

PROGRESSIVES FAIL TO BE IN HARMONY

Marion County Committee Cannot Agree on Question of Naming Third Ticket.

FRIENDS MIGHT BE HURT

Personal Disapproval of Roosevelt Expressed by Some Speakers Who Say, However, That They Believe in New Party.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Some friction as to the apparently momentous question of whether a county and state ticket should be placed in the field marked meeting of some of the leaders of the Roosevelt Progressive party here today.

When the question of a county ticket came up opposition immediately developed. William M. Cherrington and Charles H. Jones both expressed opposition to plan to place a county ticket in the field. Fear that nomination of a county ticket would engender enmities which would be damaging to the prospects of the National ticket were expressed, and it was asserted that many of the present candidates are Roosevelt Progressives, who were nominated through the assistance of the men attending the meeting today.

In consequence of this apparent split in personal opinions it was decided to put the decision up to a mass meeting that is being arranged for. The chairman was instructed to select a committee of five to work toward bringing Roosevelt to Salem when he visits Portland.

CLARK COUNTY TICKET OFF

Progressives Will Not Contest With Friends for Places.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—No ticket will be put in the field by the Clark County Roosevelt Progressive party this year. This action was decided at a convention held in the County Courthouse this afternoon, having been called on 24 hours' notice. Two spoke in favor of placing a county ticket, and a dozen against it, and when the final vote was taken, but the vote was cast for a county ticket.

Ten Attend at Corvallis.

CORVALLIS, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—A mass meeting of ten voters to organize the Roosevelt Progressive party in Benton County was held here this afternoon. Rev. B. F. Toitton was elected chairman of the county central committee, with power to appoint committee members from each precinct.

the battle's progress. Shrapnel shrieking through the air, bursting over the heads of the Oregon troops, great 14-inch shells from the high-power navy rifles tearing huge masses of stone from the concrete embankments, shells bursting everywhere, the wild shrieks of the wounded, the low moans of the dying as a dread accompaniment—such is war.

Then the mortar company, their own guns being out of commission, will take up the engagement as field artillery, a branch in which they have secured special training. Machine guns will be brought into play, tearing their bloody way through the attacking marines at the rate of 1000 shots a minute. The flank attack is checked.

Two of the attacking fleets are in a disabled sinking condition, another has torn her bottom out on the jetty rocks, still they steam on. Closer and closer they get. The eight and six rifles are brought into play and commence to crash their deadly explosive missiles through the fighting tops of the on-coming fleet.

A long sharp prowed battleship cruiser loads, smoke pouring in great black clouds from her four funnels, a line of fire showing the deadly steadiness of the operation of her 12-inch rifles as she pours broadside after broadside into the Stevens fortifications.

Suddenly she is observed to lurch, there is a veritable mountain of water upheaved alongside of her prow, a dull reverberating boom is heard. The submarine mines are starting to play their hand in this deadly game. She escapes, observers in the mine companies see that she is about to pass directly over another mine. The copper plug is held poised in the hands of the operator.

He hears the command "Fire"—shows a terrific crash as the cruiser's magazines in turn explode from concussion. Great masses of splintered wreckage ascend into the air, a hundred-foot column of water, blackened strips of twisted armor plate slowly sink, the white upturned bodies of men and fish float about. Then a huge, bubbling death, and destruction in broadsides from 14-inch rifles sinks her nose into the tangled wreckage. The channel is blocked, the remainder of the attacking fleet flee for the offing. The battle is over.

RAILROAD STAND UPHELD

Company Not Required to Maintain Warehouse for Apple Sorting.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—In an official opinion rendered to the Public Service Commission today Stephen V. Carey, Assistant Attorney-General, held that the Commission cannot compel a railroad to build a warehouse on its right of way in which sorting and assembling of fruit can be done prior to its delivery to the railway company for transportation.

Although the Commission is empowered to compel the railroad as a common carrier to maintain ample facilities for the public, this, it is held, is not included in the list of facilities which the company is required to supply.

The question arose in relation to the shipment of fruit from Malaga, near Wenatche. The fruitgrowers wished the company to construct a warehouse for preliminary drying of apples and the company refused to comply with their request.

OFFICES WANTED BY REPUBLICANS

Filings Show 49 Taft Followers Have Accepted, Only 31 Democrats So Far.

PROHIBITIONISTS IN EARLY

Time for Acceptance Does Not Expire Until October 5—William Hanley for Presidential Elector Is Laggard.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—Candidates for Republican state offices are apparently more eager to accept the nominations which have been tendered them than are Democrats, who are so far out at 34 Republican nominations which have been filed with the Secretary of State, 49 of the nominees have accepted, while out of the 53 Democratic nominations filed only 31 have accepted.

