HALLOWEEN week, dear to the hearts of children, also serves as an excuse for funmaking on the part of the older generation. This year has been no exception to the rule, and a number of grotesque, as well as picturesque, affairs marked the last day of October, celebration of which is one of the oldest of American customs. The smartest affair given Halloween was that at which Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Burrell were hosts.

Of paramount importance was the dance Friday evening with the debutante, Miss Katherine MacMaster, as the motif. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gaud were the hosts at this function, which was given at their attractive Kings Heights residence.

The Standifer-Boschke wedding Wednesday evening was also an event of interest. Leaning on the horizon is the coming Horse Show and the first of the subscription dances, the latter being scheduled for November 17.

For the week new began Mrs. James McIndoo, wife of Major McIndoo, has cards out for a large bridge party Friday afternoon.

Of primal social importance was the brilliant dance given by Mrs. J. G. Gaud, Friday evening, in honor of Miss Katherine MacMaster. Unusually beautiful were the decorations. Varicolored chrysanthemums in masses transformed the dancing room into a bower, and in the porch, which was screened for the occasion, Lady Smith chrysanthemums, artistically combined with bamboo foliage, were used effectively.

Receiving with Mrs. Gaud, besides the honor guest, were debutantes of the season, Miss Mary Brown, who appeared in a lovely creation of blue crepe de chine and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses; Miss Louise Burns, whose gown was a French creation of white lace, and Miss Margaret Hewett, who was striking in a gown of pink chiffon over the same-toned satin, worn with a corsage bouquet of violets.

Mrs. Gaud was a distinguished figure in a gown of yellow brocade, elaborated with real lace. Miss Isabella Gaud's gown was an unusually handsome one of white lace with touches of color in begonia shades, and Miss Katherine MacMaster looked charming in a Parisian creation of mauve chiffon embroidered in pearls.

Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett was crowned in a becoming costume of American Beauty chiffon.

Mrs. Walter F. Burrell was handsome in a gown of heliotrope panne satin embellished with jet.

Mrs. C. F. Adams wore lavender crepe de chine, elaborated with opalescent beads.

Mrs. William Warren was adorned in a gown of black lace heavily embellished with jet sequins.

Mrs. David Heyman's gown was of white chiffon with gold trimmings.

Miss Claire Hoarston was radiant in shaded American beauty tones of chiffon with trimmings of real lace and worn with an arm bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Kenneth Beabe (Caroline Wilson) wore pink satin with an overspread of chiffon, outlined with bead motifs.

Miss Alice Miller, who is Miss Gaud's house guest, was a noticeable figure in a frock of Chinese Miss crepe with trimmings of white lace and worn with a corsage bouquet of white roses.

Miss Laelle Smith was in coral satin, and Miss Francis Wilson in deep blue chiffon.

Miss Marjorie Hoffman's gown was of white satin, elaborated with Venice lace.

Mrs. G. Walter Gates wore a superb robe of white lace, with a border of black velvet.

Miss Barbara Crocker looked attractive in a frock of white net, with trimmings of silver and tiny French roses.

Mrs. C. E. Gralle was in flame chiffon.

Miss Katherine Taylor, of Vancouver, B.C., wore a fashionable gown of blue satin, embroidered in the same shade and trimmed with white lace. Miss Hazel Dolph was striking in a gown of coral-colored satin, and carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Miss Lisa Wood, a bride-elect, wore a frock of white chiffon embellished with pearls.

Mrs. Victor Johnson's costume was of soft pink satin, cut on severe lines and trimmed with rose point lace.

Mrs. Richard Nunn was in yellow satin.

Mrs. Shavlin wore white satin with an overspread of white net outlined with beads.

Mrs. Frederick Page's gown was of ivory white satin, with touches of sky-blue velvet.

Miss Marie Hart was in white satin with pearl motifs.

Miss Milla Weisinger wore a gown of white chiffon embroidered in gold.

Mrs. Walter Bowers wore a gown of yellow satin with trimmings of fur, and Miss Hazel Crocker wore a chic dress of white chiffon, with trimmings of lace and a girlish of cerise satin.

