

Panama Canal in Operation! That's the attraction extraordinary that awaits you here tomorrow in our Fifth Floor Department. Every man, woman and child in the city should see this miniature working model of the Panama Canal and Canal Zone. In actual operation you'll see the locks and ships going from the Atlantic to the Pacific—a distance of 41½ miles, through the Panama Canal. The benefit to be derived by the Pacific Coast and its people through the completion of this marvelous engineering feat is inestimable. A special lecturer intimately familiar with the Panama Canal and its surroundings is here to tell you the wonders of this vast enterprise.
