

COLLEGIATE YEAR ENDS AT EUGENE

With Exodus of Regular Students Commences Arrival of Summer Attendants.

CLASS OF 200 EXPECTED

Education, Increase of Ministerial Efficiency and Betterment of Rural School Conditions to Be Specially Considered.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, June 7.—(Special.)—Exit the regular collegiate year at the University of Oregon, with the commencement examinations, the festivities of commencement time and the exodus of the students to their summer occupations. Enter the University Summer School, with its programme of lectures by many eminent savants of the country and its influx of mature students from all parts of the state.

The coming session of the Summer school is the ninth. Each year has seen an increase in the strength of the faculty and enrollment of students, and the expectation of President Campbell and Dr. Joseph Schaefer, the director, that the growth will be continued and that the coming session will surpass its predecessors, promises to be realized. Registrar Tiffany has received sufficient inquiries to augur a larger enrollment than that of last year.

Enrollment of 200 Expected.

It is estimated that this enrollment will not fall short of 200, whereas the total for last summer was 171. This was a gain of 23 over the 1911 figures. The last regular university classes for the year were held yesterday and the undergraduates are preparing for the inauguration of next week. Many of them will leave as soon as they have finished their latest examinations. The commencement exercises, beginning June 14 and closing June 18, will, however, detain a large number of the students, in addition to attracting the usual number of visitors.

Summer school will open June 23 and close August 1, leaving an interval of only ten days between the close of the collegiate year and the opening of the special session. Many students who have fallen behind in their work during this or past semesters will make the Summer session an asylum in which to repair their fortunes. The majority of the Summer student body, however, will consist of mature men and women—teachers and those engaged in other professions and in business.

Three special conferences are planned by the Summer school management for the week beginning July 21. They will be on the subjects of education, the increasing of ministerial efficiency and the betterment of rural school conditions, respectively.

A special feature, introduced this year for the first time, is the consideration of practical problems of civic life, such as the relation of the individual to society, social redemption, the history and civil government of Oregon, civic biology, good roads and education with a view to better citizenship.

TRI-COUNTY FAIR IS DATED

Exposition Will Be Held at Condon, Or., October 1, 2 and 3.

CONDON, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—The Tri-County Fair will be held in Condon this fall on October 1, 2 and 3, according to the decision of the executive committee in a special meeting held Tuesday night. The Tri-County Fair is to be a permanent yearly event in Condon henceforth and the directors have decided to purchase the large grandstand, chicken coops, etc., from the Mayville Fair Association, which disbanded recently to join Condon in making the Tri-County Fair a big success.

The local fair grounds, which were improved last year for the first Tri-County Fair, will still be better improved through the purchase from Mayville.

DR. WRIGHT LAID TO REST

Funeral of Daughter of Lewis Van Vleet Largely Attended.

CAMAS, Wash., June 7.—(Special.)—By the death of Dr. Louis V. Wright by accident May 30 this community lost one of its most valuable members. As a physician his practice extended over a large territory. He took an active part in public affairs and was always ready to work for the uplift of this community.

Dr. Wright was a member of the Board of Education and the Board of Health for many years and always performed the duties of these important positions in an unselfish spirit. She was the daughter of Lewis Van Vleet, a pioneer of Clark County. The large attendance at the funeral testified to her worth and how keenly her loss is felt.

BRIDE BELIEVED MURDERED

Husband of Slain Astoria Woman Confused in Stories, Charge.

