'CURE' IS DEFENDED

Bias of Friedmann Critic Is Asserted.

OTHER DISCOVERIES CITED

Charles H. Lehman Declares German Physician Much Wronged Man; Urges Fair Play in Hope That Success May Result.

PORTLAND, June 14.—(To the Editor.)—Your editorial in today's Oregonian, where it is based upon a complete and accurate knowledge of the facts, will not be severe enough in condemnation of Dr. Franz Friedmann and his associates who control the right for the administration of his serum in the United States. However, you have allowed your judgment to be led astray by the reports of doctors who have opposed the Friedmann cure since its announcement. To understand the situation thoroughly we must remember that Friedmann is not some young doctor without experience or prestige, who has come out as Dr. Cook did, and announced an important discovery without proof or data, save his own word.

Friedmann has been recognized as an authority on tuberculosis in Germany for many years. Ten years ago, his discoveries and experiments attracted world wide attention to him, and from skeptical, doubtful opponents of his views, men such as Professor Schleich, Professor Ehrlich, Hamand and others have rallied to his cause.

Friedmann is today the eyes of the medical fraternity is the fact that he has chosen to restrict the administration of his vaccine through authorized institutes only.

Reasons Declared Valid.

That his reasons for this are good and for the best interests of the public will be readily apparent upon a careful consideration of the experience of other great discoveries in the science of curing the ill and the prevention of disease.

Jenner for 10 years was discredited, abused and mistreated far worse than Friedmann is today.

The leading hospitals in London, the physician to the queen, discoverers of local anesthesia, who persecuted him, and many times Jenner was at the doors of want owing to the attitude of the medical profession.

Today the world recognizes in Jenner's vaccine one of the greatest boons to mankind ever given by science.

Professor Schleich, the discoverer of local anesthesia, was shown the door by over 800 surgeons; the world ever today his discovery is in use throughout the world.

Professor Schleich, who is one of Friedmann's staunchest supporters, called Dr. Friedmann the other day as follows:

"Dr. Friedmann, New York—Keep up courage, the truth of the eminently curative properties of your remedy is bound to see the light of day. Physicians here also cannot understand why it cannot be given to everyone, which on account of the nature of the remedy, living bacilli, and the necessary experience in handling the same, is impossible. Physicians here who have investigated cases are on your side,

Hundreds of patients idealize you as the savior. Have requested Professor Ehrlich to cable you his belief in the harmlessness of your remedy, even on guinea pigs, which he expressed to me. Only courage, I have gone through the same ordeal 30 years ago with my invention of local anesthesia, when 800 surgeons showed me the door and would not listen. Today every surgeon in the world uses my method, therefore keep up courage. True to you.

"PROFESSOR SCHLEICH."

"Quacks" Declared Dangerous.

Professor Ehrlich is the discoverer of Salvarsan, the great specific for certain forms of blood diseases. He discovered it after 696 separate experiments, and gave to the world the result of his work. What happened immediately thereafter? In all parts of the country the newspapers were full of advertisements of quacks, claiming to administer 606, and the ruin they wrought among the suffering men thus brought into their tolls cannot be estimated.

Professor Ehrlich in a recent announcement expressed his regret that he did not restrict his discovery as Friedmann has done and thus assure to the suffering the administration of his proper treatment in the proper cases.

Do not make the mistake of assuming that the Friedmann vaccine has proved unsuccessful. I have in my possession 50 affidavits made by patients, the past two weeks, signed by patients, physicians and relatives, all certifying to the wonderful efficacy of the Friedmann cure.

Last week in Providence, R. I., under the co-operation of the State Board of Health and after a rigid investigation by the Governor and staff, the Friedmann Institute of Rhode Island was formally incorporated. All of the 37 patients treated in Providence have shown splendid improvement. What good the Friedmann cure is doing is ignored by the critics; what negative results shows are blazoned far and wide as proof of its failure.

As an answer to the charge of commercialism, is not every doctor who charges a fee commercial? How about hospitals, sanitariums, etc.? All commercial if Friedmann is.

Government Report Cited.

But remember Friedmann stipulated that the poor shall be treated free in all Friedmann institutes that does not smack of commercialism, does it? The United States Government preliminary report says "that the Friedmann cure has undoubtedly therapeutic value, although the tests do not warrant the present conclusion that it is a specific."

