

"For the Newest Visit the Eastern"

SOCIETY

Mrs. David Lawlor, Mrs. Carrisoz, Miss Nellie Williams, whose wedding took place April 14.

A DECIDED lull in social activities characterized the month of April, due no doubt to the balmy weather. The call of the great outdoors, which is most insistent and continuous, has resulted in an abatement of the "dancing" or "indoor" season's diversions; auction, teas, and even dances have given way to the more alluring picnics, rides and motor parties. Many women are going in very earnestly for golf and each day groups of athletic maids and matrons with brightly-hued sweaters and smart golf clothes add to the attractiveness of the links.

With the wedding season at its height, gala fetes for the engaged couples are increasing in a number of the brides defying the traditions of their grandmothers, chose a May day for their nuptials. Several of the more conventional decided on the last day of April for their wedding day, and a bride in one of the larger cities departed from the time-honored white satin bridal robe, and wore the palest shade of pink satin, completely veiled with handsome white lace.

Among the delightful affairs of the week were the picnic given by Miss Mildred Honeyman Tuesday; the large reception given by Mrs. C. B. Williams announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Louise Williams on Thursday; the card party for which Mrs. Samuel C. Kerr was hostess Friday afternoon, and the informal dance with Miss Isabella Gault hostess Friday evening.

The first week of May promises to be a gay one. Mrs. Joseph X. Teal has cards out for two bridge parties, one Wednesday and one Friday; Mrs. Frederick Alva Jacobs will be hostess Saturday afternoon at a bridge-tee, and Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs will entertain at a card party at their attractive new residence on King street. Mrs. Herbert Holman also has cards out for two affairs this week, one on Wednesday afternoon and a bridge-tee Thursday afternoon. Many other charming affairs will crowd each other during the week.

In honor of the Misses Louise and Helen Woolsey, who were house guests of Miss Isabella Gault last week, Miss Mildred Honeyman entertained informally with a motor picnic at the Honeyman farm near Scappoose Tuesday. Additional guests were: Miss Gault, Mrs. David C. Lewis, Miss Alice Carey, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Clara Weidner, Miss Hazel Crocker, Miss Barbara MacKenzie, Miss Billy Wheeler and Miss Grace Honeyman.

The Misses Woolsey left Wednesday morning for Tacoma, which will sail for Fort Seward, Alaska, this week to be the guests of their sister.

On today's page is reproduced a portrait of Mrs. David Lawlor McCarrison (Miss Nellie Williams), whose wedding took place Monday, April 14, at Hotel Empress, Victoria, B. C. The wedding had been scheduled for March 21 and Miss Williams, accompanied by friends from Portland, met the steamer on which the bridegroom was due to arrive at Vancouver, B. C., March 30.

Miss Louise Norton Williams, whose engagement was announced Thursday.

British service, being Commissioner of Police in India. The distinguished Englishman is keenly interested in the political situation in this country and the great activities in the Canal Zone. Both he and his bride, who are at present at Hotel Portland, are planning a tour of the United States via the Yosemite Valley, where they will pass much of their time before leaving for their home in England.

Many delightful affairs are being given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. McCarrison, who will remain in Portland about a week longer.

The Portland Art Club was delightfully entertained at an al fresco tea Friday at the attractive home of Mrs. F. R. Behrens, on Riverside. The gardens were the source of much admiration and made a charming background for the smart toilettes worn by the guests who took advantage of the balmy weather and passed the afternoon out of doors.

Marion F. Dolph, Miss Etta Morris, Mrs. Charles E. Cheney, Mrs. J. Andre Foulhoux, Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. George K. Wentworth, Jr., Mrs. David T. Honeyman.

Later in the afternoon a few additional guests called at tea-time, including Mrs. Ralph H. Jenkins, Miss Norris, Mrs. Fletcher Linn and Mrs. James T. Gray.

The engagement of Miss Adelaide E. McCune to Lawrence R. Hickam has just been announced by the bride elect's mother, Mrs. F. W. McCune.

Miss McCune is a charming young woman and popular in her set. She is a graduate of St. Helen's Hall and has traveled extensively.

