

ELKS RULER MILLS ESTEEMED

Citizens of Superior, Home City, Welcome Grand Exalted Official.

THOUSANDS GIVE GREETING

Streets in Gala Attire for Occasion and Parade to Theater, Where Programme Was Enjoyed, Is Elaborate One.

As evidence of the high esteem in which Thomas B. Mills, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, is held by the citizens of Superior, Wis., his home city, was the remarkable demonstration given in his honor last Saturday evening upon his return from Portland where he was elected to his present high office.

Mr. Mills was met at Duluth, Minn., on his return trip from Portland, by a large delegation of Superior business men, headed by the Mayor of the city and officers of the Commercial Club. When his train arrived at the depot in Superior 10,000 persons were there to greet him. An additional 10,000 crowded the streets along which a parade, formed for the occasion, passed to the Broadway Theater where a reception was tendered him and where prominent citizens bade him welcome.

The streets through which the parade passed were in gala attire for the occasion and large quantities of red fire were burned. Many of the automobiles were brilliantly decorated.

Plenty of Color Seen.

"There was plenty of color as well as lots of enthusiasm," says the Superior Telegram, which devotes nearly two pages of a recent issue to a well-written description of the reception and of the worth of "Tom" Mills, as he is known to everyone in Northern Wisconsin.

"There was also a noticeable undertone of real sentiment in the greatest demonstration that Superior ever gave to a favorite son or a distinguished visitor. Every activity of the little city was represented in the procession, including the police, the Wisconsin National Guard, city officials, committees of the Superior Commercial Club, the Elks of Superior, Duluth and other neighboring cities, large marching squads from various other fraternal organizations and hundreds of private citizens in automobiles and carriages."

At the theater a speaking program was conducted, in which Mr. Mills, with characteristic modesty, played the most humble part. His numerous achievements for the benefit of his city and state and for the uplift of humanity generally were reviewed by successive speakers, while the multitude that packed the building cheered repeatedly.

His success in securing the State Normal School and the School for Deaf Mutes for Superior, as well as his public-spirited deeds along numerous other lines, were told and retold. His enviable career as a member of the Wisconsin Legislature and his record as the youngest man that ever served as Speaker of the Assembly, were reviewed.

"Tom" Mills Known for Qualities.

Those who know him best know "Tom" Mills as one who loves his fellow men, and one of the speakers dwelt upon this one of his many virtues saying in part:

"I know the Tom Mills who was walking out Twenty-sixth street for his afternoon constitutional, met a little fellow hustling water half a mile to his widowed mother, on a little wagon made for the purpose. The whole crowd came off and the boy was in trouble. It was a cold day and Tom Mills was in perspiration from his exercise, but he stopped to take a drink of water and to put the wheel on the boy's wagon, fix it permanently, helped him to get water in his cask again and started him happy on his way."

"I know the Tom Mills who saw near the corner of Twenty-sixth and Ogden, a little weebit of a girl crying because she had lost her hair ribbon—he had been carrying it in her hand and had dropped it. Mr. Mills could not find the hair ribbon, so he walked hand in hand with the little one down town, and when he found it, he returned it and walked home with her."

"A number of little boys were out in front of my house day before yesterday talking about the celebration for Saturday evening. One little fellow about 9 years old was exhibiting quite a little pride because he knew Mr. Mills. Another little chap said, 'How do you know Mr. Mills?' 'I know him,' said the first little chap, 'why I know him because, because he is my friend!' This is the Tom Mills that I know, and I would rather have a little boy like that say that I was his friend than have 100 cannons firing salutes in my honor and 1000 voices raised in approbation."

At the conclusion of the exercises the man in whose honor they were given was called upon for a speech. His remarks were brief, as all his public utterances are. He said:

"To my Brothers of Superior Lodge for their zeal in the campaign, to my brothers of other lodges who by their votes gave to me the honor of being elected, and to you my friends and neighbors I bring my earnest thanks and promise that it shall be my purpose to justify them and you."

Although Mr. Mills has many ardent admirers throughout the provinces of the antlered order, he has none more loyal than the members of Portland lodge, and those Portland residents outside the lodge with whom he came in contact during the recent convention, all of whom join in spirit and tribute to the people of Superior in their tribute to the "best-loved man in Elksdom."

