

SENATE READY TO VOTE ON ARCHBALD

Members to File Explanations in Writing, So There Shall Be No Undue Delay.

PROCEDURE IS ADOPTED

"Guilty" or "Not Guilty," as Proclaimed in Johnson Case, Will Give Way to General Submission of Articles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Senate agreed today to begin at 1 o'clock Monday the voting upon the articles of impeachment against Robert W. Archbald, Judge of the United States Commerce Court, charged with misdemeanors and the misuse of his judicial influence.

No debate by members of the Senate will be permitted during the voting, but under a resolution offered by Senator Root and adopted, a Senator will have an opportunity to make a brief explanation of his vote in writing, to be printed as part of the Senate proceedings in the case.

Secret Session Completes Details. Arrangements for the final steps in the case against Judge Archbald were made in a secret session of the Senate. The question of whether a Judge could be impeached for offenses that did not make him subject to indictment under the law was raised by Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, but was withdrawn without a formal vote.

Voting Not to Be Delayed. When the impeachment court reconvenes at 1 o'clock Monday, the first article of impeachment will be put to a vote without further delay. Senator Root today offered a motion to give the question of a general submission of articles to each Senator, on each of the 13 articles of impeachment.

This was modified at the suggestion of Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, and the individual question to each Senator, followed in the case of the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson, will give way to a general submission of each article, to be followed by a roll-call vote on each.

Modified Penalty Suggested. It is expected that in case Judge Archbald should be found guilty by a two-thirds vote on any article of impeachment, a resolution will be offered by some Senator proposing that the penalty shall be limited to his removal from office and shall not bar him in the future from holding office.

This proposal was not made formally in the secret session today, but probably will be proposed if the accused jurist should be convicted. Leading members of the Senate expressed doubt today as to the success of the proposed plan to modify the penalty.

The first article of impeachment upon which a vote will be taken alleges that Judge Archbald tried to influence officials of the Erie Railroad, which had suits pending in his court, to grant him a favorable option upon a refuse coal dump owned by a subsidiary of the railroad.

EDITOR MAY BE BARRED

Man Who Published Libel on King George Due in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—E. H. James, editor of the Paris Liberator, which printed the libelous story of a marriage of King George, is expected to be detained here on his way to New York late today or early tomorrow in La Provence, of the French Line. It was said today that orders had been received for his detention and that if James acknowledged the authorship of statements attributed to him before he sailed from France that efforts would be made to deport him.

James is on his way to the country with the announced intention of defending Edward Mylius, who was imprisoned in England for uttering the libel, as author of the story, and therefore an undesirable alien. A lengthy brief in Mylius' case is now in the hands of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, by counsel for the writer, claiming the crime of which he was judged guilty in England did not involve moral turpitude.

EMBEZZLER IS SENTENCED

Wife of Harvester Company's ex-Bookkeeper Collapses in Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(Special.)—Wallace L. Poland, ex-bookkeeper at the local offices of the International Harvester Company, who confessed to embezzling $81,000 which he invested widely in business projects, was sentenced today to serve seven years at San Quentin prison.

Mrs. Poland, his beautiful young wife, was in court and collapsed as she heard the sentence. Poland was arrested September 28. He subsequently admitted that he had taken the money, not to spend in social enjoyment, but to invest. One venture after another failed. After each failure he increased the total of his theft. Counsel for Poland argued before Superior Judge Dunne for probation. The court, however, denied parole, holding that, inasmuch as Poland's thefts had continued over a period of two years, he was not a fit subject for probation.

NAVY'S BAN ON PETS OFF

Animals to Return to Ships—Admiral Denies Goat Story.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 11.—The goats, monkeys, cats, dogs, parrots and other pets aboard Uncle Sam's fighting ships at the Norfolk Navy-Yard, which were banished a few days ago, when, report said, Rear-Admiral Doyle was bitten by a goat on the quarterdeck of the battleship New Hampshire, will be restored to the jacks. There is joy in the fleet again.

Assistant Secretary Winthrop, of the Navy Department, let it be known the department did not approve their summary removal. Admiral Doyle indignantly denied today that the goat had bitten him. He announced he had ordered the removal of the pets because medical officers thought they might have something to do with cerebro-spinal meningitis and measles at the marine barracks. The Admiral further announced that when the danger of infection was past the mascots would be permitted to return.

SOUTH POLE'S DISCOVERER, WHO RECEIVES MEDAL

RAOLD AMUNDSEN.

GOLD MEDAL GIVEN

Geographers Pay Signal Honor to Amundsen.

PEARY ATTENDS DINNER

Discoverers of Two Poles Meet at Noteworthy Affair in Washington—Explorer Modestly Praises Forerunners.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Captain Raold Amundsen, the noted Norwegian explorer was formally recognized for the first time in the United States today as the discoverer of the South Pole and honored for his achievements with a special gold medal by the National Geographic Society at its annual banquet where he was guest of honor.

