

ANDERSON KNOCKS TROTT ALL BUT OUT

Vancouver Lightweight Wins in Sixth, Completely Out-classing Opponent.

VICTOR TO FIGHT MANDOT

Columbus Lad Is Outboxed and Out-fought in Every Round by His Antagonist, Who Shows Great Generaiship.

BY W. H. JOHNSON.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—(Special).—Bud Anderson, of Vancouver, the sensational knockout specialist from Vancouver, Wash., won a place today in the hearts of the fight fans of Southern California and a place as a contender for the title on the lightweight division by defeating Sammy Trott, of Columbus, O., in the sixth round of a scheduled 20-round bout.

Anderson completely outclassed the Ohio boy, having the best of the match in every round. His victory is classed as a knockout although Trott was not completely out when Referee Eytton stopped the battle and declared Anderson the winner. Anderson had knocked Trott down for the count in the sixth round and it was to prevent ruthless slaughter that Eytton stopped the bout.

Mandot to Be Fought. By virtue of his victory this afternoon Anderson will meet Joe Mandot on St. Patrick's day in the same ring as another step toward the lightweight crown.

It was an uneven fight all the way, with Anderson always leading by a wide margin. He cleverly outboxed Trott in the first round, but in every round, Anderson also justified his reputation as a knockout artist. Only the gameness of Trott permitted the fight to go as far as it did.

Anderson landed at will, working every known punch and administered severe punishment. Trott was unable to make the slightest headway against the Vancouver boy and the fight was never in doubt from the first going to the end.

Anderson proved himself to be a clever, hard-hitting combination fighter. Both on the offensive and defensive his punches were always up to advertisement. It seems to be a cool-headed boxer, and a hard-headed one to boot, a favorite by the thorough, workmanlike manner in which he disposed of Trott.

DOBIE'S CHARGE UPHELD

NEW FOOTBALL CAPTAIN NOMINATING COMMITTEE NAMED. Students' Board of Control Turns Down Recommendations of Faculty Inquirers.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Jan. 25.—(Special).—The charges that the election of football captain for next season had been framed by campus fraternity politicians were substantiated by the report of the faculty committee that has been investigating for several weeks and a recommendation was made by the committee last night that the election of the leader for next year's team be taken out of the hands of the team and placed under the control of a committee of uninterested persons.

The students' board of control promptly turned down the recommendation of the committee and referred the report back to them for further data and names of those charged with complicity in the alleged frame-up. The motion was hot and at one time Dean Milnor Roberts, a faculty member of the board, left the room in anger at a statement made by one of the students. The report charges that it has been the custom at Washington for fraternities to trade votes and to barter offices, even athletic captaincies.

An indirect charge was made in a report that a newspaper correspondent had suggested a deal with a candidate for the editorship of the student paper and that they traded the votes of their fraternities in the two elections. The student board of control finally created a nominating committee consisting of Coach Dobie, a member of the football team, a member of the Alumni "W" Club, a member of the faculty athletic committee and the vice-president of the student body. This committee will have the power to name the men for the team to vote on for the captaincy.

Bud Anderson's victory was hailed in Vancouver with shouts of joy and delight and when the crowds in front of a newspaper office began to yell, people five blocks away knew that Anderson had won and that he was one rung closer to the top of the pugilistic ladder. Bud's friends here won much money on the fight. Several fans sent $1000 to Portland recently, but no takers could be found. Several thousand dollars were sent from here to Los Angeles to bet on Bud, all feeling confident that he would win.

PORTLAND BUSINESS MAN BACK AFTER ENJOYING MID-WINTER GOLF PRIVILEGES AT CATALINA ISLANDS.

When a score or more members of the recent "Portland to Pasadena" Roaming excursion took a side trip out of San Pedro to the Catalina Islands off the California coast, they were exceedingly surprised to bump into Arthur H. Devers, a well-known Portland business man. Mr. Devers, who is a member of the wholesale firm of Closser & Devers, is an enthusiastic golfer and was getting real enjoyment out of a stay of several weeks at Avalon, basking the festive gutta-percha around the close-cropped links.

Mr. Devers returned to Portland yesterday. "I'm glad to get back," said he. "Portland looks pretty good to me."