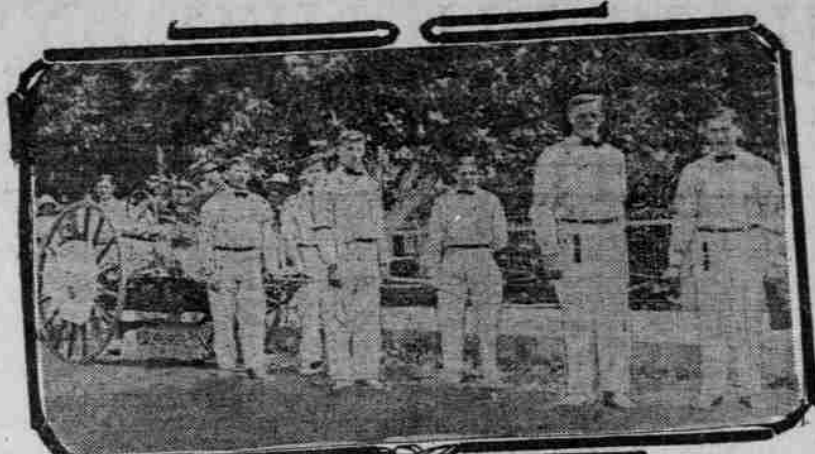

ASTORIA, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—Officers who are investigating the death of Mrs. Ruth Bennett Fernandez, bride of three months, who died Friday night from a stab wound, declare today that her husband, Fernando F. Fernandez, who is being held pending the coroner's inquest Monday, has told several conflicting stories regarding the tragedy. The officers suspect murder. The husband and wife both declared the wound was self-inflicted, but the woman continually begged that her life be saved.

JETTY MAY BE EXTENDED

Engineers to Survey Gray's Harbor Bar to Determine Advisability.

HOQUIAM, Wash., June 7.—(Special.)—Work of surveying the Gray's Harbor bar in order to determine the advisability of extending the north jetty, now being constructed, a distance of about one mile, is to be begun by United States engineers at once. The work will require at least one month and possibly considerably longer. Captain Erenbach, assistant to Major J. C. Cavanaugh in the Seattle office of the engineering corps, will be in charge of the work, assisted by H. J. M. Baker, junior engineer. They will have a crew of six or eight men and will work from a harbor tug.

While the two jetties have deepened the local bar considerably, it is apparent the north jetty should be extended about a mile in order to reach the crest of the bar and accomplish the best results. If surveys can be made and a continuing appropriation secured for the work this year, a great saving will be made, as the loss would be heavy if work on the bar was allowed to stop for a year. The north jetty, when completed according to present plans, will be approximately 29,000 feet in length from the inner end.

GRADUATES GIVE PLEDGE

McMINNVILLE STUDENTS PROMISE TO REPAY PARENTS.

Superintendent L. R. Ackerman Receives Hearty Reception in Town Where He Began Career.

McMINNVILLE, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—Perhaps Superintendent L. R. Ackerman has never received a more hearty welcome in his life than he received in McMinnville last night when he addressed the graduating class of the McMinnville High School. Mr. Ackerman began his work as an educator in this town, coming here directly from his graduation at the University of Oregon to take charge of the schools about 13 years ago. McMinnville people have always retained a deep interest in his career.

The keynote of his speech was the importance of the habits and virtues necessary for developing the highest type of men and women. Not how well the student fitted for life should be the questions asked of graduates, he said. The habits of industry, Mr. Ackerman continued, were two of the most vital importance in determining the usefulness and happiness of men and women, and he paid a high tribute to the School Board of McMinnville for the work which is being done in the local schools along industrial lines.

A pretty part of the exercises was the raising of the 33 graduates in response to a request of their valedictorian, Homer Stewart, to take a solemn pledge to repay, by their manner of life, all that had been done by their parents, community and the state to make their graduation possible. The eyes of many of the class were dim when Mr. Ackerman referred to this part of the ceremony and feelingly reminded them of the sacrifice which had been made by many of their parents to give them a high school education. "The time to repay this sacrifice," said the speaker, "is not 10 or 15 years from now, but today."

This is the largest class yet graduated from the local high school, which has increased its enrollment from 75 to 225 in the years.

BAYOCEAN DOES PAVING

Principal Streets of Ocean Resort Are Improved.