Beside Captain Amundsen, there was present Rear-Admiral Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., retired, to whom the society two years ago gave a similar medal, recognizing him as the discoverer of the North Pole.

Medal Bears Polar Chart. The Amundsen medal bears the inscription: "This special medal awarded by the National Geographic Society to Captain Raold Amundsen for his Anarctic achievements, resulting in the attainment of the South Pole, December 14, 1911."

On the other side is a chart of the south polar region, surrounded by a wreath of laurel, with the emblem of the National Geographic Society at the base.

A distinguished company attended the banquet to honor the noted explorer who a year and a month ago, lacking a few days, reached the goal for which many noted explorers before him had striven.

Explorer Is Modest. Captain Amundsen, replying to the speech of presentation of the medal, modestly tried to minimize his own accomplishment and gave strong words of praise to those who had preceded him in the Antarctic fields. He referred to his own work as no greater, no more worthy of exceptional commendation than that of many other explorers.

When Captain Amundsen arose to accept the medal a salvo of applause greeted him from ambassadors, ministers, scientists and other men prominent in life.

A smile overspread the strong face of the explorer. He bowed lightly and waited for the applause to cease. Then he expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on him and thanked the society for its recognition.

MARKET BLOCK TO BE SITE

(Continued From First Page.) general supervision over the construction of the Auditorium and he promised that every detail will be carefully gone into, so that Portland will have one of the very best public auditoriums in America, with a seating capacity as large as Madison Square Garden, with no essential feature eliminated.

The main entrance will be on Clay street, where there will be a long flight of stone steps, almost the entire width of the building, leading up into the auditorium, to the ticket lobby, where the ticket booths will be located. There will be several entrances here, so that throngs of people may get into the building quickly.

There will be rest rooms for women, smoking rooms for men and every convenience that the art of building knows. Full equipment for balls, banquets and special attractions of every kind will be installed, and special care will be exercised in the lighting system and the acoustics, so that it will be second to no auditorium in this country, said Mr. Freedlander.

There will be about eight exits from the balcony, opening out directly onto the sidewalk, so that in case of emergency, not only all of the balcony, but the entire building, could be emptied of 10,000 persons in two or three minutes.

Special private entrances into both the Second and Third-street side of the building will be provided, much of the order of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. The seating capacity will easily care for 7500 persons, while 2500 more will be able to get comfortable accommodation on occasions where it is necessary.

Dancing Provided For. The floor of the Auditorium will be of concrete, but there will be a special wooden floor, with seats for about 3400 persons, which may be brought into requisition for dancing and other events when such is needed. The floor will be flat, the ceiling will be a comfortable for livestock shows, etc., and no attempt is to be made to make the Auditorium in any sense a theater, as the architects say that the city is well supplied in this line, but it is not equipped for proper showing of horses and cattle and such exhibitions.

Booths for the sale of confectionery will be provided; there will be a big green room off the stage and special entrances to the stage from the street. Reinforced concrete will be used for the interior furnishings, as in all modern structures.

Chairman Wilcox, of the Auditorium Commission, said last night that he will call a meeting of the members just as soon as W. D. Fenton returns to the city from California, which will be some time this winter. As soon as a site will then be taken, but it is believed certain that the Market block will be accepted, as there is no money with which to purchase another.

Mr. Freedlander declares that the Market block is a good site, and he is satisfied with it, as, he says, it can be easily reached and is accessible by streetcar from every point.

BALDNESS VS. CIVILIZATION

Baldness, instead of being a matter for ridicule, is in reality badge of civilization, according to the researches of modern scientists. Miss George, of Portland, Ore., has made a special study of the affection, and deprecates the common tendency to regard it as a joke and the relegation of its treatment to barbers and beauty shops. It is a great disadvantage when it occurs in a man and a misfortune when it occurs in a woman.

Referring to the treatment of baldness, Miss George says the question resolves itself into a matter of stimulating the tissue of the scalp and increasing the blood supply of the follicles. Out of a multitude of prescriptions, the bald man may take his choice. A few lead to desired results, provided they are used persistently and intelligently, but the proper method must be followed. The hair growing from the atrophied papilla is slow in coming forward, and it does take months, but with the aid of hair to gain a purely medicinal and noninjurious scalp food, with the method of treatment recommended by Miss George, the desired result may be obtained much more rapidly.

Miss George declared, in her experience, women persist in the treatment and get results. Men do not and become bald.

MORGAN MAY TELL OF OCEAN COMBINE

Capitalist Believed to Control $120,000,000 Shipping Corporation.

