

Drawing the Curtain

An army of mechanics, after a year of incessant toil, have left the building—a completed edifice. In their stead hurrying forces of people armed with the implements of commerce are rapidly shaping order out of chaos—Everything in modern store building is incorporated in this great structure. Everything for the comfort and convenience of the public and employes is provided for in this new store.

—Our entire organization augmented by over eight hundred additional co-workers, are assembling and installing the opening merchandise. A NEW STOCK—NEW FROM BASEMENT TO ROOF. In order that this stupendous undertaking be accomplished on time

Our Old Store Is Closed Business Pauses for a Week

—Our entire energy is directed to the task of properly presenting this new establishment to the public. The new Lipman, Wolfe & Company store transacts a world-wide business. Every country in the world is represented by the worthiest, the most superb creations of the minds of man.

Tuesday, September Third

is the date set for the opening. Within the next few days we shall make our formal announcement. We have much in store for you. There is much to be seen. But of this, more later.

—For the convenience of customers who have business with the firm, we shall establish an office in the old store at the Fourth-Street entrance. This office will be open from 8:30 A. M. to 6 P. M. daily. Accounts may be settled here.