The law allows acceptances to be filed as late as October 5, so there is still plenty of time in the main for the Republican candidates have rushed their acceptances.

On the Prohibition ticket all the candidates for the time being are in the main with the exception of two Presidential electors and a candidate for Representative in Congress from the Third District, which is composed of Multnomah County. One Independent Progressive has been nominated so far, but has as yet filed no acceptance.

Hanley Among Late Ones.

William Hanley, of Burns, nominated as a candidate for Presidential elector on the Republican ticket, has so far failed to file his acceptance. George M. Brown, candidate for Prosecuting Attorney from the Third District, Attorney District; Gale S. Gill, candidate for District Attorney from the Third Judicial District; E. B. Tongue, candidate for District Attorney from the Fifth Judicial District; Frederick Steiner, candidate for District Attorney from the Sixth Judicial District all have failed to file. Loring V. Stewart, candidate for State Senator from the Twenty-Second Senatorial District has also failed to file his acceptance.

Hugh McLain, of Marshfield, Democratic candidate for elector has sent in no acceptance. Other Democrats who have failed to file acceptances are as follows:

Democrats in No Hurry.

Representative in Congress, First District—R. G. Smith, Grants Pass. Justice of the Supreme Court—R. J. Slater, Pendleton. Oregon Dairy and Food Commissioner—A. H. Lea, Portland. Railroad Commissioner, Second District—Lawrence Anderson, Portland. Judge of Circuit Court, Fourth Judicial District, Department No. 2—John Van Zante, Portland; Sixth Judicial District, C. H. Carter, Bendleton. Prosecuting Attorney—John F. Long, Third District; J. R. Raley, Sixth District; E. C. Smith, Seventh District. State Senator—Hugh McLain, Eighth District; J. W. Culbertson, Sixteenth District; W. F. Jackson, Eighteenth District; W. T. Bots, Twenty-Fourth District. Representatives in the Legislature—W. W. Meredith, Sixth District; C. C. Thompson, Fourteenth District; W. H. Chatten, Seventeenth District; W. L. Waite, Twenty-Second District; C. S. Bradley, Twenty-Fourth District; W. F. Jackson, Twenty-Eighth District; J. D. Driver, Twenty-Ninth District; A. J. Darby, Twenty-Ninth District.

Some of those who have not accepted any nomination are nominated for the offices of State Senator, Representative and State Senator as well. W. F. Jackson received the Democratic nomination for State Senator and Representative in the State Legislature.

So far the candidates for Presidential electors for the Roosevelt Progressive party have not filed acceptances. Neither have candidates for state offices on the Socialist ticket.

RAYMOND GETS ELK LODGE

Investigation Satisfies Officers That Population Is 5000.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—When the Grand Lodge of Elks met in Portland last month Elks of Willapa Harbor strongly petitioned the parent organization for a charter for the City of Raymond. It is well known that the grand lodge does not grant a charter to any city having less than 5000 population. Raymond Elks believe their city has 5000 population. The grand lodge sent Mr. Ingersoll, a representative of the grand lodge, to look into the question of giving Raymond a charter. Tuesday night the Elks of this harbor were notified by the grand lodge ruler that he had reported favorably.

Eugene Motorists Have Escape.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—A party returning Thursday from the lower Siuslaw had a narrow escape when a large section of the road at Cape Horn, on the Lake Creek road, slipped into the river. Only the prompt action of the driver, George Field, in applying more power prevented the automobile going down 75 feet into the river. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Holt and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cargel.

SOME OF THE PURCHASERS OF COLUMBIA DELTA GARDENS ON A TOUR OF INSPECTION OF THE VARIOUS CROPS JUST BEFORE ORGANIZING THE COLUMBIA DELTA GARDENERS' ASSOCIATION, JULY 30, 1912.

The above picture, showing potatoes and oats, is one of the many beautiful farms at Columbia Delta Gardens. Rich, deep, peaty soil and subirrigation make these wonderful crops possible.

The COLUMBIA DELTA GARDENERS' ASSOCIATION was organized for the mutual benefit of the members in growing their crops and in marketing their product at the highest price. Potatoes are yielding 275 sacks to the acre this year. Other crops are yielding beyond our expectation.

Ideal for onions, celery, asparagus, lettuce, berries, etc.

62 miles from Portland, boat and S. P. & S. Ry. transportation. Easy terms. Divided into tracts to suit. Call or write for particulars.
