in getting Special Deputy Sheriffs when he wanted them.

"I will have Tom Word and W. H. Fitzgerald and any other candidate for Sheriff appointed as deputies," he said.

It appears that the crusade cannot be actively commenced tomorrow, as Governor West announced at the con-ference Friday, owing to uncertainty as to whether Mr. Evans will be able to assume the position in the office of the District Attorney urged upon him by the Governor, and to other elements of delay that have entered into the the Governor, and to other elements of delay that have entered into the matter. District Attorney Cameron main-tained a receptive attitude toward the installation of extra deputies in his office, saying that additional help would be welcomed, but that the in-dividuals appointed must be acceptable to him. He held that no private prose-cution can be commenced in his dis-trict without his consent, or as pro-vided by statute wherein the grand jury may ask for a special prosecutor. jury may ask for a special prosecutor. The same officers raided houses in the will put the question up to the courts, which, he believes, will be compelled to recognize his contention. "I am District Attorney till the end of the year, and I am going to say who my deputies shall be. Additional help is always welcome, but the men must be approved by myself."

Cameron Cries "Dead Letter."

The statute under which Governor West is acting, is questioned by Cameron, who says that it is a dead letter. It was passed in 1905, giving the Governor power to employ special agents for the capture and conviction of criminals in certain emergencies, one of bull, secretary of the Child Labor Com-mission, and William S. Biddle. This step of the District Attorney amounts to an attempt to cut the ground from under the feet of Gov-ernor West, who has sought under gen-eral terms of the constitution to super-sede the constituted authorities in Portland, on the ground that they have been derelict in their official duties. It is believed that in making this movement Cameron is attempting to Express Concerns.

It is believed that in making this movement Cameron is attempting to seize the vantage ground counted upon by Governor West, who probably ex-pected to have his special agents for-low along the lines indicated by the report of the Vice Commission. Cameron now demands that the in-
