

D. O. LIVELY TO BE GUEST OF HONOR

Dinner Planned for Newly Appointed Official of Panama-Pacific Fair.

A. G. CLARK WILL PRESIDE

Heads of Various Business Organizations Are on Programme for Toasts Wishing Departing Associate Farewell.

D. O. Lively will be guest of honor at a public dinner to be given Tuesday night by the Portland A. G. Club and leading commercial organizations at the Commercial Club. Mr. Lively leaves Portland to take up his duties as chief of the department of livestock of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. He is widely known to the breeders of livestock in all sections of the United States and Canada. He was instrumental in founding the Livestock Show at Fort Worth, Tex., and was one of the leading spirits in the organization of the first National Livestock Exposition at Chicago, of which he was chief of the department of publicity and promotion.

Three years ago Mr. Lively located at Portland and has since been working for increased production of livestock in the Pacific Coast states and has secured the co-operation of prominent railroad officials, bankers, the press and civic and commercial organizations.

He organized and has successfully managed the Pacific Northwest Livestock Association. Such men as R. Lovitt, executive head of the Harriman lines; James J. Hill, head of the Northern Pacific Railway, and other leaders have heartily co-operated with him. He organized and has been general manager of the Pacific National Dairy Show and vice-president of the Portland Union Stock Yards.