Mrs. Walter F. Burrell is a Portland woman whose beauty has been admired in the courts of Europe as well as in America. She is the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, herself a social leader, who, with her daughters, has entered to the most exclusive New York set.

Miss Margaret Montgomery, who is Mrs. Burrell's youngest sister, is at present in Florence, Italy. It will be remembered that when Miss Montgomery was presented at the German court two seasons ago she was the one American girl who was signally distinguished by being asked to dance by the Crown Prince.

The large bridge party given on Halloween by Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Burrell at their home on Hawthorne avenue was one of the smartest affairs of the season. Pink cosmos in masses decorated the drawing-room and in the dining-room myriads of yellow chrysanthemums were used and candles set in large pumpkin jack-o'-lanterns gave the traditional ghastly touch to the scene. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tourle, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Snelvin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Page, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney L. Bolse, Mr. and Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. H. D. Shindler, Mr. and Mrs. David Heyman, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Webster Talbot, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Russell Talbot, Major and Mrs. J. J. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gaud, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Adams, Captain and Mrs. William H. Bluffe, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hall, Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Mrs. Florence Minot, Miss Sallie Lewis, Miss Katherine MacMaster, Miss Ethel Pitts, of Victoria, B. C., Miss Isabella Gaud, Miss Ella Hirsch, Major Helms, Henry Montgomery, William D. Wheelwright, Rodney Gilson, Clarence Sewall, Andrew Kerr, Mr. Coburg and Carl Wernicks.

Yellow chrysanthemums adorned the table at the elaborate dinner given Wednesday evening by Miss Hazel Dolph in honor of Miss Katherine MacMaster, one of the season's charming debutantes. Miss Dolph's guests were Miss Katherine MacMaster, Miss Ethel Pitts, of Victoria, B. C., Miss Jean MacKenzie, Miss Claire Hoarston, Miss Leasley Smith, Miss Isabella Gaud, Miss Evelyn Wilson, George Warren, C. H. Davis, Jr., Walter Beabe, Rodney Gilson, Van Anderson, Charles Holbrook, Leland Smith and Jordan Zan.

Miss Elizabeth Carson will pass the winter in Los Angeles with her brother, John Carson, who, when he was resident of Portland, was one of the popular bachelors.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bates entertained with a five hundred party of four tables Halloween. Prize winners were Miss Cornelia Cook, Miss Mary Long and Alfred Clark. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitney Morden, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morrow, Miss Long, Miss Eva Long, Miss Cornelia Cook, Miss Cully Cook, Miss Ruby Crichton, Miss Dorris Clark, James Ambrose, Edwin Morris, Fred Newell, Lloyd Bates and George W. Bates, Jr.

Miss Georgiana Sturges, a granddaughter of the late John Carson, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Robert T. Pratt, has returned to California.

One of the noteworthy weddings of the season took place Wednesday when Miss Margaret Boschke became Mrs. Guy Manley Standifer. In the drawing-room of the Boschke home where the service was read, an altar of flowers was fashioned for the occasion, and palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums made an effective decoration. With Rev. Roy Edgar Remington, pastor of All Saints' Church officiating, the ceremony was performed at half after 8 o'clock in the presence of 40 guests. Later a reception was held and about 250 members of the smart set called.

The costuming of the bride and her attendants followed the quaint and becoming style of Colonial days. The bride, who is a handsome girl of the brunette type, was gowned in white panne satin, ornamented with a fleuree of rose point lace, and her veil fell from beneath a lace mob cap. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. Miss Elizabeth Boschke, a sister of the bride, as maid of honor, looked charming in a "Kate Greenaway" gown of white net over white satin. This costume was completed by a mob cap of white lace and a basket of Cecil Brunner roses.

Miss Gretchen Klosterman, Miss Ruby Crichton, Miss Elizabeth Menefee and Miss Virginia Menefee. In the drawing-room of the Boschke home where the service was read, an altar of flowers was fashioned for the occasion, and palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums made an effective decoration. With Rev. Roy Edgar Remington, pastor of All Saints' Church officiating, the ceremony was performed at half after 8 o'clock in the presence of 40 guests. Later a reception was held and about 250 members of the smart set called.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Thomas Standifer, of Spokane.

