

NOTED WOMEN IN PORTLAND TODAY

200 Leading Figures From East to Visit City and Speak for Suffrage.

MASS MEETING IN PLANS

Delegates to National Federation to Be Entertained by Local Workers—Frances Squire Potter Will Make Address.

The question of whether women will secure the right to have a voice in the management of affairs of city, state and country will be uppermost in the minds of many Portland women today, with the arrival of 200 of the leading women of America, many of whom will stay in Portland over the week to help in the cause of equal franchise, the campaign for which is waxing warmer week by week.

These women are on their way home from the National Biennial convention of the Federated Woman's Clubs, which has just completed the most successful session in its history at San Francisco. While the majority will leave for the East late this evening, many will remain over the week. Those who do so have promised themselves of offering their services for any moment of their stay.

As one of them wrote yesterday, "Suffrage is to be the topic of the hour and of the day in Portland, and as it is the matter nearest to the hearts of every one of us, make what use you can of me. We are here to obey your every command."

Reports have been received at headquarters of the royal treatment accorded the women all along the route. At every stopping place members of suffrage clubs, women's clubs and of various organizations gathered in force to greet the passengers. Rear Platform Speeches Made. Last night at Ashland, in spite of the fact that the train was somewhat behind time, the women were met at the station to hear an address delivered by Miss Mary Garrett Hay, president of the New York State Federation. Miss Hay, who spoke from the rear platform, was given an attentive hearing by the crowds that had assembled. Many others also made short speeches, the concluding one being the signal for showers of roses and other flowers. Presents of fruit were given to the clubwomen and the train steamed away to the accompaniment of cheers and good wishes.

Chautauqua was in session at Ashland at the time, and mention must be made of the fact that the Chautauqua women worked hand in hand with the suffragists to make the occasion an eventful and a memorable one.

On their arrival at Oregon City this morning they will be met by practically every woman in the city, augmented by a large delegation of Portland clubwomen and suffragists, who left town this morning as early as 5:30 A. M. on the specially decorated car to greet their visitors. The local delegation will board the special train on its arrival at 8:35 A. M., and escort their visitors to Portland.

They are due here at 9 A. M. today, and will be met by what promises to be the largest body of women interested in suffrage and woman's work ever assembled in this city.

On leaving the train they are to be escorted to their hotels, where they will find a surprise, especially those who have not as yet given serious consideration to the movement. Many of the best-known New York and New Jersey women will speak on educational topics as well as the main subject of equal suffrage.

It is the aim of the local suffrage clubs to more than fill the church as a tribute to the kindness of women who are speaking during their short stay in the city. As there is every indication that the church will be unable to accommodate all those who intend to be present, arrangements have already been made to hold an "overflow" meeting, which will be addressed by other women orators.

Among those who will speak is a woman who has done work which has received the special approbation of President Taft, Mrs. Helen Vorlick Boswell. She has the distinction of having been sent by President Taft to Panama, there to organize woman's clubs, with the object of alleviating the lot of the men who had to carry on the arduous task of building the canal.

Noted Educator Comes. Her efforts were so successful that she received the hearty commendation of the President, when the 12 clubs which she organized down there are now banded together under the title of the Canal Zone Federation.

There will be many events for the week. First will be the speeches to be delivered by Mrs. Frances Squire Potter, the noted woman lecturer, writer and authority on educational problems.

Mrs. Potter will speak Thursday, July 11, in the evening at the Gladstone Park Chautauqua, on industrial conditions and equal suffrage; on Friday, she will address a mass meeting on equal suffrage at the Taylor Street Methodist Episcopal Church, at 8 P. M.

En route to Portland she will stop off at Eugene, where the equal suffragists are arranging a big meeting for the evening of Wednesday, July 10. She has been and will be the world's greatest woman orator.

On Saturday afternoon another big mass meeting is to be held in the spacious grounds surrounding the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cook, Fifth and Hall streets, who have offered their lawn for the purpose. Among the speakers at this and other suffrage meetings will be Mrs. Helen Vorlick Boswell, Miss Helen Beagwell, Dr. Cordelia DeBey, and Miss Mary Wood.

