

SOUTH SLOUGH MAY HIDE MORE CRIME

George Kline, Known, Too, as "Santa Ana," Reported Among Missing.

SUSPICIONS ARE VARIOUS

Latest Tragedy May Have Had Some Connection With Mysterious Cases of Jacob Evans and William Joyner.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)

That another murder has been committed at South Slough appears to be a possibility, if still another resident of that locality is missing today. It was reported this afternoon by residents of the district that George Kline, commonly known as "Santa Ana," was missing from his cabin and that he had not been seen for a week.

The officers will make a thorough investigation as they are in their belief that Joyner was murdered. The dragging of the bay for the body is being continued. Today this city was greatly excited over a report that Joyner's body had been found. The report proved to be groundless.

RAYMOND EQUALIZERS SIT

Many Complaints Made by Land and Timber Owners.

RAYMOND, Wash., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Since the County Board of Equalization met Wednesday it has been besieged by property owners asking reductions and changes.

First to appear before the Board Wednesday was a committee from South Bend, headed by Mr. H. H. Holman, asking for a blanket reduction in the assessed value of that city.

George Holman, of Portland, made three trips to the county to get reductions made on the Peninsula and Mr. Holman objected to the assessment being raised from something like $13,000 to a valuation of something like $40,000.

WARRENTON LINE MAY FAIL

Seaside Franchise Said to Hold Key to Railway Project.

WARRENTON, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—With only a week ahead before the time for acceptance of the street railway franchise granted by the City Council to George A. Robinson, will elapse, it has become apparent that Mr. Robinson has no other alternative but to let the franchise go by default.

RURAL CARRIERS TO MEET

Chamberlain May Speak at Convention at Dallas.

AURORA, Aug. 24.—(Special.)

Franz Kraxberger, president of the Oregon Rural Carriers' Association, has just returned from Dallas, where he has been making arrangements for the annual state convention of that organization, which occurs September 1 and

2. With Walter L. Toose, secretary of the Dallas Commercial Club, all details of the meeting were completed and the headquarters were fixed at the New Scott Hotel. The convention will meet in the Armory. A representative of the Postoffice Department will be present, and either Senator Chamberlain or Representative Hawley are expected to address the delegates if Congress adjourns in time for one of them to reach Oregon before the convention. Dr. Harry Lane has promised to be there to deliver an address on the subject of good roads. As many new members have been added during the last year the convention promises to be the largest in the history of the organization. In order to provide the best of transportation facilities the Dallas Commercial Club has promised to provide a special train to Salem to connect with the main line trains. If necessary, to allow delegates to reach home in time to begin work the day after the convention.

It is expected that there will be several important subjects up for discussion, especially the new civil service regulations and the standard mileage compensation law. There probably will be several other subjects of interest.

OREGON CITY YOUTH WINNER OF SEATTLE HARVARD CLUB SCHOLARSHIP.

William Goettling, of Oregon City, Oregon City, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—William Goettling, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Goettling, of Oregon City, who completed his course of study at the Queen Anne High School, Seattle, Wash., this year, and was president and valedictorian of the graduating class, has been awarded the scholarship of the Seattle Harvard Club, and will enter the freshman class at Harvard University in September, as the representative of the Seattle Harvard Club. Mr. Goettling completed a four years' course in three years, and made an unusual record in the high school course. He received the highest marks of any member of his class at school, excelling those who had taken in the full four years' course. In addition to his class work, Mr. Goettling has taken an active interest in social affairs and has been honored with many offices.

also a lively contest over the election of a delegate to the National convention, which meets this Fall at Chicago.

MURPHY WOMAN HURT

REPORTED INSANITY CASE SIMPLY ASSAULT.

Victim Files Complaint Against Husband, From Whom She is Separated, and His Employer.

GRANTS PASS, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)

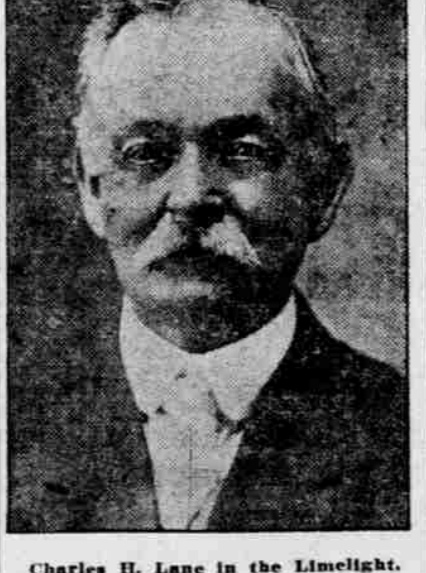

The report that an insane woman was in the neighborhood of Murphy, a small town seven miles south of here, proved to be Mrs. John Krussell. The Sheriff went out in an auto, returning later with Mrs. Krussell and her two little daughters.