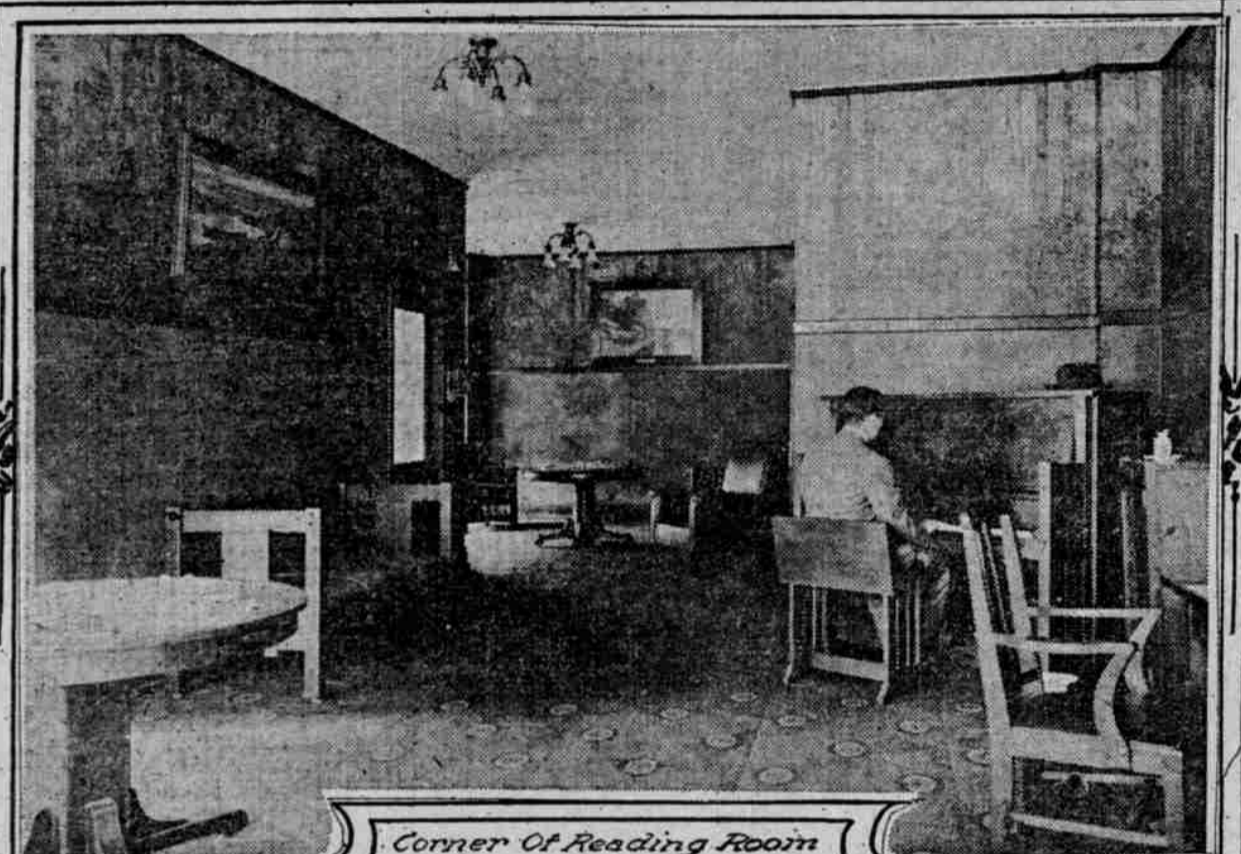

He is a member of the Portland Commercial Club, the Portland Chamber of Commerce and other civic and fraternal organizations.

The programme for the dinner is as follows: Toastmaster, A. G. Clark, president Portland A. G. Club. Addresses by W. J. Kerr, president Oregon Agricultural College; Julius L. Meier, chairman Oregon State Commission; Edgar B. Piper, president Portland Commercial Club; C. E. Jackson, president Journal Publishing Company; C. L. Hawley, president Oregon Pure-Bred Livestock Association; C. C. Cole, president Union Meat Company; W. W. Cotton, principal attorney, O. W. R. & N. Company; O. M. Plummer, secretary Portland Union Stock Yards Company; Eugene Brookings, president Progressive Business Men's Club; Frank C. Riggs, president Rotary Club; J. Fred Larson, president Realty Board; C. C. Hall, secretary East Side Business Men's Club; S. B. Vinson, president Press Club; William C. Bristol, crown prince of the Royal Rosarians; Carl R. Gray, president Great Northern Railway Company; "An Hevoir," D. O. Lively.

"WILSON DAY" PLANNED

Meetings to Be Held in Every County in United States November 2.

Oregon Democrats will observe "Wilson day" next Saturday, November 2, having been designated for that purpose. The plan is to have a public meeting in the interests of Wilson's candidacy in every county in the United States on that day. At each of these meetings a special message from Governor Wilson will be read.

"In many of the Eastern states," said State Chairman H. B. Duzer, "the observance of the day will be more general and Wilson meetings will be held in every precinct. Of course, that is out of the question in a state the size of Oregon. But we have made arrangements by which a rousing Wilson meeting will be held in each of Oregon's 34 counties. Not an intimate dinner has been received as to what the message from Wilson will be. But it is believed to be more than likely it will consist of an earnest appeal from the Democratic nominee addressed to the Democratic voters of the county, urging them to go to the polls and in every way assist in promoting the party's chances of success.

In Multnomah County the day will be observed in connection with the concluding day of the campaign which will be held at the Armory next Saturday night. United States Senator Chamberlain will be the principal speaker. Several of the time tickets will be made short addresses. The meeting will be in charge of H. B. Van Duzer, chairman of the county central committee.

ATTORNEY AFTER $150 FEE

Double Administration of Estate Results in Tangle.

Because of his failure to pay Attorney Arthur Langguth $150 for legal services rendered, Stoen, administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Stoen, is being sued by County Judge Cleaton for contempt of court. The estate consisted entirely of a claim for damages against the railway company. Arthur Langguth first secured the appointment as administrator of Theodore Dimitry. Later Attorney W. M. Davis appeared and, on the ground that Hia was a relative of the dead man, secured the removal of Dimitry and the substitution of Hia as administrator.

The settlement has now been secured with the Oregon Electric Company for $1800, of which Attorney Davis secured $450 as his fee. The plaintiff sued to recover the balance of $1350. Hia told him that if anything was secured from the railway company Mr. Langguth would have to be paid for what he had done. Yesterday Attorney Davis appeared in the Courthouse and said that Hia had refused to pay him and that Attorney Davis had shrugged his shoulders and advised him to see Judge Cleaton about it.

"I had the case practically settled and all that remained was for Davis to do the plucking," said Attorney Langguth. "Now he gets $450 and I have to fight for my fee."

