BAYOCEAN ENTERTAINS FORTY

To Deep Sea, Craft Takes Party From Various Beach Resorts.

BAYOCEAN, Or., July 20.—(Special.)—The most attractive event of the week was the trip last Sunday morning to the deep sea by a large party of guests on the Bayocean. Nearly 40 took advantage of the faultless weather to see something of the broad Pacific under pleasant circumstances. Start was made from the Bayocean dock at 9:30 o'clock and stops were made during the trip up the bay at Bay City and Garibaldi, where additional guests joined the excursion.

The trip over the Tillamook bar was unusually smooth and some amusement was caused by the announcement that the instigator of the trip, a gentleman well acquainted with ways of the sea, had gone below to lie down. When questioned he denied any suggestions of seasickness, but he was not seen on deck until the yacht returned to harbor.

The boat "lay to" off Seal Rocks, about ten miles south of Bayocean and a mile or more off the coast, while numerous fishing lines were thrown. Conditions were bad, however, and the catch was small. A run of 20 miles or more up the coast was then made and the boat reached the dock at Bayocean again at a little after 1 o'clock.

Saturday evening was the occasion of a brilliant social affair, in which many of the prominent society people of Tillamook took part. Most of the guests came over on the little yacht Henrietta 2d and returned to Tillamook the same night. A number arrived especially for the occasion from Garibaldi and Bay City. Some of these stayed over for the deep-sea excursion the next morning and to pass the week-end.

Music was furnished by an augmented orchestra under the direction of Professor Arthur von Jessen. Dancing was the order of the evening in the pavilion.

"Hiking" parties appear to be coming more and more popular as the season advances. Several parties of young women have passed through Bayocean during the past week, having walked down the beach from Seaside, around Neah-kah-nie Mountain, crossed the bay to this place and gone down the coast toward Netarts.

George Hyland arrived Saturday night and passed Sunday stretching his legs in "hiking" about some of the trails in the vicinity. He made the trip to the lighthouse, a distance of four miles, before breakfast.

L. V. Eberhardt, of Portland, who is arranging a branch of his abstract business in Tillamook, visited Bayocean during the week. Eberhardt is an expert shot and intends to organize a shooting club to hunt seallons and seals during the Summer. These animals destroy so many fish, he says, that some means should be taken to keep down the increase as far as possible.

E. W. Logan, of Portland, arrived here Sunday morning, having walked from Nehalem to Tillamook and crossed the bay on the Henrietta 2d. Logan is a great booster for the Tillamook beaches and is coming back later to pass his vacation here.

Among Sunday visitors to Bayocean were E. F. Ginn, associate editor of the Tillamook Headlight, with a party of women. They formed only one of the numerous picnic parties which are becoming so popular here this Summer.

Mrs. Elwood Wiles, her son and Miss Blanch Wiles, her sister, arrived during the week to pass the Summer at the hotel. They have entered enthusiastically into the social life of the place and have become popular among the regular residents.

Mr. and Mrs. William Putnam, of Minneapolis, are here for a few weeks' outing. They contrast the beauties of the inland city with that by the "sounding sea," and have arranged a number of trips up and down the coast to the various attractions near Bayocean. They occupy pleasant quarters in the tent city.

Recent visitors to the resort are J. W. Smith and wife, of Boise, Idaho, who have also secured quarters at the tent city and intend to make a long stay here. This is their first visit to the coast and they chose Bayocean because of its combination of sea and quiet bay.

A. H. Hill, of oLs Angeles, who is arranging to erect a new cereal factory at Tillamook, was a week-end visitor and a leader in the deep sea trip Sunday. He left early Monday morning for a trip to Portland and the East, after which he expects to return with his family for a long stay.

Especially attractive was the bonfire party Sunday night, given by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Van Dersal, at which there were present the following: Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Donnell, Master Robert O'Donnell, Miss Juell Reynolds, Master Dick Van Dersal, B. E. Hughson of Portland, H. L. King and Miss M. F. Collamore. Games and other entertainment kept the guests busy until a late hour, a marathon along the beach by some of the gentlemen, being the event of the evening.