THORPE'S STATUS YET EYED

Indian Told Not to Take Part in Pastime Club Games.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Investigation of the case of James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian all-around Olympic champion, whose amateur status is questioned, will be continued by the Amateur Athletic Union, it was learned tonight.

Thorpe canceled a date to appear in the Carlisle University team here tonight and James T. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, said tonight that if the Indian appears to participate in the Pastime Athletic Club games here next Tuesday night, in which he is entered for two or three events, he will be protested.

Although it has been asserted by those best in a position to know that the Carlisle athlete has never been a member of the Winston-Salem baseball team of the Carolina Association, thereby having become a professional, as charged recently, the identity of a player named Thorpe, who was a member of the Carolina League in 1909 and 1910 is under investigation, as is that of a Thorpe who played with the Fayetteville team of the same league in 1910.

KRAUSE TO COME; HOWLEY GOES EAST

Philadelphia Pays Cash and Two Players for Back-stop Dan.

SOUTHPAW TWIRLER STAR

Youngster Who Had Most Remarkable Introduction to Major League Baseball Promises to Be One of McCredie's Best.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT.

Things were stirring in Portland Coast League headquarters yesterday. Not only was Catcher Dan Howley finally disposed of to the Philadelphia Nationals for a cash consideration and two players—Southpaw Stanley and Catcher Loan—but word was received from Toledo bearing the glad tidings that Southpaw Harry Krause, formerly a star with the Philadelphia world's champions, undoubtedly would be sold to the Portland Beavers by Cleveland.

While the acquisition of Pitcher Stanley, an Atlantic City phenom with a 1912 record of 23 wins and 7 defeats in the Tri-State League, is of sufficient importance to merit a headline, the Krause deal in the same bundle of mail, filled out, perhaps, the most momentous afternoon of the Winter league season for President W. W. and Manager W. H. McCredie.

Several clubs all over the country have been seeking Krause, but not until a few days ago, when Krause insisted upon being traded to the Pacific Coast, would Topsy Hartzel hear his leaving. Krause expects an addition to his family within a few days and wants to be near his home in St. Mary's, Cal., this coming Summer.

Introduction Is Unique. The youngster had one of the most remarkable introductions to major league baseball in the history of the sport, winning 10 straight games for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1903. He had trouble with his arm in 1910 and 1911 and was sold to Toledo last Spring, rallying in sensational style and winning 15 games in 17 pitched. Cleveland tried him out for a few days but returned him to Toledo to satisfy the clamorings of the fans.

His record for five years of professional baseball is excellent, as he has never finished below .500. The statistics are as follows:
1906—Harrisburg, Tri-State, 17 8 .400
1908—Philadelphia, American, 18 8 .482
1910—Philadelphia, American, 8 8 .500
1911—Philadelphia, American, 11 8 .577
1912—Toledo, American Ass'n., 13 4 .750

The southpaw hurler was only 17 when he made his professional debut in the Spring of 1908, so Hal is still a young man and should give Portland several years of good baseball. He had just finished a stint in the minor league for St. Mary's College, when tipped off to the astute Philadelphia boss.

"I will be immensely pleased to secure Krause," said Manager McCredie last night. "But don't forget that this other southpaw, Stanley, should be a corker. I can fill Howley's shoes. I know, but pitchers are harder to get. I don't know who the new catcher, Loan, is but that's immaterial, for I will try to purloin another backstop to go with Fisher, anyway."
Except for the year 1910 when Vean Gregg pitched Portland to a pennant, McCredie has never boasted a really good southpaw. He went through 1911 to a pennant with only right-handers and the three men experimented with last year failed to pass muster. "Lefty" Steiger, secured from St. Paul in trading for Catcher Tommy Murray, was early shut out by the Portland Northwestern League, and Girot and Harry Suter, who were then mustered into the fold, also failed to deliver startlingly. Greenwell, another portside heaver, refused to report in the Spring and he was sent to New Orleans last week.

Stanley led the pitchers of his league last year, finishing with a winning percentage of .767, or 23 wins in 30 games, in which he officiated. His fielding indicator and batting statistics are as follows:
Fielding: Games, 23; putouts, 14; assists, 74; errors, 8; percentage, .946.
Batting: Games, 25; at bat, 93; runs, 9; hits, 15; shutouts, 5; stolen bases, 1; percentage, .161.