Colonel Wadsworth Wins Suit.

Judgment for $7000 was given Colonel J. Wadsworth against the Weinhard estate by a jury in Circuit Court yesterday. The plaintiff sued to recover $38,800 as compensation for injuries the principal of which was a broken arm, sustained by falling into an open elevator shaft in the Labor Temple building, which is owned by the Weinhard estate.

CLUB OPENS HOME

Transportation Men Have Big "Housewarming" Event.

START MODEST, RISE FAST

Organization Which Began With Luncheon Gathering of Three or Four Grows to 400 and Has Quarters at Multnomah Hotel.

"Boys, let's have lunch together tomorrow and get better acquainted," said Orrie Thomas, of the Milwaukee Railroad office to a group of his friends in the lobby of the Railway Exchange building, one day last winter.

"We'll be with you," was the chorus of replies.

The next day they met at the Imperial Hotel—six or eight of them, including a number of visitors from Seattle and other places.

The result of that meeting is the Portland Transportation Club, now numbering about 400 members and having luxurious quarters in the Multnomah Hotel building, where a formal "housewarming" took place last Thursday evening.

Name implies all.

The Transportation Club is strictly what its name implies. It is composed exclusively of railroad and steamship employees. There is no woman's auxiliary nor an associate membership. Not even the traffic managers of the big industrial concerns, most of whom are old-time railroad agents, are admitted.

The club started by weekly luncheons at the Imperial Hotel, meeting every Thursday at noon, when some person experienced in transportation affairs would talk of railroad business or of some other subject closely related to transportation work. Once in a while a little comedy or musical entertainment would be injected into the weekly programmes, and once a number of women—mostly equal suffrage advocates—were entertained.

This continued for quite a while, until the membership grew so that a meeting once a week would not afford sufficient outlet for the enthusiasm that developed. Then the permanent club room idea was suggested. The Multnomah Hotel offered just about what the majority of members had in mind.

Comfortable Rooms Enveloped.

These rooms are located on the mezzanine floor of the hotel building, overlooking Third street, and are nicely arranged for social diversion and indoor recreation at times when the members are not on duty. It is a favorite gathering place at the noon hour when the railroad employees are out to lunch. A long hallway connects with the balcony overlooking the hotel lobby. Off of this hallway are a pool and billiard room, a parlor and lounge room, reading room, music room, card room, secretary's office and wash rooms. A cloak room is provided at the entrance. The rooms are elegantly furnished and finished throughout in a brown tint. Every piece of furniture and decoration harmonizes with this color scheme. An automatic player-piano recently was added to the equipment. Several of the railroads have given the club handsome pictures of scenic points along their lines of travel. An ample supply of literature, including daily papers, magazines and railroad publications, is maintained in the reading room.

One of the rules strictly enforced from the start is that prohibiting gambling in the club rooms. The organization has the sanction of the officials of the various transportation companies represented here. Many of them are members. However, the actual direction of the club is in the hands of the younger element in the railroad world—men holding comparatively minor positions. Men of every department—traffic, operation, legal accounting and engineering—are listed on the rolls.

Membership Field Large.

With the possible exception of San Francisco Portland has more railroad employees than any city on the Coast, and the actual membership by no means represents the number of men engaged in the transportation business here. Provision also is made for a non-resident membership to accommodate transportation men living in other parts of the state. When the general passenger agents recently visited Portland their entertainment was wholly in the hands of this club.

Much of the club's forward movement was obtained under the direction of its first set of officers, consisting of L. F. Knowlton, president; E. W. Burns, secretary-treasurer; Dorsey R. Smith, W. Merriman and E. L. Cardie, directors.

The present officers are: J. E. Werlein, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, president; A. B. Graham, of the Oregon City Transportation Company, vice-president; E. W. Mosher, of the Pennsylvania system, secretary-treasurer; H. H. Kock, of the North Bank, G. L. Anderson, of the O. W. R. & N. Company, W. O. Roberts, of the Great Northern, and T. A. Rochester, of the Rock Island system, directors.

