Mrs. Vincent Cook, who was hostess at a large reception yesterday.

Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Jacobs, and Miss Edith Olds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Olds, who entertained at a dance given on Friday evening at the Waverly Golf Club.

SO EAGER is society to grasp the opportunities offered by the alluring attractions to be found out of doors that indoor functions have been tabooed since the coming of the warm weather and clear, brilliant skies, in favor of shady lawns and beaches. Much of the entertaining of the last week has centered around the visitors within our gates, but the younger contingent has not been overlooked, with their ever-popular dance and athletic diversions.

The annual exodus to the beaches and mountains is steadily increasing, and the month of August will find Portland more or less socially deserted.

The important affairs of the week to the debutantes and sub-debutantes were the dances given by Mrs. C. H. Lewis at her residence in honor of her granddaughter, Miss Ellen Lowe Mills, the one at which Miss Elizabeth Jacobs and Miss Edith Olds were hostesses on Friday evening at the Waverly Golf Club, and the dinner dance complementing Miss Ruth Zelle, at which Miss Claire Wilcox presided, last evening.

The most elaborate tea of the week was given by Mrs. Solomon Hirsch and the Misses Hirsch in honor of several prominent club women and educators who have been attending the convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs in San Francisco. Mrs. Vincent Cook also entertained for these distinguished visitors at a large reception yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, who has returned to her home in St. Paul, has been the inspiration for several informal affairs during the week.

Mrs. Robert W. Lewis and sons, accompanied by Miss Martha Hoyt, will leave tomorrow for Seattle, where they will pass the remainder of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will occupy the Breymann cottage.

Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, of Kentucky, Mrs. Frances S. Potter, of Chicago, and Miss Helen V. Boswell, of New York, distinguished club women, who have been attending the biennial convention of women's clubs in San Francisco are the guests of Mrs. Gordon Voorhies. Miss Mary Wood, of Chicago, also prominent club woman and ardent suffragist, are visiting Miss Mary Ison. Several smart affairs have been given in their honor.

Mrs. Thomas Kerr entertained informally at luncheon on Wednesday at her home in River. Bridge and tennis were the diversions of the afternoon. The guests were Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Mrs. Winslow B. Ayer, Mrs. Carter Platten Pomeroy, of San Francisco, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooks; Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mrs. Cicero Hunt Lewis, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Sherman Hall, Mrs. David Taylor Honeyman, Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooks and Miss Sallie Lewis.

Mrs. David C. Lewis is the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. T. D. Honeyman, at her Gearhart cottage.

The dance given on Tuesday evening by Mrs. C. H. Lewis in compliment to her granddaughter, Miss Ellen Lowe Mills, was one of the notable events of the week in the younger set. Miss Mills is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mills and has recently returned from Rosemary School at Greenwich, Conn. The handsome Lewis residence on Nineteenth street was prettily decorated for the occasion. In the drawing-room, where the receiving party stood, great branches of Dorothy Perkins roses were used and masses of Shasta daisies and coreopsis formed the decorations in the library. The music-room was attractive with tall vases of pink stock, the broad verandas and beautiful gardens where the guests promenaded were brilliant with Japanese lanterns. Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. Cicero Hunt Lewis and Mrs. David Chambers Lewis assisted about the rooms. Receiving with Mrs. Lewis and Miss Mills were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mills and Miss Sallie Lewis. Miss Mills was charming in a stunning frock of white chiffon built over white satin and elaborated with silver lace.

The guests were: Miss Elizabeth Jones, Misses Esther and Alice Tucker, Miss Margaret Hewitt, Miss Margaret Mearns, Miss Helen Ladd, Miss Catherine Russell, Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, Miss Margaret MacKenzie, Miss Katherine Laidlaw, Miss Lora Cunningham, Miss Harriet Cumming, Miss Sally Hart, Miss Claire Wilcox, Miss Margaret Ayer, Misses Mildred and Grace Honeyman, Miss Mary Dunn, Miss Margaret Malarkey, Miss Mary Brownlie, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Isabelle MacKenzie, Miss Jean MacKenzie, Miss Jean Morrison, Miss Jean MacKenzie, Miss Louise and Virginia Burns, Miss Clementine Lambert, Miss Lealey Smith, Miss Millicent Westinger, Miss Margery Hoffman, Miss Margaret Voorhies, Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Evelyn Wilson, Miss Anita Burns, Miss Genevieve Halley, Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, Ronald Strong, Blake Robbins, Hamilton Corbett, Spencer Biddle, Richard Jones, David Loring, Lewis Mills, William Howe, John Burns, Berkeley Snow, Clifton McArthur, Lewis McArthur, Robert Livingston, Colin Livingston, Reed Rummel, Ronald MacKenzie, Lester Hodson, Kurt Koehler, Henry Ladd, S. M. Forbes, Philip Fry, Harold Wells, Andrew Kerr, Charles Holbrook, Rodrick Macleay, John Banks, Irving Webster, William Wheeler, Walker Kamm, Ferdinand Smith, Frederick Foster, Maxwell Mearns, Henry Cabell, Paul Westinger, Philip Hart, Gavin Dyott, Henry Good, Landon Mason, Henry Hewitt, H. McCormick, John Tucker, Joseph Minott, Alexander Morrison, Joseph Lambert, Mr. Cass, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Small, Mr. Elliott.