FINE TRIP ASSURED

Central Oregon Will Welcome League Delegates.

TWO ROUTES PICKED OUT

C. C. Chapman Promises Variety of Entertainment for All Who Are Able to Take Part in Development Congress.

C. C. Chapman, just returned from the trip with the Commercial Club "pathfinders" to Lakeview, says that all Central Oregon is preparing a royal welcome for the delegation which will go through that section en route for the Central Oregon Development League convention in August. Every community through which the party will pass is planning elaborate entertainment for the visitors and will do everything in its power to make the journey a pleasant and a memorable one.

"Two routes were outlined for the auto that will carry the party to Lakeview," he says. "The first runs from Bend to Lakeview, where a venison and trout luncheon will be served, then through the Forest Road and Homestead country. Hundreds of settlers have located here within the past two years and more are coming in."

"For those who have the time, a detour will be made into the Christmas Lake Valley which holds nearly as much level land as the Willamette Valley. This, too, is a big homestead country and is partly in the hands of the government. In these new districts, dairying and hog raising are on the increase. On our trip we saw numerous dairy cattle, in fact, the milkers were more plentiful than beef cattle."

Floral Offerings Planned.

"Silver Lake is the next point reached, and every man, woman and child will greet the Portland visitors in person and give them flowers. In honor of the expedition, the town will be decorated. Summer Lake Valley will be seen and then the route runs through the Chewaucan Valley, thence to Lakeview, where the Central Oregon Development League convention will be held August 29-31."

The second official trip marked out is through a different country. The party which follows this route will start from Redmond, through Prineville and across Buck Mountain to Burns and the Blitzen Valley, reaching the Hanley ranches and viewing the beautiful Catlow Valley. For a distance of 60 miles the autoists will travel across this valley and will see only two houses. Some day this section will hold a great population. The excursionists will leave Redmond and drop down 2075 feet into the Warner Lake Valley at Adel and will be whisked away to Lakeview across Pedler's Ridge.

Lakeview Homes Will Open.

"Lakeview is going to do itself proud in entertaining the convention visitors and everyone will be splendidly taken care of. The homes of the people will be thrown open to the Portland business men. After the convention sessions, which will be full of interest, are over, the party will start on the return trip via Klamath Falls, stopping at the White Pelican Hotel, one of the best in Oregon, and then will go on to Pelican Bay Lodge, the Summer home of the late E. H. Hartman. Two nights will be spent there and a trip to Crater Lake will be made in the intervening day. The party will then return to Bend via Fort Klamath."

"The roads are good throughout this whole country. Our party found very few bad places, most of which will be fixed between now and next month. The excursion will leave Portland August 15, 16 and 17, depending on the route to be followed to Lakeview, and will return to Portland August 27. The inquiry from Portland people in regard to this trip is large, and I expect our excursion next month will be a big one."

DAIRYMEN WIN PROTEST

Council Committee Raises Limit on Milk Temperature to 60 Degrees.

At a meeting yesterday of representative dairymen of the city a vote was taken endorsing the proposed new city ordinance providing strict rules and regulations for the production, handling and delivery of milk in the city. The meeting was attended by F. T. Wilcox, C. Gertsch, W. C. Spence, J. Taun, J. C. Abey and G. F. Warden. The proposed ordinance was considered in detail.

Judging from the tone of the meeting the dairymen are greatly in favor of legislation which will require the classification of milk and the most careful and sanitary of regulations regarding its production. The only part of the ordinance which the dairymen objected to was the requirement that the temperature be lowered to 55 degrees before delivery. This, the dairymen declare, would necessitate their buying ice, as it is hard to find water at that temperature in the year which is cold enough to reduce the milk temperature to 55 degrees within a reasonable time.

In accordance with the wishes of the dairymen, City Milk Chemist Calloway agreed to compromise on this feature of the measure, making the temperature regulation 60 degrees instead of 55. Those present appointed a committee comprising G. F. Warden, W. C. Spence and F. T. Wilcox to appear before the City Health Board at a meeting next week to present the dairymen's views on the proposed ordinance. The members of the committee are in favor of its passage and will recommend its adoption by the board.

DOG MUZZLES CONSIDERED

City Council Expected to Act at Once Because of Many Attacks.