R. Allen and Mrs. Allen, of Portland, passed the week-end here and were among the guests on the deep sea trip to Bayocean Sunday morning.

The customary trip to the caves under Cape Meares last Sunday morning, was attended by a large party which left early in the morning and enjoyed the three-mile walk along the beach in the bracing morning air. The party was headed by O. H. Henry, a prominent business man of Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Robinson, of Spokane; H. L. Chapin, of Portland; Stanley Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. R. Allen.

A novel entertainment has recently been devised here in a bonfire party. A succession of huge fires is started on the beach leading from the ocean to the bluff and so arranged that the rising tide sweeps them away in turn, the guests wearing bathing suits and moving from fire to fire as the tide rises. This feature is proving popular among the young people here, the new moon adding pleasantly to the romance of the affairs.

L. N. Penfield, of Portland, holds first place among the "hikers" apparently, for he arrived at Bayocean on his second visit from the south within a week. He says he made the circuit of the beach from Seaside to Netarts, except for the crossing at the bays of Tillamook and Nehalem and has negotiated the trail around the Neah-kah-nie Mountain, twice.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Ramsdell, of Portland, were guests here over the week-end and have taken part in the gayety of the resort with enthusiasm.

H. L. Chapin, of Portland, has now arranged to have his cottage, just south of the hotel, put into condition for the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Graves and Mrs. J. C. Hare, of Portland, were among the prominent visitors here during the past week. Mr. Graves is a member of the Graves Music Company. His party arrived Saturday afternoon on the Bayocean and remained over until Monday.

Among the week-end visitors were the following: O. H. Henry, of Spokane; R. Allan and wife, Elwood Wiles, wife and son; Miss Blanch Wiles, H. F. Estes and wife, Mrs. C. Spanner, Horace D. Ramsdell and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Graves, Mrs. J. C. Hare, H. L. Chapin, H. Woodhouse and L. T. Earles, all of Portland; B. W. Smith, of Stockton, Cal.; E. V. Severance and wife, Tillamook; J. W. Smith and wife, of Boise, Idaho; C. W. Logan, of Portland; L. M. Ware, San Francisco; B. E. Hughson, of Portland; A. H. Hill, of Los Angeles; J. L. Demmer, A. S. Wells, E. C. Gaddis, all of Medford; George E. Huntley, of Aberdeen, Wash.; William Putnam and wife, of Minneapolis; L. N. Penfield, of Portland.

Other guests who have registered at the hotel during the past week are as follows: Ralph Gaselton, Drain, Or.; C. B. Ivers, of Portland; Sidney Josephs, of Elmira, N. Y.; Zelma Deans, Prosser, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cady, Gladys M. Beals and B. L. Beals, Jr., of Portland; C. J. Kraber, Miss Mabel Davis, of Tillamook; George H. Stovall, Jr., and A. B. Helderman, of Portland; Mrs. E. R. Lake, of Washington, D. C.; B. W. John, Corvallis; F. L. Robinson and wife, of Spokane, and George A. Bewley, Portland.

A pretty social event of the week was the concert Thursday evening in the hotel parlors at which nearly 100 guests were present from the hotel and cottages of the resort. A select programme was given by the orchestra, a violin solo by Mr. Kleinf, a 'cello solo by Mr. Brown and musical selections by several of the guests. A number of piano selections by Miss Juell Reynolds formed a feature of the occasion. Recitations and readings by some of the visitors were also greatly enjoyed.

On Sunday night a special bonfire on the beach was given in honor of these who were to leave in the morning. A male quartet, selected from among the hotel guests, provided musical numbers. Various diversions occupied the visitors until a late hour, dancing on the sand to the music of bagpipes played after the true Scottish manner by Mr. McGreggor, being the most attractive feature.

NEWPORT CLAIMS HER OWN