Several hundred guests thronged the handsome Hirsch residence on St. Clair street Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Solomon Hirsch and the Misses Hirsch were hostesses at an elaborate tea. Receiving with Mrs. Hirsch and her daughter, Miss Ella Hirsch, were Mrs. Frances Squire Potter, of Chicago; Miss Mary Wood and Miss Helen Vorhies Boswell, both of New York.

The drawing hall were beautifully decorated with graceful branches of Dorothy Perkins roses, while the music room was a veritable bower of American Beauty roses and a number of small silver vases filled with the same flowers were placed around it. Presiding in the dining-room were Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. Charles F. Beebe and Miss Henrietta Felling. Mrs. Lucius Allen Lewis and Mrs. J. D. Farrell served ices, and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd and Mrs. David Taylor Honeyman dispensed punch. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. I. N. Lipman, Mrs. Samuel Gailand of Spokane, Mrs. Henry V. Metzger, Miss Claire Wilcox, Miss Jean MacKenzie, Miss Katherine MacMaster, Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, Miss Mary Ison, Miss Malda Hart, Miss Miriam Jacobs, Miss Florence Kohn and Miss Elizabeth Caldwell.

A brilliant affair of the week was the large al fresco reception given by Mrs. Vincent Cook yesterday afternoon in honor of the distinguished visitors in Portland. Mrs. Frances Squire Potter, of Chicago, the famous lecturer, writer and authority on educational problems; Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, of Kentucky, an eminent lawyer and lecturer; Dr. Cornelia de Boy, of Chicago, the noted social worker, who succeeded in ending the recent strikes in the stockyards of Chicago and Kansas City; Miss Helen Vorhies Boswell, National authority on social and industrial conditions, and Miss Mary Wood, who was appointed by President Taft on the Titanic memorial commission. Receiving with Mrs. Cook and her honor guests were her daughter, Mrs. George B. Maxwell, of Seattle, and Mrs. Solomon Hirsch. Mrs. Cook was handsome in a Parisian gown of black and white satin over which was draped a panner tunic of white lace. A fetching garden hat of black lace laden with plumes completed the costume.

Mrs. George B. Maxwell was charming in a dainty creation of shell pink tulle, with filmy lace over-drapery. She wore a black and white garden hat. The spacious grounds and lovely gardens surrounding the Cook residence were thronged with Portland's smart set and nature's loveliness made a pleasing background for the many handsome gowns worn. A huge table was placed beneath a parasol tent, and was centered with an artistic arrangement of garden flowers and yellow coreopsis. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Lee Hoffman, Mrs. William A. MacRae, Mrs. Tyler Woodward, and Mrs. Leroy H. Parker. Assisting about the grounds were Mrs. Stanley Jewett, Miss Margery Hoffman, Miss Clementine Hirsch and Miss Haze Wilder. The punch were Mrs. A. Andre Foulhoux and Miss Frances Wilson. An innovation of the afternoon was interesting speeches on the individual work of the distinguished guests.

Complimenting Miss Ruth Zelle, of San Francisco, Miss Claire Wilcox entertained last evening at the Waverly Golf Club at an attractive dinner-dance. The table was centered with a huge bowl of pink sweet peas and the same flowers were used for decorations. The list included Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Mares (Helen Good), of New York; Miss Zelle, Miss Louise Burns, Miss Jean Morrison, Miss Barbara MacKenzie, Miss Lealey Smith, Miss Katherine MacMaster, Miss Evelyn Wilson, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Margery Hoffman, Roderick Macleay, Hamilton Corbett, Harry Burnett, Richard Jones, Kurt Koehler, Lester Hodson, Philip Fry, Maurice Dooley, Berkeley Snow, Landon Mason, Prescott Cook-ingham and William Wheeler.

