GRAND AVENUE EXTENSION

The proposed extension of Grand avenue north to city limits will require appropriation of the property where the street will pass through 16 blocks between Hancock and Fremont streets, when it is opened for a few blocks and then is closed in all to open Grand avenue to Columbia boulevard. North will necessitate the extension of the street through between 24 and 25 blocks.

Practically all the lots are occupied by residences so that the cost will be heavy, and requires between 19 and 23 full blocks of land, besides the improvements that have been made. It is proposed to make a street 50 feet wide from Holladay avenue north. The cost probably will foot up to $250,000, besides the advantages.

JEFFERSON GRADUATES IN FAMOUS

PLAY—A review of Oliver Goldsmith's famous comedy "She Stoops to Conquer" will be given by members of the June class of Jefferson High school on June 7 and 8. An excellent cast has been secured by competitive tryouts at which enthusiasm and spirit figured prominently. The school has been extremely fortunate in securing as coach, Miss P. Towale, graduate of the University of Kansas and also of a prominent school of dramatic art. Her untiring efforts and skill had fair to bring great success to the undertaking. The play was written by Oliver Goldsmith in 1773 and produced at Covent Garden Theater, London, one year before the author's death. "She Stoops to Conquer" and "The Good-Natured Man" are the most familiar of English plays excepting only Shakespeare. It has been repeatedly revived with great success.
The characters in the play will be taken from the following students: Sir Charles Marlow, Arthur Anderson; Young Marlow, Fred Holzhausen; Hardcastle, Frank Cox; Hastings, Jerome Whitely; Trout, Lumpkin; Howard McCulloch; Diggsy, Otis Love; Mrs. Hardcastle, Avis Ogden; Miss Hardcastle, Lucile Quinn; Miss Pease, Dorothy; Landford, Paul Wiggin; maids, Lucile Hayes and Winifred Bent. The play will be presented upon the school stage and handed entirely by members of the senior class. It is one of the heaviest plays to be attempted by a Portland school in several years. The scene effects and costumes are to be of 18th century style. Rehearsals are being held daily. The proceeds of the two performances will be devoted to the publication of the Clatsop Spectator of the school paper, which is now well under way.

Mrs. Crozier's Funeral Held

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Crozier, who died Thursday at her home, 455 Harney street, in Sellwood, was held yesterday from the chapel of the East Side Funeral Directors, East Alder and East Sixth streets, and the interment was made in Mount Scott Cemetery.
Mrs. Crozier was the wife of John H.
Crozier, came to Portland in 1873 and taught school for a number of years in the old Holladay building before the district was consolidated with No. 1.
Many of her former pupils, grown to men and women, attended the service and brought floral tributes. Rev. James D. Corby, pastor of the First Universalist Church, of which Mrs. Crozier has long been a member, conducted the services and spoke in high terms of her years of useful service. Members of Acme Hebrew Lodge, of which she had been a member, attended the funeral.

CLACKAMAS IMPROVEMENT CLUB

Improvement Club, organized Wednesday night, are as follows: President, W. T. Gardner; secretary, J. C. Butcher;

Logey, A. Mather and Philip Finzer.
J. H. Johnson was made chairman of the committee on transportation, the object being to secure an electric line to Portland. Several talks were made on the subject of transportation. C.
E. Clark, of Portland, outlined several surveys which had been made in the past. It was the sentiment of the meeting that the club should be made permanent and work for the advancement of the Clackamas district.

Statement Was Used by Eastern Bond House Says Company Head Replying to Kellaher.
That both statements, the one published in the London Mail and that died with the City Auditor, are correct insofar as they relate to the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, is the opinion of B. S. Josselyn, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. The London Mail statement turns out to be an advertisement of an Eastern bond house, and merely referred to the gross earnings and net earnings from operation of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. The advertisement stated that of the expenditures taken out of the surplus. Apparently the object was to sell bonds, for the advertisement was signed by a Boston firm of bond designers. Dan Kellaher's statement before the executive board was to the effect that there was $200,000 difference in the statements.

owners arising from the hope expressed by them that the County Court would take over Willamette boulevard and maintain the same. This the County Court has wisely refused to consider.
For the County Court to do so would be going back several years. It would mean that this portion of the connecting link would never be hard-surfaced and that the heavy traffic on same would continue for all time to make it among the worst and most miserable roads or streets in the City of Portland.
