Wizardry of Red Sox Youth Mystifies Giants and They Lose Out.

VICTORY COMES IN THIRD

has been pitted against the Red Sox for 19 innings in two games, one of which was an 11-inning contest, and not one man was given a base on balls. Only 29 men faced him in today's contest.

The Giants garnered their only run on a long two-base drive to the temporary stands by Merkle in the seventh. He moved to third on Meyer's outfield fly, and scored when Gardner failed to handle McCormick's puzzling grounder. Bedient then held the Giants safe until the end.

When the ground-keeper was about to close the iron gates of Fenway Park at dusk, there were still groups of excited fans standing about the infield pointing out the spots where the ball had been checked by the Giants in their attempt to wrest a victory and bring them on even terms with the Red Sox in the series.

The fog is heavy at first. The early part of the game had all the unpicturesque settings of a cricket match played in a London fog. Murky mists swept in from the east, and rain threatened momentarily. In the early innings spectators could hardly follow the course of the ball, but the fog cleared later, so that the final innings found the clubs battling under summer conditions.

The total attendance was 34,633, while the receipts were $63,201. Of this amount each club received $28,440.45, while the National Commission's share was $6220.16. The players share only in the receipts of the first four games. "We have the edge on New York now," Manager Stahl, of the Red Sox, remarked tonight, "but I do not propose to claim the world's championship until the last day of the season is in the final inning. It will be time enough then to make claims; but then we won't have to, for we will have won it."

McGraw Yet Hopeful.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, while admitting that the Red Sox have a big advantage, believes he will be able to check the rush of the red-legged players in New York Monday, and that he would make the fight for the next two games.

The game began at one minute after 2 o'clock. Bedient was given an encouraging cheer as he went into the pitching box. Little Josh Devore, the first batter up for New York, waited as he usually does when he finds the pitching unsteady, and went to first on four bad balls. Captain Doyle tried to put Devore down to second base, but he fouled out to Lewis in the effort.

Snodgrass was "boomed" by the bleachers when he came to bat, and there was a great cheer when he cut short the Giants' promising inning by hitting into a double play. He sent a grounder to Wagner, who threw to Yerkes, forcing Devore, and Yerkes made a quick throw to Stahl. It was the first double play in the series in which three fielders figured, and Yerkes, the middle man of the trio, handled his part well.

Giant Twifler Welcomed.

Mathewson, who had pitched himself into almost complete exhaustion in the 6-10-8, 11-inning game last Wednesday, was given a warm reception as he came out to pitch. The question was, could he come back and prevent the Red Sox from batting up another victory? Hooper opened up on Mathewson by hitting him for a single over second base. Yerkes sent up a fly that was easy for Fletcher, and Tris Speaker shot out a single to left field, on which Hooper took second. Lewis forced Hooper at third, Herzog gathering in the ground ball before Hooper could reach third. Gardner struck out, ending the inning.

Murray, for the Giants, received a base on balls in the second inning and went to second on the second fly to right field. Hooper lined one up into the mist that Yerkes caught and Meyer sent a long fly out to Hooper.

For the Red Sox Monday's game was an easy out. Fletcher, Merkle, but Wagner had more luck with Mathewson's pitching, shooting a single to right field. Cady hit to the infield and slipped as he started to first, and Mathewson, who fielded the ball, threw the ball catcher out. Bedient's first trip to the plate was the signal for more applause, but he was an easy victim, going out, Doyle to Merkle.

Mathewson Hits Ball.

Fletcher opened the third inning for New York with a long fly to right field that Hooper caught and sent to center field. He moved to second base when Devore got his base on balls. Devore got no further, for Snodgrass fouled out to Cady to the great delight of the crowd.

New York's undoing came in the third inning, when Boston put over two runs which won the game. Hooper drove a long hit down into left field, the ball rolling into a corner. When Devore finally captured it after it had caromed about with him chasing it, Hooper had passed second and the Red Sox runner beat the outfielder's throw to third base.

Then Yerkes came to time with a tremendous drive to left center field that both Devore and Snodgrass chased. Hooper walked, but the Boston's first run amid a din of cheers.