Owing to the apparent prevalence of rabies among dogs in the city, a special session of the City Council has been called for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to consider the passage of a proposed ordinance requiring the muzzling or leashing of all dogs allowed to run at large. The ordinance was introduced at the Council session last week and failed to pass because of opposition of several members who thought the proposed measure was oppressive to the owners of dogs.

Since the Council meeting a number of cases of rabies have been found. Other cases have been reported, and it is feared that unless the Council passes the muzzling ordinance tomorrow there will be some serious developments.

The proposed ordinance has an emergency clause attached which will make it effective as soon as it is signed by Mayor Rushlight.

Salem Hears Wasco Divorce Case.

SALEM, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Alleging that her husband, John Charles Tucker, whom she married in Wasco in 1900, had a former wife living from whom he had never been divorced, Mrs. Tucker today filed suit for divorce in Circuit court. She alleges that her husband told her that he had been divorced by Judge Mont, but she discovered, on investigation, that this was not true, and that later her husband said he and his former wife had entered into a written agreement to separate.

Public Library Notes.

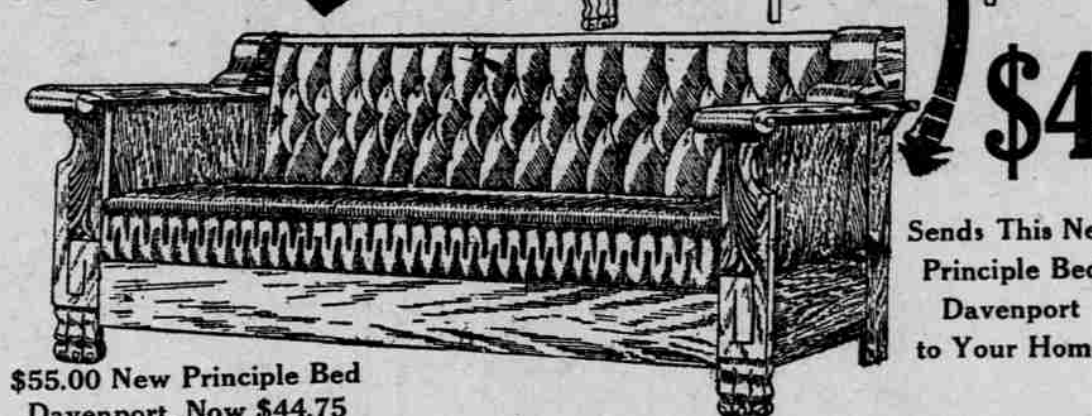

During the month of August the Sellwood branch library will be open evenings only, from 6 to 9:30, and the Brooklyn sub-branch will close at 9 o'clock instead of at 9:30. Motography, a bi-weekly magazine devoted to moving pictures, has been added to the files of the Public Library and may be obtained at any time in the periodical room at the Central building, Seventh and Stark streets.

Your Bedding Is Held Securely in Its Place

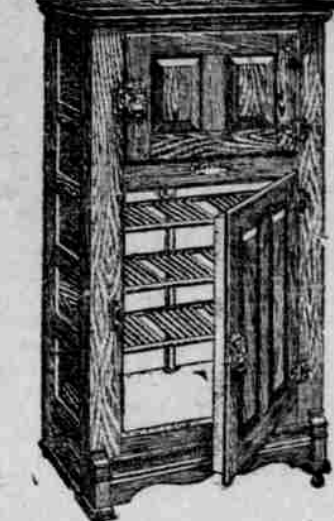

An exclusive feature and one which is appreciated by the busy housewife is the fact that this davenport sofa bed holds all the bedding securely and hygienically in place during the daytime, neatly folded between the bedsprings and ready for instant use, saving the time and labor of carrying the bedding to and from the bed each night and morning.

$55.00 New Principle Bed Davenport, Now $44.75

The new principle on which this davenport bed is made and which differs so totally from that of other davenports, is the Revolving Seat. Manufacturers have been reading for years that the principle of sleeping on the upholstered seat was not the best one and that the perfect davenport sofa bed would be one in which the seat would turn completely over and permit the user to sleep upon sanitary bedding. This principle has been perfected in our revolving seat davenport bed, and so far as we know has not been successfully carried out in any other design on the market today. $4 CASH, $1 WEEKLY sends this davenport to your home. Your choice of golden or weathered oak—WORTH $55.00 REGULARLY. Our sale price this week.