Friedmann is a much wronged and much misunderstood man. He has jealously guarded the secret of his discovery. He has arranged to profit financially from the years he has devoted to his science, and now that the cup of success seems within his grasp, he is assailed from all sides by men who, not having the power of original investigation and decry and belittle all new ideas of progress.

Friedmann has supplied the New York Board of Health with his vaccine for the strength tests. He comes to America with a message of hope for the suffering, and if there is any reason for this hope let us see it through.

We who are in a position to know of the merits of the Friedmann vaccine and of the actual condition of the patients to whom it has been administered in this country as well as in Europe, ask only for fair play. If Friedmann by his vaccine cannot cure all nor half, but only one in 10, then will his mission here have been accomplished and the world made better for his having labored.

WOMAN WINS POINT

Demurrer to Will Suit Against Brother Overruled.

MYERS CASE TO BE TRIED

Attorney for Mrs. Georgia Frances Stevens Expresses Confidence of Getting Judgment for Half of $500,000 Estate.

Mrs. Georgia Frances Stevens won in Circuit Judge Morrow's court yesterday the first round of her second legal fight to break the will of George T. Myers, her father, by which she was left only $20,000 and the balance of an estate valued in excess of $500,000 was to go to her brother, George T. Myers, Jr. Judge Morrow overruled a demurrer to her complaint against her brother, executor of the will, which means that she has won in the lower court as far as the law is concerned.

"Judge Morrow's decision in effect is that if she can prove the allegations of her complaint she may have judgment for half the value of the estate," said L. R. Webster, of Emmons & Webster, attorneys for Mrs. Stevens, last night. "In our complaint we assert that there was an agreement between Mr. and Mrs. Myers by which the one who died first was to leave everything to the other and the last to die was to will the property in equal shares to the two children, Mrs. Stevens and George T. Myers, Jr."

"We are able to prove by abundant documentary and oral evidence that such a contract really existed and that Mrs. Myers carried out her part of it while Mr. Myers failed to do so. Our position on the law was that, having accepted his wife's property under such conditions, Mr. Myers could not do other than will it as per the agreement and in this view the court has sustained us. It now is merely a matter of proof. Of course we probably will have to run the gauntlet of the Supreme Court, but I am confident that Judge Morrow will be sustained there."

Mrs. Stevens first sought to invalidate her father's will on the ground that at the time he executed it he was possessed of an unreasonable and unjust prejudice against her. She won in the Probate and Circuit Courts, but lost in the Supreme Court. The evidence in this case showed that Mr. Myers had harbored the idea that unskillful medical treatment had contributed to Mrs. Myers' death and that he was angry at his daughter because she discouraged the idea.

When the estate was closed up last year George T. Myers, Jr., paid into the County Clerk for the benefit of his sister $20,000, her share under the will she refused to accept and the money is still in a bank to the credit of the County Clerk as a trust fund.

4000 WANT MRS. KERR

Candidate Appointed Unanimously 4 Months Ago.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS 4 MEN

Woman Member Says That It Is as Mother of Two Children, Both in Grade Schools, That She Wishes to Serve.

Petitions bearing over 4000 signatures presented to Mrs. James B. Kerr, asking her to offer herself as a candidate at the election tomorrow afternoon for School Director, were put on a table in causing her to announce her candidacy.

Mrs. Kerr was appointed to the Board of Education four months ago by unanimous vote of the board and entered that body without any pledge whatsoever.

"Because she is a woman, she declares, she has been able to devote half her time every day to school inspection."

"It is principally as the mother of two children, both of whom are in the grade schools, that I realized the urgent necessity of having a woman on the board," said Mrs. Kerr. "The education of children is one of those features of our life that woman seems to have taken hold of, due perhaps to her peculiar fitness, and I believe that it is an absolute essential that a mother should be on the board."

"We now have four business men on the board, men of capital standing, but it stands to reason that as busy men they cannot devote that personal care and time to the inside work of the schools that a woman can."

"Public interest is now awakened in the schools and I think that this election has accomplished an important work in arousing this interest."