Mr. Hickam is affiliated with the traffic department of the Seattle, Portland & Spokane. The wedding will take place in June.

One of the prettiest weddings of the Spring season was that of Miss Ruth Elizabeth Stelwer and Earl Cornelius Latourette, which took place Wednesday, April 30, at Calvary Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. E. S. Bollinger, in the presence of about 300 friends and relatives.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Catherine Ward Cope sang "Ave Maria," accompanied by Miss Carmel Sullivan on the harp. The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Leland Stelwer, who gave her into the keeping of the bridegroom. She was an unusually pretty bride, dressed in white satin, trimmed with rare lace. Her full-length veil of silk net and lace was fashioned in a Juliet cap, and was caught with a tiny wreath of white rosebuds. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Miss Mary Stelwer was maid of honor and wore a lavender satin gown and carried a shower of lavender sweet peas. Miss Susan Stelwer, Miss Helen Krauss, Miss Edith Sheehy and Miss Jess Beckwith, the four bridesmaids, whose gowns were vastly admired, wore Frenchy creations of satin and chiffon, worn with quaint poke bonnets. Misses Stelwer and Beckwith were in pink flowered chiffon over pink satin; they carried baskets of pink sweet peas and ferns. Misses Krauss and Sheehy wore pastel blue flowered chiffon over self-toned satin and carried bouquets of sweet peas of a harmonizing shade.

John R. Latourette, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the guests were ushered by Jack Hickson, Sendal Wait, William Hueener and Chester Moore.

After the ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Winlock W. Stelwer, who received with the bridal party. Mrs. Stelwer was distinguished in a gown of silver gray charmeuse. Miss C. D. Latourette, mother of the bridegroom, also received with the bridal party, and was attractively gowned in gold-toned charmeuse with a white collar.

Following the wedding supper, the bride presented her bouquet to her sister, Miss Susan Stelwer, announcing her engagement to William Lester Reinhardt.

The bride is one of the most attractive and charming girls in society, and is a graduate of Portland Academy, later finishing at Miss Nichols' school in Boston. She is also a clever musician. Mr. Latourette is an attorney of Oregon City and a graduate of the University of Oregon. He is also a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

A smart affair of the week was the large reception given by Mrs. C. B. Williams to announce the engagement of her attractive debutante daughter, Miss Louise Williams, to Hubbard Patterson, formerly of Chicago. The Williams residence on Willamette Heights was artistically decorated with great clusters of wild currant and dogwood blossoms in the drawing-rooms and hall. Killarney roses and maidenhair ferns adorned the tea table, at which Mrs. Robert Parkinson, Mrs. A. R. Harris, Mrs. Robert Birdsell and Mrs. J. S. Martin presided. They were assisted by Mrs. J. D. Warren, Mrs. Lynn Coover, Mrs. Ned Weeks and Miss Leonide Fleury.

About 200 guests called between the hours of 3 to 5. The hostess was further assisted by Mrs. Guy M. Standifer, Mrs. Walter H. Gerin, Miss Louise Bradley, Miss Ruby Orlinton, Miss Gretchen Klosterman, Miss Mary Long and Miss Marjorie Forbie.

Mrs. Williams wore a handsome creation of black satin and lace, embellished with jet motifs. Miss Williams, who is a charming Southern girl, was attractive in a gown of pastel yellow charmeuse veiled with shadow lace. She carried an arm bouquet of Richmond roses.

Miss Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Williams and a sister of Bennett Williams. Mr. Williams is connected with an old Kentucky family, and before coming to Portland lived in the Southern state. The bridegroom is a graduate of Belmont College, of Nashville, Tenn., and possesses the beauty and charm for which the Kentucky women are noted.

THE EASTERN'S

garments are seen everywhere in Portland, and recognized wherever seen!

"Why, here's a Coat that I saw worn so much in New York," exclaimed one lady yesterday who had just returned from the East. "The one you have is the first I've seen in Portland." Nothing remarkable about this, for The Eastern's New York buyer has instructions to send us the smartest Fifth Avenue and Broadway styles, as quickly as they are brought out.