Miss Boswell and Miss Hay have volunteered, through local suffragists, to make a number of side trips and speak in the interest of the suffrage campaign at neighboring towns. Arrangements are being made to this end, and Forest Grove and Corvallis are two points at which important meetings will be held.

Among the women who will be here today are the following well-known speakers: Miss Mary Garrett Hay, president New York State Federation; Mrs. William Grant Brown, president New York City Federation; Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, president Pioneer Workers' Association and ex-president New York Sorosis; Miss Mary Wood, chairman New York Legislative Committee and of Titanic Memorial; Miss Florence Guernsey, general Federation secretary, New York; Mrs. Howard C. Warren, New Jersey State Federation; Mrs. B. T. Denison, honorary president General Federation; Miss May Riley Smith, president New York Sorosis; Mrs. John F. Yawger, state corresponding secretary, New York; Mrs. Joseph McQuide, chairman Anti-Tuberculosis Committee, New York; Mrs. Mary S. Purdy, president White Plains Club, New York; Mrs. N. E. Hurlburt, president Daughters of the Empire State; Mrs. J. W. Ford, chairman Conservation Committee, New York; Mrs. Frank E. Hadley, Health Protective Association, New York; Madame Von Kierner, president New York Press Club; Mrs. James Sebring, chairman Eighth New York District Federation; Mrs. J. E. Cheeseman, president East Orange Club, New Jersey; Mrs. William Dabrow, president Contemporary Club, New Jersey.

gon Humane Society, tendering a benefit in July for the protection of horses. George H. Mayes has been elected a trustee to fill vacancy on the board. According to the report of the society for the month of June, which has just been compiled, 23 horses were laid off, 11 were unfit for work; 44 dogs were examined and four destroyed; 78 cats were examined and 64 destroyed. There were nine arrests for cruelty and eight convictions; three jail sentences; three suspended sentences and $100 paid in fines. Watering places to the number of 65 were established.

Residents Resist Sewer Assessment.

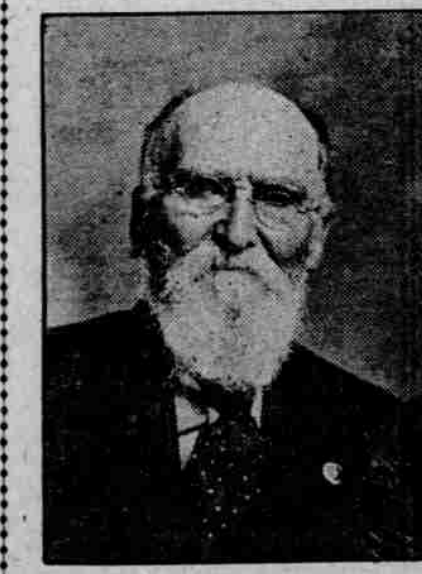

The East Forty-first Holgate street Improvement Association has employed Attorneys H. English and W. C. Benbow to investigate the assessment that has been made on residents in the vicinity of East Forty-first and Holgate streets to help pay for the Kenilworth sewer which connects with the Brooklyn sewer system. The general assessment is $16 a lot, and the property owners remonstrated against the assessment, but the remonstrance was ignored. It is urged that the natural drainage for the district assessed is toward the south through the Insley trunk sewer which will reach the Willamette River through Sellwood. The attorneys will examine the situation and report at a future meeting.

Accident Expert to Lecture.

David Van Schaak, of Hartford, Conn., an authority on the cause of accidents and author of a book entitled, "Woodworking Safeguards," will deliver a lecture on the prevention of accidents at Eilers Hall, July 12, at 8:20 P. M.

PRIZE TWINS ARE 85, RESIDENTS OF OREGON

W. W. and J. A. Haines Were Born in Illinois, August 8, 1828—In 1851 They Crossed the Plains Together—Have Many Descendants.