BAYOCEAN, Or., June 7.—(Special.)—The street paving is progressing rapidly. About one mile of street paving is now completed, principally on High and Laurel streets. The street in front of Hotel Bayocean, connecting Twelfth avenue and High Terrace, is now paved, which gives an easy grade to the hotel both from the ocean and bay. In a few days the paving of Eleventh avenue extending through the Gorge from the ocean beach to the bay beach will be finished. The paving operations will then work south on Bay boulevard and Clarke street.

The paving is a marked improvement and Bayocean has the distinction of being one of only the few beach resorts having this class of streets.

Nels Peterson, of Wisconsin, Succeeds Professor R. G. White. New Teachers Added.

NYSSA, Or., June 8.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises of the Nyssa High School were held in the opera-house last week. The baccalaureate sermon was preached in the Presbyterian Church by Rev. Ward W. McHenry, of Baker.

Nine young people received diplomas. The programme consisted of the class day exercises and the awarding of diplomas to the high school and eighth grade pupils. Miss Edna Blodgett gave the salutatory; John McDonald, the history; Donald MacDonald, the poem; Will Morey, the oration; Virginia Forbes, the advice; Audrey Ward, the lies; Georgia Brown, the prophecy; Harry Goshert, the will, and Marion MacDonald, the valedictory. The class paid a tribute to the retiring principal.

Eighth grade diplomas were presented to Clara Canham, Reuben Danielson, Theodora Blodgett, Norvell Thompson, Louise Robertson and Sylvester Morris. Eight students had perfect attendance record for the year and were awarded certificates of honor.

The entire staff of teachers has been re-elected except the principal of the high school, Professor R. G. White. After a service of three years Mr.

The largest single application is that of Mrs. Edna Blodgett, who was Sheriff August Singler, who was killed a few months ago by a boy bandit, and mother of eight children.

County Judge Yelle is making an investigation of each case to determine whether or not they deserve recognition.

The applicants are: Maggie Evans, Medford, $42.50; Lucy May Davis, Medford, $25; Mary E. Sayne, Medford, $25; Jessie McClelland, Gold Hill, $10; Nettie Green, Central Point, $22.50; Marie Raymond, Medford, $17.50; Minnie Kimball, Medford, $10; Carrie Bell Leavenworth, Jacksonville, $17.50; Linda Noll, Talent, $10; Maude Philbrook, Medford, $17.50; Mary J. Stinger, Jacksonville, $17.50; Mary Smith, Ashland, $17.50; Minnie M. Parlow, Ashland, $17.50; Tillie J. Crosby, Ashland, $17.50; Lydia Irish, Ashland, $17.50; Catherine E. Silver, Ashland, $17.50; Mary A. Boke, Butte Falls, $8; Laura E. Stewart, Butte Falls, $5.

The parade took place shortly after 11 o'clock. It was headed by an automobile in which were seated Mayor Shattuck, Recorder Roberts, Marshal Gullikson and members of the town council. Immediately following it came the Sandy band of 23 pieces and a chemical auto truck from the Portland department.

Another feature was a cart in which four children, carrying a mammoth fire extinguisher, rode. Then came the Lents chemical with the contesting team from that place, and lastly the four other companies with their machines and the girls' teams that were later to appear in a contest at the fair grounds.

In the girls' race each team ran the 100 yards in 14 seconds flat. It was decided to run it over and out the distance down to 75 yards. The Gresham girls won in 12-5 seconds.

The run against time for the companies, 250 yards and make couplings, was made by the Gresham team in 38 seconds, by Lents in 42 seconds. A difference in methods of ladder climbing probably lost Gresham the first prize in that event. In the absence of fixed rules the decision was not contested. A most pleasant feature of the tournament was the music furnished by the Sandy band.

The tournament was a success in every particular and much credit is given those who have made application for pensions under the law recently passed by the Legislature are successful the state will expend $510 a month in this county alone.
