ROSARIANS FETED BY SALEM HOSTS

With Elks' Band Guests of Cherrians at Fair.

Streets and Record-Breaking Attendance Reported.

SALEM, Or., July 5,-(Special.)-More than 200 Portland Rosarians and embers of their families were entertained here today by the Charrians, Elks' Lodge and commercial organigations. It was the closing day, of Salem's eighth annual Cherry Fair, and the crowd from morning until late at night was the largest in the history of the city.

Headed by the Elks' band, the Port-Headed by the Elks' band, the Portlanders, on a special train, arrived in frost of the Courthouse at 2:30 F. M. After concerts by two local bands, the visiting band played, and then the Rosarians marched to the steps of the Courthouse, where the king of the carnival, Hal D. Patton, and the queen sat with her maids. sat with her maids.

Abdication Pleases Subjects.

The king welcomed the visitors to the city, presenting Dr. E. A. Pierce, leader of the Rosarians, with a large wooden key to the city. His majesty provoked long applause and laughter from the large crowds gathered on the lawn and in the streets, for as Mr. Pierce knelt before the king he was stripped of his hat and coat, and the king placed his crown on Dr. Pierce, assisted him in arranging his mask and dressed the visitor in his majesty's the record on this coast.

Fifteen hundred persons gathered to see the drill and cheered the lifesavers, who worked almost to exhaustion, in keeping the lines with breeches buoy taut, as the strain caused the Ahwaneda to drag its anchor. Dr. Walter Berry, dressed as a woman, was brought ashore under these trying conditions. Perhaps no one enjoyed Gustafson's feat more than his own men, who congratulated him. A capsize drill concluded the lifesavers' entertainment.

Newport's two-day celebration ended with a carnival of illuminated ships. Miss Bethel Rayl, as Queen, occupied the royal barge. The Siletz Indians, many of Linn's octogenarians, gave their feather dance on Main street in front of the Abbey House. A grand ball followed the entertainment.
