"The Village Blacksmith"—Famous Painting

The third of a series of exhibitions of famous paintings will be ready for public inspection on the fifth floor after 10 A. M., Monday, and continuing for two weeks' time. Herbert De Mareau, the artist, excelled most in forelight pictures—"The Toiler" and "The Village Blacksmith" are the two that rank pre-eminently as masterpieces. Wonderfully realistic is the large 7x8-foot canvas—see it tomorrow.