350 Attend Opening.

The formal opening of the club rooms on Thursday was attended by about 350 members and the members of their families. The function was in charge of N. C. Soule, of the O. W. R. & N. Company; A. L. Stephens, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company; W. Merriman, of the Southern Pacific; Colonel J. B. Eddy, of the Southern Pacific, and R. W. Pickard, of the North Bank. Edward B. Duffy, of the Denver & Rio Grande, attended to the entertainment features. It is planned to have a social function to which the wives of members will be invited at least once a month during the winter. Prizes are given for the best scores in "500." Mrs. T. E. Wallace and R. E. Piper won the prizes last week.

An experimental rule now being tried by the club requires the president to appoint a new house committee each month. The committee for November will consist of W. O. Roberts, of the Great Northern, H. J. Houghton, of the same road, L. F. Knowlton, of the North Bank, W. J. Leonard, of the O. W. R. & N. Company, J. K. Fox, of the New York Central, and E. M. Burns, of the Chicago Great Western.

St. Helens Company Incorporates.

Articles of Incorporation of the St. Helens Light & Power Company were filed at the Courthouse yesterday. The incorporators are Charles R. McCormick and William F. McCormick, principal stockholders in, and E. H. Meyer, manager of, the Charles R. McCormick Lumber Company, which operates a

September 4, 1912.

Frederick J. Haskin,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—

I have found your book, "The American Government," of very great interest.

There is room for genius in all things and you have certainly displayed it in the illuminative and succinct manner in which you have presented the workings of the government shop to its millions of proprietors.

Respectfully yours,
D. SOLIS COHEN.

"The American Government" has been indorsed by leading educators, clergymen and public men throughout the country. Portland citizens have joined in giving the volume the most complimentary indorsement.

Haskin shows Uncle Sam at work. It contains a complete exposition of every department of our National Government. It should be read by every boy and girl in the state.

It teems with thousands of useful and interesting facts. After you have read and digested this work, the words "National Government" mean something more to you than a "hazy something" situated at Washington. You will understand it all then, as though you had personally investigated each governmental department under the guidance of the department head.

How to get this book, see Page 2, Section 1.

CHRISTENSEN IS GUILTY

Clean Breast to Be Made of Charge Against Boy.

Arrangements have been made by which Charles Christensen, indicted for voluntary manslaughter with H. Leese and Robert Burns for kicking Adam Baker to death on Morrison street on the night of July 25, in to turn state's evidence and testify against his companions. As a preliminary Christensen was taken before Circuit Judge Kavanaugh yesterday and changed his plea of not guilty to guilty.

At the request of Deputy District Attorney Page the boy was allowed to go on his own recognizance and pending of sentence was deferred until after the trial of the other youths. Mr. Page declares that no promises of immunity were held out to young Christensen. Leese and Burns will be placed on trial this week before a jury in Judge Kavanaugh's court. Christensen's testimony will be the best evidence the state will have against him. He has agreed, it is understood, to make a clean breast of the whole transaction.

Club to Announce Returns.

Arrangements have been made by the Portland Commercial Club to secure by direct wire returns on the National election, Tuesday night, November 5. A special 75-cent dinner will be served at the club on that night. The election returns will be announced in the dining-room and also in the green room and the billiard-room.

Dr. Hartman Makes Public the Facts As to What Doctors Think of Peruna

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Of course doctors disagree about Peruna, the same as they do on all other things. It is generally thought that the doctors are unanimously opposed to Peruna. It is well known that Peruna has cured a great many cases of catarrh of the bladder, and that it is nothing unusual that a doctor should expect pay for such a service.

The manufacturers of so-called ethical preparations advertised in the medical journals, used by the doctors only, are in the habit of paying doctors for testimonials. If a doctor has found some of these proprietary remedies useful and can write a good, smart article about it, the manufacturer is perfectly willing to pay the doctor for this service. So it is perfectly natural for doctors to write to me telling me that they know of cases where Peruna has made marvelous cures, and are willing to furnish me the facts if I will pay them such a service. I have invariably made a courteous reply to the doctor, telling him it is opposed to my policy and principles to pay for testimonials, either directly or indirectly. There would be no trouble at all in my obtaining hundreds of testimonials from doctors if I would pay the doctors for doing so.