It was found upon investigation that Mrs. Krussell had been struck with a board or other heavy weapon across the right side of the head.

She told the officers that on returning to her home Thursday from this city, she sat down to rest near the Krussell residence, where her husband is employed. The first she knew of immediate danger was a rustle in the bushes. This was followed by a terrific blow on the side of the head which rendered her unconscious.

Mrs. Krussell filed a complaint against Mrs. Krussell and Mr. Krussell, charging assault. Krussell, the husband, in the fore part of the month was sent to jail for days for having beaten his wife. Mr. Krussell and Mrs. Krussell are not living together.

SCHOOL FAIR IS BIG

Linn County Students Show Abundant Handiwork.

The Linn County School Fair at Albany, which opened yesterday, has been a pronounced success. Thursday a force was kept busy all day entering and arranging the many products of the farm, garden, orchard and hand.

A series of tables had been provided for the displaying of the stuff brought in, but it was evident Thursday evening that more room was necessary, and extra tables had to be found to provide space. The fair was to open Friday, but while the doors were open and crowds thronged about, the authorities were far from ready, and all day new products came in which had to be entered and placed. Most of the material on exhibition came from the southern and western parts of the county, as another and similar exhibit of the work of the school children is to be held at Scio in connection with the Linn County Fair the latter part of this week, so material from that section of the county was not brought to Albany. The Albany exhibit will be sent to Scio early next week, where it will be on exhibition and judged by the County Fair judges. The prizewinners will take their products to Salem to compete with the products of the whole state.

Vegetables Inlaid Wonder. In the department of vegetables there are huge beets, cabbages and potatoes. There is a large display of field corn. Some of the exhibits in this department are 10 to 12 feet in height and have from one to three ears of grain on the stalks. Sunflowers 15 feet high and with immense flowers 18 to 24 inches in diameter astonished the visitors. Several have entries for the prize in general grain selections. The question in this department is the possible number of pumpkin pies that could be made from only one on the display table. As if to make the problem a real one, the exhibit of chickens is so placed that the number of eggs necessary to be produced to make those pumpkins into delicious, tempting pies, is brought up.

There is loaf after loaf of bread, and cake after cake in that department. Some of the bread and cake has been baked by boys and some by tots not over 6 years old, and yet one might think he had visited a regular bakery where professionals are at work.

In the department of canned and preserved goods there is row after row of jelly, preserves and canned fruit, all done by boys and girls of school age. The sewing department is full of neat and well-made dresses and aprons, for which prizes are offered, but there is also a fine display of other work in sewing for which there is no prize. The wanted to show what they could do, so they brought in their sofa pillows and fancy work just to exhibit it.

Poultry in Abundance. The last department, but not the least, is poultry. The display of well-bred chickens and ducks is large. There are Cochins, Partridge Wyandots, Leghorns, Orpingtons, Plymouth Rocks, Bantams, several varieties of ducks, and a display of pigeons.

The fair has been a surprise to those who have visited it and it is the first of the kind ever held in Albany. Albany is preparing for a larger and more complete fair for the next year and under way.

There is a tower in the Canal Zone from which two oceans may be seen.

BIG SALMON RUN COMES

SEASON ENDS AT ASTORIA WITH RECORD CATCH.

One Man Reported to Have Caught 1800 Pounds of Fish at Single Drift—Shortage Helped.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—The Spring fishing season closed at 6 o'clock this evening with the largest run of salmon during the year in the river. During the past two or three days the alkali water brought down as the result of the recent cloudburst in Eastern Washington has gradually run out and as a result the big school of salmon which has been playing out side the heads started to come in Friday.

Last night and today some large catches were made with every class of gear. The gillnetters operating in the north channel and in the lower harbor did exceptionally well. Several secured over a ton to the boat and one man is reported to have caught 1800 pounds of fish at a single drift. The seines and traps also had good success. The deliveries at the packing plants were by far the heaviest of any during the season and the majority of them will not be able to clean up the salmon on hand before tomorrow night. This run will add somewhat in increasing the pack, but had it come a few days earlier, the effect would have been of vast benefit, not only to the industry, but to the community as well.

The closed season will continue until September 1 and it is possible that some of this run may be able to reach the natural spawning grounds before that time.

Grants Pass Hop Crop Good. GRANTS PASS, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—The hop crop of the county will be good. In fact, the weather is ideal. The large yards are already advertising for hundreds of pickers. The picking will begin about September 1 and will last from ten days to two weeks, much depending upon the help that may be had.