Doyle Fumbles Ball.

Mathewson looked as if he were in for a bad beating, but the strong-hearted New York pitcher pitched "fade-aways" that Speaker managed to hit, but not squarely and the ball bounded along the ground. Doyle fumbled it and Speaker's reach first. Yerkes racing home with Boston's second run. The ball rolled out to right field and Murray, running in, scooped it up and threw Speaker out trying to make second base.

"Hit 'er out, Lewis!" came the cry across the diamond when the Red Sox left fielder, Lewis, hit the Boston's first run amid a din of cheers.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Oct. 12.—(Special).—The students' body turned out on the occasion of a half holiday given by the faculty yesterday to move the college library into the new building.

Wagner struck out, and Cady sent a fly to Snodgrass.

Meyers Makes Single.

In the fifth inning, Chief Meyers fouled off a half dozen balls before he singled to left field. Fletcher sent a long fly to Hooper. Mathewson struck out and Devore flied to the Boston right fielder.

Bedient came in for more cheering for his fine pitching when he stepped to the plate in the fifth inning. He grounded out to Merkle. Hooper smashed a drive at Doyle, who got it in fine style and threw the Red Sox runner out. Yerkes hit a lightning fast grounder to Fletcher, who made great stop and throw, getting his man and ending the inning.

In the sixth inning, Yerkes had to back out into short right field properly to play Devore's grounder, which he did in fine fashion and threw the New York captain out. Snodgrass sent up a CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Colonel Roosevelt, in an address at the Coliseum tonight, attacked Woodrow Wilson's record as Governor of New Jersey on the question and declared that if the Democrats were successful in November the great trusts of the country would find Governor Wilson a most delightful and business companion.

Colonel Roosevelt further insisted that New Jersey was, above any other commonwealth, the "trust state" of the country, while it is the only one which could be used with great effect against the trusts. Governor Wilson had pursued a "do nothing" policy in this regard.

Sketching his own record on the trusts while President, Colonel Roosevelt said: "I made such an impression by my repeated messages and addresses that the Republican platform in 1908 did definitely promise action along the lines I had indicated—although the promise was broken by those in charge of the Republican party as soon as I left the Presidency.

"Wilson Inactive, Says Colonel. "Mr. Wilson, during his term as Governor of New Jersey, has not done one least little thing of any shape, sort or description toward dealing with the trust problem.

"Yet the opportunity has been ample. And if his own declines as to the duty of the states to deal with the trusts are correct, then his failure to act has been inexcusable. The same trusts against which I actually did act were incorporated under the laws of New Jersey and it was perfectly simple for him to act against them, but he never followed my example. The big corporations owe their license to the laxity of state laws or their non-enforcement.

"The Democratic platform denounces the effort to deprive the states of any of their rights in connection with dealing with the trusts, insisting that no Federal action shall be substituted for state remedies for the prevention of private monopoly—that is, of trusts. It appears that Mr. Wilson explicitly recognizes the theory that it is the prime duty of the state governments rather than of the National Government to deal with trusts.

"For the most part the modern American trusts have been incorporated in the State of New Jersey and are subject to its laws. They depend on the state government for their powers and their life, both of which may at any time be cut off if the state government sees fit to take such action. For nearly two years Mr. Wilson has been the head of this state government. If the Standard Oil Company or tobacco trust has, in Mr. Wilson's opinion, been guilty of gross frauds or attempts to monopolize, their state charters can be readily amended, altered or repealed.

"There is a criminal statute in New Jersey applying to corporations which affords, ready at hand, a simple remedy of the kind which Mr. Wilson and his supporters have repeatedly stated would be the most effective to meet the evils of the present situation.

"Yes, although his power is ample under these provisions of the laws, Mr. Wilson, while Governor of New Jersey, has not urged or attempted to secure the amendment altering or repealing a single corporation charter of New Jersey. Nor has he attempted to secure the indictment of any officer, director or employee of such a corporation under the act of 1905.

"When Mr. Wilson thus utterly fails as Governor of New Jersey to come up to what he himself says a Governor ought to do, it is not to be wondered at that his criticisms of the Government proposals for dealing with the trusts should be futile in their utter unpopularity.

