

AGITATION TO OUST AUGUSTE RODIN FROM HOTEL BIRON OPENS SECRET

Dr. Morrison Protests Against News of China Being Published—Vice Crusade in Philadelphia Results in Many Unpleasantnesses for Director's Family—Carl Laemmle Jumps From Clerk to Millionaire.

Dr. George E. Morrison

Robert Mac Cameron

Aaron S. Watkins

Geo. D. Porter

Carl Laemmle

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(Special)—There is an agitation going on in France to oust Auguste Rodin the famous sculptor, from the Hotel Biron. This building was recently purchased by the state for $1,000,000. This was merely a matter of bookkeeping, as the property had already been taken from the church. Previous to this it has been leased to various tenants. These leases received notice to quit, and all did with the exception of M. Rodin. Then it was proposed that the state should allow the sculptor to remain in the building if he would bequeath all his works of sculpture, all his designs and collection of antiques to the state to form a Rodin Museum. Opponent to M. Rodin was the Congregation of the Sacred Heart from 1830 to 1906, and became a famous school for the daughters of the French nobility. In 1906 the congregation was dissolved by law and the government took possession of the property.

Dr. George E. Morrison, who was recently appointed special adviser to the President of China, is now in London and is protesting against the wild and irresponsible sensationalism which is being circulated in the English press regarding China. Dr. Morrison, who is a famous newspaper correspondent, says there is indisputable evidence that the two arch-conspirators, Generals Chang and Feng, who were executing in Pekin, were plotting against the government. Dr. Morrison was born at Geelong, Victoria, Australia, February 4, 1862. He gained a great reputation as a traveler and writer before becoming a correspondent in Pekin.

Aaron Sherman Watkins, prohibition candidate for Vice-President of the United States, in both a lawyer and a minister. He was admitted to the bar in 1889. In 1893 he entered the ministry and served as pastor at Continental, Ottawa, Edgerton, Delta and Northampton, Ohio. He was also prohibition candidate for Governor of Ohio in 1905 and in 1908.

To show that it could be done, George D. Porter, Director of Public Safety of Philadelphia, closed every tenderloin resort in that city. Mr. Porter has been the subject of a number of attempts to bribe him to let the tenderloin and his wife and family. The latest attack occurred when an inmate of a man Hall, East Sixth street, Breakers of Broad 11 A. M.; Bible class, 7:30. The Board Assembly will meet at 8 P. M., 608 Eilers building.

WOMEN FIGHT OVER MAN Berlin Society Leaders Badly Damage Each Other's Beauty.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(Special)—The rivalry in love between two societies of men, the Baroness Cecilia von Schendel and Frau Sylvia von Nordhausen, has had its sequel in the Court of First Instance at Schöneberg, near Berlin. They had previously been intimate friends, but both fell in love with a young cavalry officer, and from that moment they became the bitterest of foes.

The two women frequently met at social functions, and many angry scenes ensued. To put an end to an intolerable situation, Frau von Nordhausen sent a telephone message to the Baroness requesting a final interview, at which dice were to be cast for the officer's preference.

The interview was duly arranged at the Baroness' residence, but shortly after the two women had met they came to blows. After a fierce tooth and nail encounter the adversaries had recourse to a hospital, and the judge's dice were to be cast for the officer's preference.

The Baroness, who has lost the sight of an eye, was awarded $100 damages.

away, and the energy of reformers will be set free to work out the difficult problem of supplementary sex adjustments. And meantime, the most powerful thing in human life, its deeper values are lost sight of when men and women are warring over work, wages and votes just as the meaning of religion has been lost when priests and laity sought to advance their meanly selfish interests. But in a crisis of life, it always comes back. When a great ship founders in mid-ocean, and but a third of the people can be saved, there is then no question of woman's rights. In the darkness of early morning, the stronger hands place their woman in the lifeboats and push them out. The poorest peasant woman takes precedence over any man. Almost every woman would prefer to stay and die with her man; would glory in staying and dying if he might thus be saved; but in her keeping are the generations of the future and she is weak, therefore the strong gladly stand back and go down to death. The solution of woman's place in the society of the future must be based on a recognition of the supplementary forces that send women to undesired safety, while men die."

"The thirst for applause, if the best infirmity of noble minds, is also the first infirmity of weak ones" —Roskin of experience en route. In the big metropolis after more humble pursuits, he turned writer and author. He was the greatest mystery and the most powerful thing in human life. Its deeper values are lost sight of when men and women are warring over work, wages and votes just as the meaning of religion has been lost when priests and laity sought to advance their meanly selfish interests. But in a crisis of life, it always comes back. When a great ship founders in mid-ocean, and but a third of the people can be saved, there is then no question of woman's rights. In the darkness of early morning, the stronger hands place their woman in the lifeboats and push them out. The poorest peasant woman takes precedence over any man. Almost every woman would prefer to stay and die with her man; would glory in staying and dying if he might thus be saved; but in her keeping are the generations of the future and she is weak, therefore the strong gladly stand back and go down to death. The solution of woman's place in the society of the future must be based on a recognition of the supplementary forces that send women to undesired safety, while men die."

Zebulon R. Brockway 1878 Zebulon R. Brockway 1911

All the World to Nothing, by Wyndham Martin. Illustrated. $1.25. Little, Brown & Co., Boston. "Bright, and captivating fiction. In 'All the World to Nothing' we meet Richard Chester, a New Yorker of good family, but who is in their temporarily embarrassed because of a lack of ready money. Chester decides to enter the house of a money lender and demand the return of a sum of money that he has given to the money lender as the home of Nora Ellis, who, according to her grandfather's will, must marry before midnight or forfeit $250,000. Chester is attracted to Nora, but she is already betrothed to a man who is a fortune hunter. Chester decides to marry her, but she is already betrothed to a man who is a fortune hunter. Chester decides to marry her, but she is already betrothed to a man who is a fortune hunter.