RATE AGREEMENTS PROBED

Chairman of House Committee of Inquiry Asks Steamship Representative if Arrangements Are in Existence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—An investigation of the International Mercantile Marine, the $120,000,000 American corporation controlling numerous foreign and American steamship companies, with J. P. Morgan as the chief witness, is contemplated by the House committee on merchant marine in connection with its hearing of the so-called shipping trust. Mr. Morgan is believed to have organized this great company and to control its stock.

Chairman Alexander, of the committee, announced today that Mr. Morgan probably would be subpoenaed immediately upon his return from Europe. P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the White Star Line, one of the important companies connected with the International Mercantile Marine, already has been subpoenaed and probably will be examined in the near future.

Much Stock Owned. The International Mercantile Marine owns the entire capital stock of the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company (the White Star Line), the International Navigation Company (the American and the Red Star Lines), the Mississippi & Dominion Steamship Company, and the United States & North Atlantic Steam Navigation Company, and owns the controlling interest in Frederick Leyland & Co., with the shipping business of the Ismay, Imrie Company and Richard Mills & Co.

The combined sailings of the various companies covers 45 services, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, Galveston, Montreal and Portland, Me., to Liverpool, to Plymouth, Southampton, London, Havre, Cherbourg, Bremen and Antwerp. The corporation also operates various lines in the distinctly foreign service.

Agreements Are Discussed. At the investigation today Chairman Alexander asked Paul Gotthel, whose firm represents several lines, if rate agreements existed among lines trading between Atlantic ports and the Far East and between Japan, China and the Philippines, and whether there was a pooling arrangement by lines between Atlantic ports and the Far East. Gotthel said he had no definite knowledge, but believed such agreements were still effective. Rates for these lines were fixed, he said, at conferences held in New York every Tuesday. The witness said a great many ships under foreign flags probably were owned by Americans.

Traffic between the United States and Baltic ports the witness said the Scandinavian-American, Hamburg-American, North German Lloyd and Wilson lines, were in agreement to make the same rates and divide traffic. The Norway-Mexico-Gulf line, he said, was in strict competition with the Scandinavian-American line of direct lines to Copenhagen and Christiania, between New York and Rotterdam and Amsterdam, the Holland-American and Transatlantic companies have direct lines in competition without rate or service agreements.

AVALON, Cal., Jan. 11.—(Special.)—Elwood Wiles, of Portland, one of the Royal Rosarians who recently visited Southern California, has left here for home with one of the largest mountain goats bagged on this island in years. The specimen was shot by Wiles last Tuesday and has been mounted and shipped to Portland.

The Portland man has visited Avalon several times, but has hitherto devoted his time to fishing and yachting. This time he decided to try for one of Santa Catalina's mountain goats. The trophy has horns 24 inches long and a beard measuring 30 inches.

UMATILLA CHIEF DEAD

PEO, ONCE MIGHTY WARRIOR, MEETS FINAL DOWNFALL.

Former Leader of Indian Tribe Breaks When Power Is Wrest From Him and Dies a Lunatic.

PENDLETON, Or., Jan. 11.—(Special.)—Peo, Chief of the Umatillas, died yesterday at his home on the Umatilla reservation, a few miles from this city. In the death of the Umatilla warrior and chieftain history records an interesting tale of the rise of a powerful redskin, his achievements and final downfall.

As the son of Chief We-nap-snoot, who governed the Umatillas during the Snake Indian outbreak in 1878 and the ever good friend of the whites, Peo came to direct the affairs of his tribe. One of his acts was the beheading of an Indian insurrection leader—Egan—and the subsequent presentation by Peo of same to Captain Miles, white commander, encamped at the Umatilla agency.

Peo came into control of much valuable land on the reservation, through his influence and shrewdness. It was when the fight to wrest much of this land from him commenced, under the direction of Rev. J. M. Cornelison, of the Tutuila Mission, that the once mighty warrior's first reverses were met.

Seven years ago, physically, morally and mentally a wreck, the chieftain was sent to the Government Asylum for Insane Indians at Canton, S. D., and was released one year ago, but was still mentally weak. That his entire spirit had changed was evidenced by his desire to attend services at Tutuila Mission and listen to the words of the man he had so hated and opposed, Rev. Mr. Cornelison.

EXTRA LIFEBOATS URGED

British Committee Takes Lesson From Titanic Disaster.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The carrying of extra lifeboats sufficient for the accommodation of all passengers and crew of ocean liners is recommended in the report of a committee appointed after the Titanic disaster to advise the British Board of Trade. The report recommends that the extra boats be stowed under the boats, attached to the davits with satisfactory arrangements for launching, each of them in turn, from the same set of davits.

In foreign-going vessels in which the boat accommodation would be so large that not all could be stowed in this way the committee recommends that the carrying of properly equipped reversible pontoon rafts should be allowed. These should be capable of accommodating not more than 25 per cent of the persons the vessel is certified to carry. The rafts should be of such size that they could be thrown from the deck if necessary.