Portland's hurlerstaff will be ready for the sound of the gong. McCredie has Southpaws, Krause and...
"Whew, whistled Ad Wolgast when he heard of the victory, scored two knockouts quicker than the best of rounds. This fellow Anderson was taking me a bear, an even better man than I figured him," continued the light-weight champion.
"Trott is an easy man to beat, but a hard one to stop, and you'll certainly have to hand it to Anderson. He will be a big drawing card at Los Angeles now and McCredie will keep him there for his next three fights if he doesn't get sick."
"Anderson can beat Rivers tomorrow, simply figuring on his showing against Trott. Guess it's up to me to tackle him one of these days if I am to regain title and hold it."
It must be confessed that more than a few Portland people who claim to be critics of boxing figured that Bud Trott was an ultimate secured chance in against such a tough chap as Trott. Few believed that Anderson would score a knockout within 15 rounds, the majority holding that Trott would lose the decision at the end of the twentieth round.

FORMER PHILADELPHIA AMERICAN PITCHING STAR WHO IS SCHEDULED TO WEAR PORTLAND UNIFORM IN 1913.

HARRY KRAUSE.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 25.—(Special).—According to an authentic report from local headquarters here today, the Portland club will in all likelihood secure Pitcher Hal Krause, for whom several Coast League clubs are angling. Krause was turned over to Toledo by the Athletics last Spring and pitched like a house afire. Cleveland took him for several weeks, but turned him back to the Pens again. Krause expects an addition to his family within several months and has asked to be traded to a club near his home in St. Mary's, Cal. The deal in all probability will be consummated in a few days.

"HAP" SMITH WILL PLAY

EX-BROOKLYN OUTFIELDER TO WEAR COLT UNIFORM.

Jerry Eddinger, With Tri-State for Two Seasons, Will Be in Northwestern League Habit.

Hap Smith, former Brooklyn outfielder who played a few games with the Portland Colts last season until forced to retire with a rheumatic throwing arm, will be given another chance to set the Northwestern League afire with his slugger. Nick Williams, Colt manager, announces that Hap will be a member of his 1913 training camp.

The former National and California outlaw leaguer writes from Coquille, Or., that the rheumatism has been conquered and that he will be fit for a strenuous campaign with the Colts. He will leave Oregon soon for his home at San Jose, and rest until the call for training in March.
Smith broke into the game at Portland one Sunday last season like a champion, winning the game for the Colts by his batting. But his arm was bad and he was soon benched, finally being turned aside. The afflicted member became better and Hap went to La Grange, hitting well over .400 while in the Western Tri-State League.

"If Smith's arm is right he should prove a valuable player next season," comments Williams. "He can hit the ball all right, and should lead the league, but if his arm is so bad he can't throw, he is worth little."
Jerry Eddinger, umpire in the Tri-State League for two seasons, and Jimmy Toman, Northwestern League indicator man of last season, are to be two of the Northwestern circuit arbitrators for 1913. Ralph Fraty, the third man on the list, refuses to accept the terms offered by Fielder Jones and another man will be added to the staff within a week.

Toman was a holdover for a time, but telegraphed his acceptance of terms when Jones issued an ultimatum that unless he came to time by January 26...

STAR OF TRI-STATE LEAGUE LANDED BY MCCREDIE IN DEAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 25.—(Special).—Stanley is a young left-hander and easily the star of the Tri-State League last year with Atlantic City, which finished fourth. He won 23 games and lost seven. He has always been a great pitcher, but his erratic habits kept him down. He is the kind that a good manager can keep in line, and is made for league caliber if he can be handled.

New 10,000-Meter Record Made.

CHRISTIANIA, Jan. 25.—A new world's record was established today by Arthur Mathieson, the Norwegian champion, who won the 10,000 meters in 17 minutes 36.8-10 seconds. The former record, 18 minutes 18.2-10 seconds, was made last year by Mathieson. The Russian, Ippolito, finished second in 17 minutes 37.3-10 seconds.