J. A. HAINES AND W. W. HAINES.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 6.—(Special.)—The oldest twins on the Pacific Coast, nearly 85 years of age, are passing a few days here, the guests of Mrs. George M. Bordeaux. They are J. A. Haines, of Eckley, Curry County, and W. W. Haines, of Eugene, Lane County, Or.

These twins, though grizzled and bent, are as active as many men 50 or 60 years old, and recall names, dates and incidents of events that happened when gray-haired men were unborn. Both are in excellent health. They dress alike, trim their beards similarly, and both are bald in the same spot.

W. W. Haines said: "We're both good for 100 years and we expect to die about the same time. No, we don't feel any older than two kids, and are just as happy, but I guess if the truth were told, it has been so long since we were kids that we don't know just how kids feel."

W. W. Haines was married in 1859, Miss Mary P. Blaine, of Linn County, being his bride. They have reared a family of five girls and two boys, and

DISCUSSION GROWS HEATED

State Societies Hold Elections and Then Divide Into Medical and Surgical Divisions to Hear Talks, Examine Instruments.

Tuberculosis, the great White Plague that kills thousands of persons each year in its slow, torturing way, is being lessened in America through education of the masses, sanitary conditions in the homes and the use of purer food and drink, and it will be only a short time until it no longer materially increases the death rate in the United States. Although there was hot dispute over every other point in the discussion of tuberculosis at the tri-medical meet yesterday, all the physicians agreed upon this.

Modern Instruments Displayed. More than $10,000 worth of the most modern instruments known to medicine and surgery had been gathered in the exhibit room and here experiments were under way. One of the X-ray machines was valued at $1000, while another cost $650 and there were dozens of equally delicate and costly instruments on display.

HYGIENIC WORK PRAISED

ST. LOUIS MAN SAYS OREGON LEADS OTHER STATES. T. Strassberg Looks Into Methods Used Here and Will Try to Introduce Them in East.

"I think the work that the Social Hygiene Society of Oregon is doing is one of the finest possible things in the way of education that could be carried on," said T. Strassberg, a wealthy manufacturer of St. Louis, Mo., yesterday, when he visited the office of Dr. Calvin S. White, State Health Officer and president of the society, and Dr. M. Strassberg, head of the work of the society and called at the office to secure some of the literature issued by the society.

"There is nothing like it in the East, strange to say, although such work is much more needed. When I get home I propose to take the matter up with a number of state officials with a view to having something done there," said Mr. Strassberg.

"Expressions like that are not unusual," said Dr. White. "His day passes but that we have visitors from Eastern states who have heard of our work, and in addition we have letters daily from all over the East, from sufferers and from medical men and advisers, asking for advice and suggestions."

It was only late last year that the society was organized. Since then a systematic method of giving lectures and of circulating literature on the subject of sex hygiene has been perfected.

Another big thing the society has accomplished is the exposition of quack specialists, by using the specialists' own methods of advertising. Advice and treatment is given daily by doctors of the staff, at nominal fees for the treatment, or for no fees at all if the circumstances warrant. Many of the patients have confessed to having paid large amounts of money to "specialists" for treatment that has proved unavailing.

In addition to this, the society has proven instrumental in organizing two societies of the same nature in Washington, D. C., and one in Tacoma, and the secretary, Harry Moore, of the Y. M. C. A., is now on the way to San Francisco to assist in the formation of a society there.

Loveland Gives Bail. F. C. Loveland, proprietor of the Twelve-Mile Roadhouse, who was indicted by the grand jury on charges of selling liquor to a minor and selling liquor on Sunday, yesterday put up bail to answer the charges. Sheriff Stevens declares that Loveland has been selling liquor at the roadhouse under a $25 Federal Government license, and that the place has been operated as a social club, membership in which is easy to obtain.

Babal Assembly to Meet. The Babal Assembly will meet in room 18, Selling-Hirsch building, this evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. David Babal will talk on the philosophy of unity.

of North Yakima, president; Dr. J. R. Brown of Tacoma and Dr. P. D. McCornish of Spokane, vice-presidents; Dr. E. T. Tompson of Seattle, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting place is Everett.