Miss Zelle, who spent the last few days with Miss Wilcox, left this morning for her home.

Miss Elizabeth Jacobs and Miss Edith Olds, portraits of whom appear on today's page, were hostesses at one of the most enjoyable dances of the week, on Friday evening at the Waverly Golf Club. The ball room was effectively decorated with greens and palms. Miss Jacobs was charming in a frock of filmy lace built over pink chiffon and satin. Miss Olds was attractively gowned in pink chiffon draped over pink silk, elaborated with real lace, and caught with tiny French roses.

The list included Miss Lorraine Bean, Miss Helen Wortman, Miss Margaret Moore, Miss Margaret Ayer, Miss Katherine Russell, Miss Katherine Laidlaw, Miss Ailsa MacMaster, Miss Mary Warrock, Misses Esther and Alice Tucker, Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, Miss Clara Hirschberger, Miss Isabelle Macleay, Miss Marjory McGuire, Miss Jean Martin, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Elizabeth Birrell, Miss Winifred Birrell, Miss Antoinette Mearns, Miss Beatrice Locke, Miss Belberia Stuart, Miss Marie Michener, Miss Frances Titus, Miss Margaret MacKenzie, Miss Margaret Haskins, Miss Katherine Whitmer, Miss Katherine Hoyt, Miss Rhoda Rummell, Miss Nancy Zann, Miss Helen Dunne, Miss Helen Ladd, Miss Virginia Burns, Miss Elizabeth Eoyd, Miss Louise Letter, Miss Beatrice McIndoe, Miss Stella Wolke, Miss Ione Stewart, Miss Frances Baites, Miss Dorothy Sanford, Miss Mildred Moulton, Miss Josephine Richardson, Miss Julie Whitmer, Miss Virginia McDonough, Miss Grace MacKenzie, Miss Genevieve Halley, Miss Martha Hoyt, Miss Katharine MacKenzie, Miss Mary Barker, Miss Cully Cook, Miss Margery Hoffman, Miss Ellen Lowe Mills, Miss Margaret Voorhies, Miss Margaret Malarkey, Miss Mary Brownlie, Miss Ruth Bailey, Miss Ruth Hall, Roscoe Ashley, Willis Ashley, Lanning Laidlaw, Herbert Hull, Everett Wortman, William McIndoe, Harland Tucker, John Tucker, Howard Stokes, Alexander Morrison, Henry Ladd, Robert Fithian, Walter Korell, Willard Hawley, Maurice Jones, Hunt Malarkey, George Batckelder, Joseph Minott, Lester Wilson, Maxwell Mearns, Lester Hodson, Cahot Therkelsen, Donald MacLaren, Archibald Kingsley, Howell Jones, John Barrett, Jay Coffey, Hubert Deane, Guire, Robert Dean, Harry Wright, Dorsey Howard, Howard Cardnell, Roland Geary, George Coulton, Aalon Whitmer, Cecil Cobb, William Burgard, Allen Russell, Alexander Linthicum, Norman Mattheck, David Loring, Robert Livingston, Melvin Fell, Bud Kribs, Carl Feidenheimer, Neil Malarkey, Stanley Bann, Carl Reesor, Harold Sanford, Philip Jackson, Wayne Coe, Eric Coe, Don Tarpley, Howard Long and Walter Long.

Mrs. Frederick A. Jacobs was hostess at an informal tea on Wednesday in honor of her house guest and cousin, Mrs. Bolena Cochran, of Kansas City. About 20 guests called during the afternoon. Mrs. Bolena Jacobs received with the hostess and her guest. Presiding in the dining-room, which was decorated with pink roses and sweet peas, were Mrs. Oscar R. Menefee, Mrs. Wallace McCann, Mrs. C. E. Green, Mrs. Helen Eastham and Mrs. Dorsey Smith served punch. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Chester Griffin, Mrs. C. McKenna and Miss Genevieve Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gilchrist Owen and Miss Hazel Owen left Saturday morning for a ten days motor trip to Crescent City, Cal. The party will motor down and will also return by motor.

Mrs. Maxwell Blake left for Gearhart Thursday morning, where she will pass the week-end.

Mrs. C. Edward Greille has returned to Portland, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. James Henry, of San Jose, Cal., who will pass the rest of the summer here.

Mrs. Horace Hills Irvine, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Alexander Angus McDowell, left Portland Thursday for her home in St. Paul, Mrs. Irvine has been in Portland for many entertainments during her visit.
