In her allegations, before Judge Blake, Mrs. Simpson said, among other things, that her husband had struck her, cursed and abused her, and thrown her out of bed.

Mrs. Simpson's attorney, also on cross-examination of the defendant, drew from Simpson that he was an intimate friend of the notorious Maybray, made famous a number of years ago in connection with his fake racing, wrestling and boxing enterprises, and who was sentenced to the penitentiary at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Simpson said further that Maybray had been a guest at the Simpson home in this city, in 1967.

The defendant did not seem greatly embarrassed when asked delicate questions in regard to his connections with Wappenstein, the Seattle Chief of Police, who was sent to Walla Walla Penitentiary. The suit is one of the Range of Subjects Wide.

There were witnesses from New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and other cities, and the tariff talk ranged all the way from typewriter ribbons to laces and curtains.

Max Wilner, of New York, recommended a straight ad valorem rate of 35 per cent on table linen and similar articles, now 30, 35 and 45 per cent.

Peter Gouled, of Union Hill, N. J., a manufacturer, contended that the average income of a domestic cotton lace manufacturer was less than the average income of a progressive farmer.

Free admission of raw flax, now dutiable at 1 cent a pound, was advocated by Patrick Boyle, of Paterson, N. J., a flax dresser.

Retention of the present tariff on carpets, mattings and rugs manufactured from vegetable fibers was urged by Myron W. Roblinson, of New York, president of a carpet company and acting as committee for American manufacturers of these products.

Dakota Farmers Quoted.

A rippie of excitement was created when V. R. Blehden, of Buffalo, N. Y. testifying in favor of retaining the duty on flax tow, said the farmers in the flax section of the Dakotas had told him the committee was "the damndest set of fellows you ever saw." He said they warned him that the committee "would not listen to you; that they gave you five or 10 minutes and shut you out;" that "they want to ruin the whole world," and that Mr. Fayne, the Republican ranking member, "is in with them now." n with them now."

Representative Payne did not hear the remark, but when it was repeated to him he roared with laughter.

The wool schedule, the citadel of the protectionists, will be under fire next Monday, and it is expected that the woolgrowers and Wool Manufacturing Association will present an unbroken front in their fight against any change in the present rates.

The expectation, however, is that the Democratic majority both in the committee and House in the next Congress will favor the same revision as incorporated in the Underwood bill that passed the House at the last session of Congress.