Dr. J. W. Gus of Caldwell was named president of the Idaho association; Dr. F. W. Mitchell of Blackfoot, vice-president; Dr. E. E. Mazy of Boise, secretary-treasurer; Dr. John Allen of Lapwai, delegate to the Northwest Medical Association. Idaho will meet next year at Twin Falls in June.

Yesterday 25 more delegates registered and secured their tickets for the banquet which was given in the evening at the Portland Hotel by the city and state societies. At 9 o'clock following a lecture by Dr. M. M. Patton, a business meeting, the delegates separated into surgical and medical divisions.

In the afternoon in the surgical section, which was more largely attended both days, Dr. S. D. Calonge, a young physician of Nampa, Idaho, illustrated the most modern method for treating fractures of the hip. A few years ago anyone with a broken hip was considered as incurable, but now by the Maxwell-Ruth treatment of fractures, injuries of the kind can be painlessly cured. A lead, bandaged and fastened to a cot, provided a live subject for demonstration and about him women and men gathered and listened to arguments for and against the new departure. In this section Dr. M. M. Patton, of Spokane, illustrated his lecture on "Hemangioma Simplex" with stereoptical slides.

As in the morning, tuberculosis was the principal topic in the medical division. Dr. Ray W. Matson, of Portland, gave a review of 15 Cases of Pulmonary Tuberculosis, and Dr. E. A. Pierce lectured on "An Experimental Study of New Remedial Agent and of Its Effect on Pulmonary Tuberculosis." There was a general note of optimism throughout the discussion.

More than $10,000 worth of the most modern instruments known to medicine and surgery had been gathered in the exhibit room and here experiments were under way. One of the X-ray machines was valued at $1000, while another cost $650 and there were dozens of equally delicate and costly instruments on display.

In the surgical division in the morning there were four papers read and discussed. Dr. Everett O. Jones, of Seattle, read a paper on "The Operative Treatment of Exophthalmic Goitre;" Dr. H. J. Whiteacre, of Tacoma, on "Spontaneous Rupture and Gangrene of the Gall Bladder as an Emergency Condition;" Dr. A. Rich, of Portland, on "Common Acute Joint Disorders," and A. C. Crookall, of Seattle, on "The Anatomy of the Anal Canal and Its Bearing on Etiology and the Treatment of Some Common Rectal Diseases."

In the morning medical section Dr. Charles C. Browning, of Los Angeles, discussed "Some Suggestions on the Modern Treatment of Tuberculosis From the Standpoint of the General Practitioner;" Dr. Walter Goffman, of Seattle, "Pediatrics;" Dr. John Alley, of Lapwai, Idaho, "Responsibility of the Medical Profession in the Campaign Against Tuberculosis Among the American Indians;" and Dr. J. B. Lloyd, of Seattle, on "Bubonic Plague."

Beginning at 2 o'clock the surgeons read papers on the following subjects: "Interesting Cases of Bone and Joint Surgery," by Dr. C. M. Jones, of Victoria, B. C.; "A Report of Nine Cases of Scoliosis Cured by the Abbott Method," illustrated by X-ray and photographs, by Dr. Charles F. Elkensberry, of Spokane; "Demonstration of Maxwell-Ruth Treatment of Fractures of the Neck and Femur," by Dr. S. D. Calonge, of Nampa, Idaho; "Some Points of Interest Regarding the Long Bone Fractures," by Dr. A. A. Matthews, of Spokane; "Absence of the Vagina and Its Reconstruction," by Dr. E. F. Tucker, of Portland.

Besides the talks on tuberculosis, Dr. C. J. Smith and Dr. Paul R. Rockey were elected Portland members of the council and Dr. K. A. Mackenzie of Portland, trustee. Dr. Manly and Dr. MacCallister both served in the past. Medford was selected for the next meeting of the state society which occurs in July.

Washington elected Dr. C. J. Lynch