In the dining-room of the Boschke home the decoration was bride roses and ferns, and throughout the house varicolored dahlias were used in combination with autumnal foliage.

Mrs. Standifer is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Boschke and is popular in local society. Mr. Standifer is the son of Colonel and Mrs. I. N. Standifer, a brother of Thomas Standifer, of Spokane. For the last few years he has been a resident of Portland and has made many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Standifer will be away from home about two months, passing their honeymoon in a tour of the South. Guests from out of town who are visitors at the Boschke home are: Mrs. T. M. Smith, of Santa Barbara, and Mrs. M. E. Boschke, of Los Angeles, the bride's grandmothers; and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Morrow and Miss Arabella Morrow, of San Francisco.

Miss Genevieve Thompson was hostess at a theater party which enjoyed "The Spring Maid" Wednesday afternoon. After the performance the guests were entertained at tea at the Portland Hotel.

In honor of Mrs. Philip Golinaky, Mrs. Cecil H. Bauer was hostess Wednesday afternoon. The guests were entertained with an automobile ride and tea at the Portland Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Adams were dinner hosts Thursday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Menefee, Major and Mrs. James McIndoo, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott,

Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Talbot, Major and Mrs. James Cady, Dr. and Mrs. Otis Wight, Henry Montgomery and the host and hostess. After dinner the evening was devoted to auction bridge, and Mrs. Brooks and Dr. Wight captured the prizes.

Mrs. Gilbert Durham was honor guest at a theater party at the Queen Wednesday afternoon given by Mrs. Roger B. Sinnott. Tea at the Portland Hotel followed the performance. Besides the honor guest and the hostess the party included Mrs. Gerald Beabe, Miss Madis Hari, Miss Isabella Gaud, Miss Cornelia Cook and Miss Katherine Holbrook.

The Fruit and Flower Mission at their regular meeting Thursday discussed plans for a fancy work bazaar and doll show, to be given in the parlors of the Portland Hotel, on the afternoons of December 4 and 5. Hand made articles of every description will be on sale, and two novel features of the bazaar will be a fortune-telling booth, conducted by one of the young ladies whose identity is being kept a secret, and a grab-bag of 10, 15 and 25 cent articles.

A large handsomely-dressed doll, which is to be displayed in Meier & Frank's doll show, November 9 to 11, will be featured in the exhibition. The doll will be shown in the window of some prominent business house, for ten days. The committee in charge of the bazaar is: Mrs. Frank W. Wilson, chairman; Mrs. L. G. Clarke, Mrs. Chester Deering, Mrs. F. E. Reed, Mrs. O. A. Lyman, Mrs. E. C. Giltner, Mrs. R. H. Birdsell, Mrs. Paul Frolich, Mrs. Benjamin Rosenfeld, Mrs. Oscar Hittner, Mrs. S. E. Spencer, Miss Mabel Beck, Miss Eva Sternberg, Miss Marshall, Miss Harriet Johnson, Miss Lola Sanders, and Miss Marjorie Forbis. A special meeting will be held November 23 to complete final arrangements for the bazaar and to receive work which may be donated.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nixon (Agnes Dolph, a daughter of the late Senator and Mrs. J. N. Dolph), sailed November 3 from England. For the last year they have occupied a smart apartment on the Champs Elysees, in Paris.

Mrs. Richard Thornton, of London, who will be remembered as the beautiful Miss Ruth Dolph, has been a guest during the past winter of the Nixon's. En route home Mr. and Mrs. Nixon passed a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Thornton at their London residence. It will be recalled that Mrs. Thornton was one of the trio of Portland girls chosen to represent Oregon at the christening of the battleship Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Nixon will stay in New York for a short time and will also visit Washington, D. C., before returning to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gill and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson R. Myers, of Honolulu, are passing the week-end at "Kilohana," the Gill Summer home at Clatsop Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Hall left Portland last week for Boston, where they will be the guests of their son, Lindley F. Hall, who is taking the course in architecture in the Institute of Technology. Mr. and Mrs. Hall are planning to visit Europe in the Spring and expect to be gone about a year.

