

MRS. BELMONT AND MILLINER CRASH

Collision in Votes-for-Women Restaurant Results in Issuance of Summons.

TORN COAT SLEEVE SHOWN

Trouble Comes Over Ten-Cent Piece of Cake—Mrs. Belmont Willing to Go Into Court, but Denies Damage Done.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Alice Clancey, a milliner, at 467 Fifth avenue, today obtained a summons directing Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont to appear Monday in the Jefferson Market Court, because, she says, Mrs. Belmont pushed her away from the cake counter of the Votes for Women Restaurant at 18 East Forty-first street. Mrs. Clancey says Mrs. Belmont pushed her with sufficient force to tear the sleeve of her coat.

Mrs. Belmont denies that she did anything more than to place her hand on Mrs. Clancey's shoulder for a moment and ask her to leave the counter. The trouble all grew out of Mrs. Clancey's desire for a certain piece of cake when she had a check calling for only a 5-cent piece. She says she should have had a 10-cent check entitling her to the larger piece of cake, for she had paid for such a check.

Mrs. Belmont Shows No Feeling. "I don't know this woman," Mrs. Belmont said, as she arrived today at the restaurant. "I have no feeling against her and if she serves me with the summons of course I am willing to go to court. She made a disturbance at the counter. I heard her arguing with Mrs. Morgan, who was in charge there. She was speaking and gesticulating excitedly. I asked Mrs. Morgan what was the trouble and she said the customer wanted a 10-cent piece of cake and had only a 5-cent check.

"I am entitled to a 10-cent piece," Mrs. Clancey said to me. "I paid for it and I have been cheated."

"I told her she must move away; that she must leave the place. She said she would not and I told her that, while I regretted, I would be forced to call the policeman. If she did not go, I put my hand on her shoulder and she became almost hysterical. Then she walked over to the table where she had been and went out. I certainly did nothing which could have torn her sleeve. If it is torn it was torn in some other way."

Mrs. Clancey was still much excited today when telling her side of the story. She showed a coat with a torn sleeve, which, she said, she wore when Mrs. Belmont thrust her away from the cake counter on the second floor.

Mrs. Clancey is Determined. "I wanted a 10-cent piece of cake," she said, "and the girl said that I had only a 5-cent check. I told her that I had bought 25 cents' worth of checks and should have had a 10-cent one left. If I did not have one, I told her, I had been cheated."

"Mrs. Belmont came over then and seized me and pushed me toward the door. There were about 200 girls in the restaurant when she told me if I did not go she would put me out. I don't care about the money, but I want satisfaction for the way I was treated."

When Mrs. Clancey went to Jefferson Market Court, Magistrate Murphy refused a warrant, advising her to return Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

PORTLAND BOYS PRAISED

Government Bulletin Comments on Success of Garden Contests.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The Department of Agriculture will soon issue Bulletin 252, Office of Experiment Stations, on Some Types of Children's Garden Work, in which appears the following reference to the work in Portland, Or.:

"The schools of Portland have taken no active part in the promotion of agriculture or horticulture. While the city is famous for its civic pride and some of the principals of the schools encourage children to assist their parents in their home gardens, the matter of interesting children in plant life is left wholly to the parents or to the agencies."

"A young men's association of Portland fields a strong influence among the men and boys of the city along many and varied lines. In 1910 the association offered to teach every boy in Portland to swim. Three thousand boys received instruction. Equally as many responded to the call given by the association through the public schools. In 1911, to sign a contract to enter a garden contest in growing four vegetables and one flower at their homes. In the judgment of the director of the boys' work, J. W. Palmer, this is the best work ever done by the association in its efforts to reach the boys."

"In this contest the plot cultivated could not be less than 10 by 15 feet. A registration fee was charged to cover postage, cost of seeds and other expenses. The contest was divided into a Spring contest and a Fall one, a registration fee of 50 cents being charged if both were entered. Early in the Spring a representative of the Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station, at Corvallis, gave a course of elementary talks to the boys. Seeds were distributed to be planted after methods given in the lecture course. Each contestant was required to make a report on blanks furnished by the association on the 1st and 15th of each month. The report had to reach the contest secretary within three days of the stipulated time or credit was not allowed on the score."

"These reports counted 30 points on the prize awards. They could be sent by mail or brought to the office by the boy, the latter way counting 10 additional points, as it was felt that personal delivery of the reports offered an opportunity for discussion with the director. Every garden was visited by the association secretaries and judged, this counting an additional 40 points. An exhibition was held at the end of each contest, no boy being allowed to compete for a prize unless he entered this exhibition."

Effective Home Remedy for Tuberculosis

It is a serious matter when the lungs are affected. A trip away or to a sanatorium is not only expensive, but it involves separation from home and friends. Some are benefited, but few can safely return. Eckman's Alternative is effective for home treatment. For example:

231 S. Atlantic Ave., Haddonfield, N. J. "Gentlemen: In the Fall of 1905 I contracted a very severe cold, which settled on my lungs. At last I began to raise sputum, and my physician then told me I must go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eckman's Alternative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the last week in October. I began to improve, and the first week in January, 1906, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now five years since my recovery has been effected, and I cannot praise Eckman's Alternative too highly. I have recommended it with excellent results."

(Signed) W. M. TATEM.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in expelling the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by the Owl Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.
