of throwing cushions onto the playing field.

"What do you mean, sir?" asked Judge Sullivan.

"Well, he acted like a craxy man. It was a regular snowstorm of cushions, Everybody joined in."
"Can you explain your conduct" asked the judge.

"Til try." replied Smith faintly. He was a spare little man with a bungaliew brow and luminous eyes, and, having spent the night in jail, his hand was as tremulous as Walt McCredie on the coaching line.

"You see it was this way," squeaked Smith, by way of a beginning as he moistened his parched lips. "Eight innings had passed—eight innings of sad ordeals with crept tied in bow knots on the bats of the Seals. Far up, about 5000 feet, the Tigers were flapping against the sky with a four-run lead. I could hear their motors.

four-run lead. I could hear their motors.

"Then came the ninth," continued Smith sadly. "Vernon didn't have anything to do. They just whistled rastime and picked their finger nalls. They were four to the good. I began to have a touch of indigestion when suddenly"—Smith's hopes began to bob up like the thermostat on an incubator when the kerosene catches fire—"In the second haif McCorry makes a pinch bit. Berry singles, scoring McCorry. Wuffli bangs out a double.

"Then Mohler sends her through second! Berry scores!"
Smith, becoming excited, rose from his chair, as did other habitues from theirs. "Howard singles to right, reverberated like a buzz saw going through a knot. "It was glorious, Whoop-e-e."

At this juncture Smith paused and looked around startled. He had awakened from his dream, but there was no tittering in court. Judge Sullivan, who had been studying the chandelier with a rapt expression, interrupted rudely: "Case dismissed."

Sullivan stands as a convincing argument against the bill for the recall of judges. Smith should never have been arrested; in fact, he should have been rewarded. Any time the Seals make five runs in an inning the fans are entitled to some quiet recreation like throwing pillows and kicking each other in the back.

We don't wish the San Francisci management any hard luck, but really the official responsible for that arrest should be tunked on the skull with a section of cornice, shot at with a howiter loaded with spiked shoes, swung through 350 degrees of the circle and then rolled out under a 40-ton limousine.

downfall of many a son of Ethiopia, but Joe Rivers can boast of being the only Mexican to get his cars so wet that he couldn't hear the flapping of the vultures' wings above. Rivers has come forth with the starting alibi that a watermelon party the night before his Mandot battle on Labor day caused his downfall.

The sage who warbled that "nothing new under the old Sol" anagram spake well and wisely. Rivers' pien of lack of condition is a bromide pure and simple. It's the usual stall of a beaten athlete whose business is to get into condition. It's the baggy-kneed composer's manuscript—you don't have to get beyond the headlines to recognize it.

Zimmerman Leads National Hitters With Sweeney Close Up-Wood's Pitching Record High-Gregg Wins 15 and Loses 13.

Tris Speaker of the Boston Amercans gained a little on Ty Cobb in the American League batting race during the week, jumping up to .403, while Cobb and the National leaders, Zimmerman and the old Portland player, Bill Sweeney, fell a few points. Zimmer-man of the Cubs is leading the Nation-al with a percentage of 385. American League experts believe that

Speaker will eventually lead the American Lengue sluggers because Boston is practically sure of the pennant and that will be in his favor. Speaker's work in the field this season has been more valuable, too, than Cobb's, and it looks like Speaker for the auto-

PAMOUS NEW YORK NATIONAL PITCHER WHOSE METEORIC CAREER ENDED IN DEATH YESTERDAY.

"There are a lot of mistakes I've lost. Tom Seaton, formerly of Portland, shut out the Giants, the Phillies ambasting three twirlers for five runs. I've forgotten, purposely or otherwise, but the worst one I ever made, according to the way I look at it, was in trying to hit a ball where Fielder Jones wasn't." declared Sam Crawford, the famous Detroit outfleider, in speaking of his diamond troubles.

In the National League both leaders lost, formerly of Fortland, shut out the Giants, the Phillies officers will be held in this city and setting will be held in this city and officers will be elected. Day's Progress in the Pennant Races

OS ANGELES went one game and a half shead of Vernon in the Coast League race by virtue of a six-to-two beating soministered to San Francisco, while the Oaks were sinking their fangs in Happy Hogan for a double-header. Apparently Harry Ables has rounded to form again, and if so he is going to cause the leaders a lot of grief. Los Angeles and Vernon each have one more series to play with the LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7 .- (Special.)-Winter baseball will be much faster and classier during the coming season than in former seasons, judging from than in former seasons, judging from the material that the respective managers are signing up for the Winterseries. The big leaguers will be well represented as well as the Coast League players. The league will comprise eight fast teams, and the fans will not suffer for lack of a fast article of ball, as Walter Johnson, twirler of the Washington American League club, will be of hand, along with Homer Cravath, of the Philadelphia Nationals, to represent the Santa Ana team. The fans of the celery-belt town have already subscribed a large sum to promote Winter ball there.

Under the management of William Palmer, San Diego will use every effort to secure Perdue as a pitcher and Kling as catcher, together with Big Chief' Myers, of the New York Nationals. Hosp, of the Vernon team, will be on hand to help cluch the pennant for the Southern city. Palmer has written to Tris Speaker and First Baseman Houser, offering them inducements to Winter there.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Although no definite announcement has been made by the management of the Garden Athletic Club that the bout between Packey McFarland and Ad Wolgast, scheduled for this city on September 25, is off, it is generally understood by followers of the sport that the fight will not take place. The demand of Wolgast for more money after his failure to dispose of his share of the moving-picture privileges has not been met by the club and will not be met. Neither is it expected that Wolgast will come here for the $15,900 which the club will give him.

Freddie Weish, the English lightweight who lost the title of Matt Wells last year, has arrived in New York, and lias announced his willingness to take Wolgast's place.

NEW ROAD MARKS EPOCH Lewis County, Wash., Finds Hard-Surface Construction Success.

CHEHALIS, Wash, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—Albers & Nelson, of Chehalis, have just completed construction of one mile of concrete road leading from the county bridge across the Skookumchuck west of Centralia, on to Ford's Prairie, the cost being alightly over $12,000. The road has been opened to traffic and is bearing a big travel every day, as it is a main thoroughtare from Centralia. The road was built with a four and one-half inch base, with a wearing surface of one inch and one-half of 1-1-1 mixture of concrete. The road is crowned two inches at the center. This will, afford ample drainage and permit the rains to keep the roadway scoured in good shape. As noon as the weather settles so that it can be done properly the contractors will grade the road with an added four feet of dirt fill on each side, making a 24-foot roadway. It is expected shortly also to cover the roadway with tarvia to afford a wearing cushon that will protect the surface. Mr. Ipe, of Pord's Prairie, is to do this work.

Construction of this mile of road marks an epoch in road building in the north end of Lewis County, as it is the first hard-aurface road built in the first commissioner district, inside the City of Centralia, the Commissioners have this week let a contract to pave First street with gelarway pavennent, which will give connection from the north end of that city with the county's conserter road. It is believed that this latter improvement will tend to force the paving of Main street in the southern portion of Centralia. Seme time ago the City Commissioners of that city began proceedings to pave Main street, but owing to decided protest of property-owners the work was abandoned.