In honor of Mrs. John H. Williams, of Tacoma, the house guest of Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, Mrs. William K. Dunckley was hostess at a bridge party Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Clarence Nichols has given up her house on Salmon street and has moved to a flat at 782 Johnson street. Her niece, Miss Helen Bates, will be her guest for the winter.

Among the out-of-town visitors in Portland during the past week have been George Barclay Moffat and Harold Fowler, of New York. Mr. Moffat is well known in Portland, having been a frequent visitor here, as he was formerly president of the Oregon Electric Railway Company. On Monday Guy Webster, Talbot gave an informal luncheon for Mr. Fowler at the Arlington Club, inviting several of the younger set. Those present besides Mr. Fowler and Mr. Talbot were Maxwell Wood, Lewis A. McArthur, Harold S. Wells, Frederick Forster and C. H. Young.

Mrs. C. S. Jachet entertained members of the Reading Club Wednesday at luncheon. Besides the hostess covers were laid for Mrs. William MacKenzie, Mrs. Robert Esch, Mrs. J. W. Goss, Mrs. William Ladd, Mrs. Curtis Strong, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, Mrs. Robert Livingston, Mrs. Francis B. Chastain, Mrs. A. L. Maxwell and Mrs. Maxwell's house guest, Mrs. John H. Williams, of Tacoma.

Mrs. Luther Steel, of Ewabee, Riverside Drive, was hostess at a luncheon Saturday in honor of Miss Hannah Connell, whose engagement to Percy Wilson Bianchard was announced last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clifford Woodhouse (Miss Helen Mendez Kruttschnitt) are to make Oregon their home. Mrs. Woodhouse is the daughter of Vice-President Kruttschnitt, of the Harriman line, and was married recently in New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse will spend their honeymoon in the Orient, after which they will take possession of their ranch near Klamath Falls.

In honor of the much-feted bride, Mrs. Philip Golinaky, her sister Miss Hilda Jacobs, was hostess Friday afternoon at a bridge party. Guests for five tables were asked.

Miss Dorothy Newhall, whose engagement to Edwin Randolph Pooley, of Hood River, was announced at an attractive tea last week, has chosen Christmas as the date of her wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Flanders, of The Cliffs, on Portland Heights, have returned from an extensive visit in the East, visiting relatives in New England. They visited Washington, D. C. and New Orleans on their way home.

Master William Panton, son of Dr. and Mrs. James J. Panton, was host

RECEIPT FOR WARDING OFF AGE

Put in commonplace—middle-aged. It stamps a woman as unquestionably past the period of youth. Hence it lessens her beauty or wit—but that indefinite fascination a fine figure would have led from her.

For ever? Not for it can be regained, and that figure which expressed in the straight front the lissome hip, the wavy outline, is not beyond rescue. Let any woman who is not too well filled out take a Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime. The springiness of the fat, uniformly and smoothly, revealing the foundation of the most youthful form beneath.

Try this method. No exercising or dieting necessary to take off a pound a day. The Tablet will do it alone. No wrinkles or sagged lines will form; instead the health, the brightness and the litheuess will increase. The Marmola Prescription Tablet is absolutely non-injurious (being made of the famous vegetable formulae of Marmola, 1/4 oz. Ft. Ex. Cascara, Armatin, 3/4 oz. Peppermint Water); and it is also inexpensive. Large cases, enough to show results, costing at any drug store, or direct from the Marmola Co., 608 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., only seventy-five cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Adams were dinner hosts Thursday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Menefee, Major and Mrs. James McIndoo, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott,

Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Talbot, Major and Mrs. James Cady, Dr. and Mrs. Otis Wight, Henry Montgomery and the host and hostess. After dinner the evening was devoted to auction bridge, and Mrs. Brooks and Dr. Wight captured the prizes.
