

U'REN IS STRICKEN FROM SALARY ROLL

Oregon Single Tax Leader to Get No More Pay Because He Is Candidate.

TALK MADE AT HARVARD

Oregon City Man Gives His Opinions on Initiative and Referendum and Tells of Conditions in This State.

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—(Special Correspondence)—Joseph U'Ren is weary of the role of financial angel in the campaign for single tax, and at the final meeting of the National conference yesterday at the Twentieth Century Club, he announced that unless others contributed more generously next year to the single tax fund, he might be counted out of the list of contributors. However, he said he was confident that the fund would grow and that even his death would not end the work.

During Sunday the five members of the commission discussed the situation among themselves. No report of their deliberations was made to the conference. Chairman Kiefer, of Cincinnati, was asked for an outline of the meeting, but said that there was nothing to report, and the only matter of consequence mentioned by members of the commission was the dropping out of Mr. U'Ren, of Oregon, as a paid member, because of his candidacy for Governor of Oregon.

In talking over the situation in Oregon with Mr. U'Ren, it was virtually decided that the clause exempting $250 of land value from U'Ren's new measure be eliminated when that measure again is presented to the voters of Oregon.

U'Ren Makes Address. Mr. U'Ren, by invitation, today addressed the Economic Club, of Boston, and a number of Harvard undergraduates at Cambridge.

Mr. U'Ren took for his subject the "Declaration of Independence." "We hold these truths self-evident," he said, "but sometimes there is a difference in interpretation. I interpret them as giving every man equal opportunity to use the National resources of the country and to share in the value of them with no special privilege allowed."

As to the measure by which this may be attained: We are said to have a representative government, but we know that we haven't. The people are not fairly represented in the Legislature by spokesmen of their own choosing. It is one party or the other that monopolizes, as in Oregon, for instance, where out of 30 men in the Legislature, 25 or more are Republicans—that is not representative government. And that is why people are turning to the initiative and referendum."

Views Are Given. He discussed the initiative and referendum idea and declared his belief that where conditions are good and the executive officials have due appreciation of their responsibility, it would be found that the initiative and referendum would seldom be used. "I think," he said, "that where a large number of measures appear on the ballot, it is both a demonstration of the interest of the people in getting good government and of the inefficiency and incompetence of their representatives."

MEDFORD CASE IS SETTLED

Socialists' Threat of Mandamus Suit Fixed Up by Council.

MEDFORD, Or., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—The right of way for the mandamus suit threatened by the Socialists, to decide the status of Recorder Foss and Councilman Campbell in the forthcoming city election was cleared Thursday night when City Attorney Neff, who made a decision that the two held unexpired terms, announced that he would waive the call for election to expedite matters, and allow the court to give its opinion and the people to know if the election call was valid for. Also the Councilmen agreed to stand the expense of the suit, not to exceed $25, a nominal cost for the action.

WALLA WALLA VOTES SOON

Citizens to Be Called to Decide Important Questions in 1913.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Citizens of Walla Walla will be called upon this coming year to decide two things—the voting of bonds for the construction of a reservoir for the city water supply and the voting of bonds to take up the outstanding warrants. No time has been set for the holding of these elections, as the Commissioners say they want to give the people a chance to register.

ONE-LEGGED ATHLETE AND FRIEND WHO ARE WALKING FROM SPOKANE TO SAN FRANCISCO.

CHARLES GALBRAITH AND RANDALL TUTTLE.

HIKERS NEARING CITY

One-Legged Athlete and Companion Leave Hood River.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Although he has but one leg, Charles Galbraith, son of I. J. Galbraith, a contractor of Spokane, has more courage than many men possessing both lower limbs, and can walk faster than most men. Young Galbraith, who has just reached his 21st birthday, left Hood River this morning for Portland, accompanied by his friend, Randall Tuttle, of Spokane, who is making the long hike with him. They left the Inland Empire City Sunday before last, and have made an average of 22 miles daily since their departure. They declare that they expect to cover an average of 30 miles every day on their way down to the Golden Gate. "And we are going to be in San Francisco for New Year's night anyhow," says young Galbraith.

The young one-legged athlete is well-known in and around Spokane. He participated in athletics on the high school team last year and is now a member of the athletic teams of the Y. M. C. A. Despite the loss of his limb he is especially proficient in aquatic sports. The young man is a brother of the former football star of Pullman, who at the time of his gridiron fame was picked for an all- Northwestern team.