"All of this throws a curious light on Mr. Wilson's statement, reported in the New York papers as having been made in Denver last night, to the effect that there was a 'hallooah chorus for the trusts' in my favor. I hope that the quotation is not accurate, but of course it is not possible for such a statement. The only man that Mr. Wilson can refer to among my supporters as representing the trusts is Mr. Perkins, unless, indeed, it includes Mr. Munsey. These two men, Mr. Perkins and Mr. Munsey, are men of means precisely as Mr. Cleveland Dodge and Mr. Charles F. Johnson, Crane, Wilson's intimate associates, are men of means.

"So far as I know, of his associates in these corporations one or two are supporting no one and all the rest are supporting Mr. Taft or Mr. Wilson."

Deneen in Ananias Club. On seeing a copy of Governor Deneen's last speech at the Hellig Theater immediately branded it as a deliberate and wilful perversion of the truth. Colonel Roosevelt characterized the Governor as "the friend and ally of Lorimer."

"I have not heretofore assailed Mr. Deneen," he said, "Mr. Deneen has now sent it to me and I will deliberate and wilful perversion of the truth."

"Mr. Deneen says that I asked him to limit his resolution concerning the contests to 24 of them. This is a falsehood. I had no private dealings with Mr. Deneen during the Chicago convention. During that convention I became convinced of his shuffling and double dealing. I grew to feel a hearty contempt for him and entirely to mistrust his sincerity and loyalty to the people's cause."

"My attention, by the way, has been called to testimony by Mr. Deneen before the Senate investigating committee, of which I was ignorant and which conclusively shows that Governor Deneen was a friend and ally of Lorimer who he suggested to Lorimer that Lorimer elect himself to the Senate and that he formed a defensive alliance with Lorimer in the City of Chicago.

"I wish to call the attention of the people of Illinois to the fact that Governor Deneen has made admissions about his actions with Lorimer which show that he is unfit to occupy any position of trust in the Government."

Unknown Man Is Fire Hero.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special).—The home of George Irving Roos, formerly a business man of Portland, at Jennings Lodge, was destroyed by fire this afternoon, several members of the family having a narrow escape. An unknown man climbed an electric light pole, which was ablaze, and extinguished the fire at the risk of his life. But for his act the wires would have soon fallen to the street, endangering the lives of many persons.

An Invitation

WE WOULD really like to have every woman in Portland and vicinity who is interested in beautiful apparel for herself or her daughters (and what one is not?) to visit our ladies' apparel shop and examine at their leisure the many handsome garments we are showing.

IN a newspaper advertisement it is hard to describe faithfully these charming productions of the weavers' and tailors' art—harder still to refrain from attempting it—but, after all, the most pleasant way is for you to see them through your critical eyes instead of through our words of enthusiasm.

FOR we cannot help being enthusiastic when speaking of our ladies' shop—you'll not find, the whole city over, a more desirable collection of apparel, or one where styles and quality meet on such friendly terms. Each garment is priced at what it is worth, not what we think it will bring.

YOU'LL find here none of the made-to-sell kind—the fabrics are selected by us personally, and designed and fashioned by men designers and men tailors with an eye single to the production of Garments of Quality—the only kind for which this store is noted.

WE'LL be glad to have you come in this week—tomorrow, if you can. You are assured of the most courteous attention whether you're ready to buy or merely acquainting yourself with the most desirable in Fall and Winter Apparel.

NEW ALFALFA IS SOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Secretary Wilson expressed belief today that the agricultural problem in the arid lands of the West had been solved by the alfalfa brought from Siberia.

STOMACH BAD? BELCHING GAS AND SOUR FOOD? WANT TO FEEL FINE?

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

NEW ALFALFA IS SOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Secretary Wilson expressed belief today that the agricultural problem in the arid lands of the West had been solved by the alfalfa brought from Siberia.

"Draw a line from the northern boundary of North Dakota down to the Gulf of Mexico," said Mr. Wilson today. "That's arid land. Up in Siberia they are getting alfalfa and that hardy product we will put into the arid section. It will be the salvation of the arid country."