The Secret of Lonesome Cove, by Samuel Hopkins Adams. $1.25. The Bobbs Merrill Company, Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Adams shows his newspaper training in writing such a thriller with interest so carefully suspended that well-ones is provoked.

Books Added to Library

BIography.—Elias—In Tudor times, short character studies of the great Elizabethan. B. D. Vaucliff—The life of the life of James Stewart, by James Wells. N. D.

BOOKS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES.—Koltsoff—Strikotvorenica 1 pima. Ed. 2. rev. & coll. Verbitskaya—Dukh vremen; roman. 2v. Verbitskaya—Sny zhenit. Verbitskaya—Vavochka; roman. DESCRIPTION AND TRAVEL.

Batchelor—Italian castles and country seats. 1911. "Famous privateersmen and adventures of the sea; their roving cruises, escapes and exploits, and their patriotism and for treasure. 1911.

Power—Her prairie knight. Bryant—The adjustment. Clark—Domestic science. 2311. Farrington—Store management—complete. 1911.

Page—A handbook of home economics. 1912. Foster—The million-acre farm; a narrative of the life and development of the Hancock poultry farm, the largest egg-producing plant in the world. 1911.

Pratt—The American artisan window display manual; a complete and comprehensive manual for window display designers and decorators. 1911.

Schmidt—Principles and practice of artificial lighting; a manual for electricians, painters, plumbers and general contractors. 1911.

Sunday Services in City Churches

- BAPTIST. First, White Temple, Twelfth and Taylor streets—Rev. W. B. Hinson, pastor, 9:30. Bible school, 11. Second, Everett street, 11 and S. Sunday school, 11:30. Third, 10th and S. Sunday school, 11:30. Fourth, 12th and S. Sunday school, 11:30.
- METHODIST EPISCOPAL. First, Park and Madison—Rev. E. R. Dyott, pastor, 10:30. Bible school, 11. Second, 12th and S. Sunday school, 11:30.
- CONGREGATIONAL. First, Park and Madison—Rev. E. R. Dyott, pastor, 10:30. Bible school, 11. Second, 12th and S. Sunday school, 11:30.
- CHRISTIAN SCIENCE. First, 19th and Everett—11 and S. Second, 19th and Everett—11 and S. Third, 19th and Everett—11 and S.
- DISCIPLES OF CHRIST. First, Park and Columbia—Rev. W. F. Hooper, pastor, 10:30. Bible school, 11. Second, 12th and S. Sunday school, 11:30.
- EPISCOPAL. Trinity, Nineteenth and Everett streets—Rev. A. Morrison, pastor, 10:30. Bible school, 11. Second, 12th and S. Sunday school, 11:30.
- UNITARIAN. Anabel, Fifty-sixth and Taylor streets—Rev. H. N. McLean, pastor, 10:30. Bible school, 11. Second, 12th and S. Sunday school, 11:30.

Fifty Years of Prison Service, by Zebulon R. Brockway. Illustrated. 42. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City, N. Y. Away from the idle, fanciful mood imposed by a perusal of many newspaper book concerns, this volume, by its presentation of stern facts and dark shadows of prison life. It has 437 pages, and will attract naturally passing attention. Occasional, but naturally pass it by, for the kind of life it depicts is not pretty as the butterfly or the June rose is pretty.

Mr. Brockway was superintendent of the New York State Reformatory, Elmira, N. Y., from the time of its opening in 1876 to 1908. As a prison official, he stood for humanitarianism and the recognition of the indeterminate sentence. Mr. Brockway was of New England ancestry, and was born at Brookfield, Conn., on April 22, 1827, so that at the present time he is 85 years old.

Mr. Brockway styles his book an autobiography, but in writing does not show that his life as a prison official was one of roses. He was attacked, vilified, but managed to work on. He gave the most interesting material words pictures of prisoners, and certainly these pictures are not seen through rose-colored glasses. At the age of 31 Mr. Brockway started his career as a prison official, in 1848, as guard in the state prison at Waterbury, Conn., beginning a prison service that practically covered the last half of the 19th century.

One of the deep, thoughtful chapters is that on "Recognition," where the growth of the ethics class is mentioned. The members of the prison class, at Elmira, were expert debaters who were trained in the art of reasoning by a volunteer teacher, Charles A. Collin, then a prison official. Often this prison class of keen debaters numbered 500 selected men. Mr. Collin afterward wrote a review of the activities of his class:

Ethics study calls for a keen, critical, dispassionate spirit, and it is thereby precluded from teaching the rote learning of a prison audience. Not merely learning mental maxims nor listening to good advice is sufficient, but the student must be of mind and soul designated by the great modern teacher, Arnold of Rugby, as "a creature of the spirit."

Mr. Brockway's life as a prison official was one of roses. He was attacked, vilified, but managed to work on. He gave the most interesting material words pictures of prisoners, and certainly these pictures are not seen through rose-colored glasses. At the age of 31 Mr. Brockway started his career as a prison official, in 1848, as guard in the state prison at Waterbury, Conn., beginning a prison service that practically covered the last half of the 19th century.

From the point of view of this book, all the efforts to open the doors of opportunity through which women can pass into the man's world, are but preparations for the beginning of a journey. The sooner all such doors are opened the better, for then the danger of a dangerous sex antagonism will pass

Any Book

Advertised or reviewed on this page may be obtained at—

Gill's

Book Store, 3rd and Alder

The J. K. Gill Co.

For full information regarding

Any Book

Old or New Write, Call or Phone

Meier & Frank's

Basement Book Store

Pri. Ex. Marshall 4600 A 6101