While here this morning the two long distance hikers visited Mayor E. O. Blanchard and delivered greetings from the latter of whom they carry a letter to the chief executive of San Francisco. Mayor Blanchard signed this epistle. They carry a blanket, small camp kit and food, in order that they may be provided for in case nightfall catches them away from any habitation. "However, we always like to get into some city for the nights," said young Galbraith. When night comes, after a fellow has walked 30 or more miles, he feels like a good square meal and a good bed to sleep in."

The candidates representing the municipal water works faction were elected by a vote of three to one. J. W. Butler was elected City Recorder. The Socialists polled a vote amounting to about one-seventh of the total.

The proceeds of the entertainment went to the charity fund of the Elks' lodge. Rufus K. Love, who makes a business of arranging Elks' performances, was brought here to stage the production. The show was called "The Big Noise," and the program consisted of a minstrel and a vaudeville. The members of the Elks took part, assisted by several girls who have particular talent.

Artificial Teeth

Specialist on Plate Work.

This one thing I do. Owing to the rapid strides that have been made in the dental profession in the last few years it has become absolutely necessary to separate the work into its various and well-defined branches.

The prominent men in the dental profession have realized for some time that it was an utter impossibility for any one person to become proficient in all of the various branches. Ever since dentistry has been a recognized profession there has been a great tendency among the dentists to slight plate work, giving up all of their time and study to methods tending to preserve the natural teeth. The reason for this is obvious, as the work is much easier, requires less artistic and mechanical ability and is much more remunerative.

Unfortunately, only about one out of every one hundred practices constructed by the general practitioner in dentistry gives complete satisfaction to the patient. Hundreds of people are wearing plates in this country today, struggling along with the belief that they have the best to be obtained, when, as a matter of fact, all of their troubles can be laid directly to the lack of skill in this branch of the general practitioner.

The anatomical method is used in making all my plates, and by using this new mechanical appliance to get the correct positions of the upper and lower jaws, restoring the natural expression to the face, it gives pleasing results.

It is difficult to compare these results with those from plate work done in a haphazard manner, because there is no comparison in the value of the service rendered to the patient. In the ordinary form of plate work any real crushing or chewing ability which the patient may have is largely a matter of accident.

If unable to give complete satisfaction after a reasonable trial I will gladly refund the price paid.

wife knows a chuck steak from a sirloin, but many of them do not know just how to cut up the carcass of a meat animal properly, and the farmer and his wife were taught this art by the butchery department, for which experts from one of the big Portland packing houses were brought to the college. But to the city housewife and the merchant or clerk who do marketing, this two days' study was a revelation.

It is a fact that city butchers have but little knowledge of the proper use of beef on the "dime's worth" plan and always have any cut called for as long as there is a pound remaining on the block. The farmer, a comparatively easy matter when the purchaser's knowledge of meats goes no further than a distinction between suet and soup bones and where the markings is done by telephone or at the kitchen door, the butcher's boy acting as the medium.

Because of this woeful lack of knowledge concerning meat animals and cuts, this new feature of meat demonstration was added by the college authorities to the work of Farmers' week. The lectures and demonstrations enable the Farmington week students to follow the meat animals from the range to the retail shop.

PIONEER OF OREGON DEAD

Elizabeth Barrett, Early Willamette Valley Settler, Dies at Wenatchee.

WENATCHEE, Wash., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Death today claimed Elizabeth Barrett, niece of the first territorial Governor of Oregon and herself a pioneer of that state. She was the widow of the late William Barrett, and was 85 years old. Mrs. Barrett will be buried here tomorrow.

As a girl in her native state of Indiana she played with General Lew Wallace, and was his attending friend. Later, when a young woman, she crossed the plains to share the hardships of early Oregon pioneers of the Willamette Valley, and had a fund of stories of stirring early-day adventures. Her grandfather was a noted slave owner of the South. Several relatives of the deceased live here and in Oregon.

Eckman's Alternative

Highly Praised

A Valuable Remedy for Throat and Lungs.

It is folly to believe that consumption differs from every other disease in not requiring the use of any medicine for its treatment. For a number of years an enormous mass of voluntary and thankful testimonials from persons who consider that they owe their lives to Eckman's Alternative, a medicine for Tuberculosis, has been accumulating. Hundreds of testimonial letters attest its lasting value. You can write to any of them. Here is one:

"Gentlemen: In the Winter of 1909 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia, later by Consumption. I was steadily worse. In the Winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful-looking sputum and later I had many hemorrhages; at one time three to three ounces of blood and mucus came out of my mouth. I could not eat or sleep. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alternative was recommended by a friend. I gained strength and weight and my appetite. I never had another hemorrhage since I began using Eckman's Alternative. I am perfectly well. Everything I say here can be verified by my family and friends." (Signed) ANNE F. LOUGHBRAN.
