serve to turn it against him. Time wore on and the demand be came positive and the situation critical. Morrison was unable to force matters, owing to the unfriendliness of the convention organization. Finally French prevailed on his delegation to change to Gooding and the deal went through. Gooding was named, so was

French, and Morrison was slaughtered. In all the history of its interesting existence, the Idaho Dally Statesman never printed lines so bitter and demnatory of its party as it did the day following the consummation of this political deal. Scars were here inflicted which have not yet healed in the Republican party of Idaho. In fact, had it not been that the Demo-crats were making a fight which served crats were making a fight which served to solidify the entire southeast vote against him, and for the Republicans, at that time, disaster would have followed the Moscow deal. Had the ticket slipped through by a scratch, it would have gone to certain defeat two years later, in the campaign of 1906.

This deal had its damaging effect on Governor Brady at the time of his first election and was a factor in his defeat last year. It was the approached Morlast year. It was the same solid Mor-mon vote which saved him three years ago and it was the lack of it last Fall which, added to other objections to the candidate, occasioned his defeat. In his first election, Brady was elected by 5000 votes less than the average of his party ticket. Last year he was de-feated by 800, when the remainder of his ticket was elected by an average of more than 900e votes. So far as French was concerned, he was pitled more than censured, for it was clearly within the knowledge of all present that he did not want to make the trade and only did so as a final move to save himself, and then with the consent of his deleserved one term It may be that the promoter of the Morrison Gubernatorial campaign is in deadly earnest. Then again it may be a part of a plan which a prominent politician from Southeastern Idaho outlined in this statement: "Ex-Governor Boady is trying to get as many candi-Brady is trying to get as many candidates as possible in the field for the Gubernatorial nomination. He has had such of his friends as ex-Secretary -The Public Service Commission has Kirk receives $10 f. c. b. at Freewater. of State Gibson, of Boise, and George Gagon, an attorney, of Blackfoot, make overtures to the St. Anthony banker, Guy Bowerman, to encourage him to swell the number of candidates." It matters little who started the Morrison agitation or what was the mo-tive. It is started. It may not have been with Morrison's consent, but un-less he himself puts a stop to it he will be a factor in the campaign, and he has a record for running for office whenever opportunity offers.

The Iroquois, a steel ship of 1169 tons, left the Canadian Pacific pler at 11:39 o'clock under charter to the Canadian Pacific and carrying passengers for Victoria. The Mulinomah, a 26-year-old wooden sternwheel steamer, built for Columbia River passenger business, was coming up to her pier from Olympia and Taup to her pier from Olympia and Tacoma with freight. The fog was so thick that a light could be seen only a few feet, and there was a bewildering tunuit of fog whistles. Both boats were proceeding with caution because of thick weather, when suddenly the knife edge of the Iroquois sliced the fragile Multnomah almost clear through. The Iroquois' engines were stopped at once, and the crew of the wooden vessel was taken on the Iroquois, which put back to the pier and quois, which put back to the pier and landed the men. The Multnomah's wreckage went to the bottom as soon as the Iroquois disentangled herself.

No one was injured on either boat. The Multnomah, which was owned by the Olympia Navigation Company, was built at Portland, Or., and was a favorite passenger vessel on the Colum-bla River for many years. Of late, however, she had become a mere hulk engaged in carrying freight between Olympia, Tacoma and Seattle. Esti-mates for her value range between $15,000 and $25,000. She is a total loss. She lies in several hundred feet of water. The Multnomah was 143 feet long and of 313 gross tonnage. The Iroquois belongs to the Inland Naviga-tion Company, and makes three trips a week between Seattle and Victoria un-der charter to the Canadian Pacific.
