For the 13th time the clerk began the calling of the roll.

Gossip about the floor was that the popular prejudice against the 13th roll-call would prevent any material changes in the vote on that ballot. It was also said that the "unjucky Friday" superstition last night prevented shifts that might have made a nomination possible. The rollcall began with the same monotonous repetition that marked last night's voting and ended without nomination.

Bryan Appears on Platform.

Before the result on the 13th ballot was announced, Bryan appeared on the platform. He talked to Chairman James for a moment and then resumed his seat in the Nebraska section. A cheer swept the hall.

Bryan made his way to the platform through the sweating mob in the aisles. A round of cheers greeted him and he took the platform. Through the uproar he shouted:

He got no further. Again the racket swept the hall.

forced the big California Clark banner up to the platform.

A fight was narrowly averted as the officers of the convention forced it back down the steps. A girl, Miss Gladys Hogan, of Baltimore, seized the California banner and tried to lead the demonstration, but without much success. After the demonstration had lasted 25 minutes, the chair ordered the police to clear all banners from the hall and to allow no woman in the section reserved for delegates. Some semblance of order finally was restored.

The poll of the Maryland delegation was ressumed. A cheer greeted the vote of United States Senator Reyner, cast for Wilson. The poll was frequently interrupted by disorder, it became so difficult to keep the delegates and spectators quiet that extra policemen were stationed about three feet apart in the aisles.

The Maryland poll showed Wilson dorselved at "faker." He compared the Colonel with Lot and his family when they were driven out of Sodom and Lot's wife turned back and was turned into a pillar of salt. "Just so it is with "Teddy." He says he will smash the trusts. But he goes only so far and then turns back to favor them." said Seidel.