I recently received such a letter from Kentucky, from a doctor who has been practicing medicine for a quarter of a century, and is at present "medical referee" for this county, president of the county medical board, local surgeon of the C. & O. railroad, member of the state medical society and American Medical Association, and all that. He has used Peruna and offers to give me a very remarkable testimonial if I would pay him for doing so. He does not set any price but expects me to offer him something, which of course I refused to do. He said, "I have been afflicted with a subacute inflammatory condition of the post nasal space, and of recent years it has become chronic, and has caused a catarrhal process. Your Peruna entirely relieved me of both conditions, after a comparatively short time of use. I have never enjoyed such happiness as I have since I began to use Peruna. I believe me when I tell them that your medicine cured me, but it is a fact. Several times I have been in the hospital every known means, took treatment at several sanitariums." He is willing to take oath to these statements. I will make it worth his while to do so.

It was very gratifying to receive such a testimonial from a brother physician and quite a temptation to pay him a small sum and allow his letter to be published. But I have an undeviating policy of refusing to pay any one for a testimonial. Nothing would sooner lead to infamy and embarrassment than to offer pay for testimonials. I should be flooded with testimonials of all sorts and in spite of every precaution some of them would be untrustworthy.

In referring to the doctor's letter I do not consider that I am violating the ordinary courtesies and confidences of private correspondence. I have not made use of his name or the town where he resides. But I am perfectly willing to communicate the name and address by private correspondence if any one wishes me to do so, or submit the letter for examination to any individual who may call at my office. And I may say the same in advance of the next letter that I am about to refer to.

Another doctor from North Carolina writes me. He says: "I have a case under my observation, now permanently cured by Peruna that has baffled the medical profession ever since the disease was known." He says, "I have never cured the case with Peruna and feel that if the public knew the facts about the case that it would be a great boon to the public, as well as the greatest advertisement ever given any medicine on the market." He says, "I can furnish a sworn statement of the particular case and give you the greatest ad. for Peruna ever known for any remedy. The disease cured in this case is regarded by the profession as incurable. I prescribed the Peruna myself and know all the particulars. The patient had consulted leading medical authorities, had taken the most modern treatment, and everything failed, not even obtaining relief. He has also applied for insurance and upon examination was rejected. After taking the Peruna treatment for a few months he again applied for insurance, was examined and accepted. This was one year ago now and he is still well." The doctor goes on to say, "I await your early reply, and if you place the valuation to you on this that I do I am sure the inducement you offer will meet my approval and I will furnish you with sworn statement of the case for an advertisement."

Now these two letters are only samples of letters that I have been receiving for the last twenty-five years, from doctors from all parts of the United States. I have made no use of these letters for the reason that pay was always demanded and I do not think it is strictly moral to offer any monetary inducement for published testimonials. I have never done so and I never shall.

But incidentally this kind of letters proves conclusively that Peruna is a great remedy for catarrhal diseases. No doctor would resort to Peruna until after he had exhausted every other remedy. I have never published testimonials. I have never done so and I never shall.

I am a doctor myself. I have probably treated more patients than any one doctor in the state in which I live. I doubt if there are many doctors in the United States who have treated more cases. I have long been convinced that Peruna is the best remedy obtainable for catarrhal diseases. I have seen thousands, yes tens of thousands, of people recover from catarrhal ailments by the use of Peruna. I cannot believe otherwise than that Peruna is today the best remedy that has ever been devised for catarrhal diseases. I am not sure but that I will have my files searched for similar letters to the ones I have alluded to, for there are a great many of them filed away. I may publish a book containing a large number of testimonials given me by doctors, which I have withheld from the public because I was not willing to pay any one for writing a testimonial, however valuable it might seem to be. Of course I will not use this booklet for money or public advertisement, since I have not the doctors' consent to do so, but it will be sent through the mails to those only who request it, to the medical profession.