Mrs. Kerr believes that the report of the bureau of survey, ordered by the taxpayers, which is now completed, will be of invaluable aid.

"Our new superintendent, Mr. Alderman," she went on, "is a progressive man of liberal ideas; many changes will be made to conform our present system with his ideas, but he shall have my most enthusiastic support. Certainly he should have the co-operation of everyone connected with the schools, School Board, assistant superintendents, principals, teachers and parents."

Mrs. Kerr made the following statement regarding her plans:

"I do not believe politics or promises have any place in school elections. Teachers should be appointed on merit and efficiency should be the test. To make efficiency in a teacher, more than mere normal or university education is necessary. Personality, love for the work and willingness to progress as times and conditions change are most important. A few letters attached to a name do not necessarily make an efficient teacher, but the broader education one has, the better chance he has to become efficient."

"I am fully in sympathy with the work now under way with the School Board to make our schoolhouses and grounds available for public use all the year round."

"In conjunction with the Park Board arrangements have already been made to try the experiment in two of our buildings, namely, the new Falling

LOAN ARRANGED FOR

Pennell's Lithographs of Panama Canal to Be Exhibited.

ROMAN REMAINS SHOWN

Tropical Landscapes, Towns and Villages, Great Gates and Machinery Are Among Pictures in Novel Collection.

BY LILLIAN TINGLE.

In connection with the exhibition of the Pacific Coast Architectural League the Portland Art Association has arranged for a loan of the collection of the series The Lithographs of Panama Canal by Joseph Pennell and about 40 etchings of antique architecture outlined with strange shaped trees, bridges like those of Hiroshige, connecting island with island or with the mainland, the apothecaries of the "Wonder of Work," the Spillway of the Dam, a semicircle of cyclopean concrete, backed by a ridge finer than Hokusai ever imagined, yet built to carry the huge engines that drag long trams of dirt to make the dam—all this the work of my countrymen, and they so proud of the work!

These are a few of the impressions Pennell has tried to convey in his lithographs. Some show the tropical landscape, towns and native houses, others the great gates and machinery, with a touch of "human interest" as where, instead of their lawful burdens, the great cranes swing a load of hungry men up from the depths to their dinner.

Contrasted with these busy scenes are the calm productions of Piranesi's need, the impressions of the English classical revival in the 18th century, his influence being shown not only in the buildings of that time, but also in furnishings and house articles, particularly the work of the Adam brothers.

In the making of his drawings, after his first sketch, Piranesi frequently would visit the ruins by moonlight in order to impress himself with the structure and bulk of these huge structures, temples, arches and bridges of the past; and this sense of mass and of romance is felt by the observer in his work.

Among the prints shown in this collection are the exterior and interior of the Pantheon, the Colosseum, several views of the Forum and St. Peter's, both within and without; the castle of St. Angelo, the theater of Marcellus, the pyramid of Cestius, the arches of Constantine, of Septimius Severus and of Titus, Trajan's Column, the Trevi fountain and other famous remains of ancient Rome.

Medford Men Commemorate Day When D. P. Andrus and Jacob Clippel Marched Together in the Memorial Day Parade.

MEDFORD, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—A friendship starting at the time of the Civil War and lasting over half a century was fittingly celebrated in Medford Decoration day when D. P. Andrus and Jacob Clippel marched together in the Memorial day parade. In 1862 at the age of 18 Mr. Andrus enlisted in the Twenty-second Michigan and in 1861 Mr. Clippel was the first man in Illinois to enlist when President Lincoln called for volunteers. His regiment was the Seventh Illinois. Both men fought through the war and formed a friendship which brought them together to Oregon 35 years ago and now at 63 and 74 years of age, respectively, finds them engaged as partners in the Southern Oregon Realty Company.

REWARD OFFERED TO PROTECT FISH

Medford Men Commemorate Day When D. P. Andrus and Jacob Clippel Marched Together in the Memorial Day Parade.

MEDFORD, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—The Rogue River Fish Protective Association of Medford has offered $200 reward for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons for killing fish in Rogue River by dynamite. A large number of fish have been secured in this way recently and the local fishermen are determined to stamp it out. As a special inducement one-half of the fine, which would range from $200 to $300, will go to the informer.