MOB RULE IS FEARED

will express their views in the same way when the question comes to a vote in November.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT REMEDY SAYS SHERIFF MINTO.

Marion County Officer Says Society Must Be Protected and Pleads for Vote Against Question.

SALEM, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Mob rule, with all its terrors, to succeed the customary peace and quiet of Oregon as the future of this state if the people decide to abolish capital punishment, is one of the predictions made by Sheriff Harry P. Minto, of Marion County, who for the greater portion of his life has acted as a peace officer.

As formerly chief of police of Salem, once guard at the state penitentiary and for two terms Sheriff of this county, he has gained a wide acquaintance with criminals and has at least a "seeing" acquaintance with the majority of convicts who have served terms in the state.

"The people look to see the law executed and carried out as was intended by its framers," declared Sheriff Minto. "As soon as the people come to understand that the law will not be executed, that such vile murderers as the Humphreys brothers and Jack Roberts will be let loose, the law becomes a mockery and a menace to society, at that time they will assert their right to be protected."

"I firmly believe that it is the duty of a peace officer to see that the laws are enforced to the best of his ability, to protect a criminal when he is charged with a crime until that criminal is guilty and the law takes its course. But the law should take its course and society should be guarded."

"When a man with cold-blooded deliberation, premeditation and wanton malice takes the life of another, the existence of that man should cease. He has not place in the scheme of things and I for one am unalterably opposed to the abolition of capital punishment. I think that a majority of the people of Oregon

COURT FIXES BOY'S HOME

Two-Year-Old Orphan Lad Wanted by Several, Awarded to Aunt.

Charles William Marshall, the pretty, flaxen-haired 2-year-old boy, whose mother is dead and whose father deserted him and who was the subject of a controversy in Juvenile Court a few months ago between Charles E. Kitching, of Portland, and Mrs. Jesse Miller, of Dayton, Or., was yesterday claimed by his mother's sister, Miss Emma Gustafson, of Boone, Ia. The little fellow's future home will be with relatives of Miss Gustafson in Iowa.

Mrs. Miller declared at the previous hearing that she had had the baby for more than a year once, and that his mother had promised her that she could have the boy permanently in case of the mother's death. Mr. Kitching, who was also a friend of Mrs. Marshall, proved, however, a deathbed request of the mother that the baby go to her sister, and Judge Gates decided in his favor. Little Charles William was his ward till yesterday, when the aunt, with his consent and that of Mrs. Miller, who surrendered, secured an order of court by which she secured permanent possession of the boy.

Felids Farmers Are Hosts.

STUDENT EDITORS PLAN

SCOPE OF "THE EMERALD" TO WIDEN THIS YEAR.

Alumni Take Interest in University and Ask for More Serious News and Less on Athletics.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—In a conference at the University of Oregon yesterday Carl Outhank, of Hood River, and Andrew Collier, of Eugene, laid plans for the publishing of the Oregon Emerald, the student newspaper, of which they are editor and manager respectively. When college opens in September they will increase the number of issues, each week, from two to three. The net earnings of the paper during the last school year under the management of Wendell Barbour was $300, and it is hoped by the new officers that they will be able to successfully finance a triweekly paper.

Carl Outhank was the editor and Andrew Collier the manager of the Oregon Emerald, the junior annual, this year. Their year book was the largest that has ever been put out by the students of the university. Although five or six hundred expensive cuts were used, the year book was the largest that has ever been put out by the students of the university. The net earnings of the paper during the last school year under the management of Wendell Barbour was $300, and it is hoped by the new officers that they will be able to successfully finance a triweekly paper.

FATHER O'HARA APPOINTED

Archbishop Makes Him Head of Schools in Diocese.

At the conclusion of the Catholic Teachers' Institute Friday afternoon Archbishop Christie announced that he had appointed Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara as superintendent of all the schools in the diocese. Father O'Hara has carried on this work unofficially for several years and his appointment is a recognition of the need for a coordinator of the work in the 40 schools of different orders under an authorized head.

A feature of the day's sessions was the playground demonstration at St. Mary's Academy by Miss Alice Ryan. Miss Ryan also spoke on "The Value of Play." Others who spoke at yesterday's sessions were Sister Loyola, Miss McCabe, Dr. Nicholson and Professor Smith.
