WILSON QUOTED FOR OPPOSING CAUCUS

Watson of Indiana Reads From President's Declaration in "Our New Freedom."

NEW METHOD ATTACKED

Greater Secrecy in Making Tariff Never Observed Than Marked Underwood Bill, Ohio Republicans Are Told.

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—Business interests have a right to be represented at Washington, but would not need to maintain a lobby there if the Tariff Board were kept up, argued ex-Representative Watson, of Indiana, the principal speaker at today's annual outing of the Buckeye Republican Club. He referred to the lobby investigation by the Senate committee, before which he will be a witness next week by his own request. He did not mention Colonel Mulhall, whose published correspondence referred to him.

"I plead for business to go on and do business in this country," he said. "There had to be a shaking up. Roosevelt came along at the right time. He was a castor oil statesman. But he wanted the Nation to take castor oil all the time. But now give honest business a chance.

"Soak Him" Written on Temple.

"Don't keep hammering it continuously. The present tendency is iconoclastic to smash something. Over the American temple is written today, 'Soak him.' I am being investigated myself. That is a personal matter. I didn't do anything wrong.

"American business has a right to be represented at Washington—honestly represented," he said. "Men wouldn't need to go to Washington to give some data for making schedules if a tariff board were kept at work. I never knew a corrupt man in Congress or one who sold or would sell his vote for money."

He attacked the Democratic method of making a tariff bill by caucus decree.

Tariff Made Secretly.

"President Wilson at Indianapolis in the first speech of his tour, said there was no necessity for secrecy in Congressional discussion," said Watson. "Yet there was never such secrecy in making a tariff bill as in the case of the Underwood bill, now the Simmons bill. In President Wilson's book, 'Our New Freedom,' page 112, he says, 'There is no excuse for the caucus in Congress.' Yet for the first time in the history of tariff making a party caucus has been called forcibly to bind every Senator to vote for the tariff bill, just as it comes from the committee, without change or amendment. Theory at Princeton is one thing and practice at Washington is another thing."

SPENDTHRIFT CHIDES SIRE

French Millionaire Reproached by Son for Restraint.

PARIS, July 12. — (Special.) — An amusing, though unfilial series of reproaches have been directed against M. Jules Alexandre Duval, the millionaire proprietor of the Duval restaurants in Paris, by his son, M. Pierre Duval.

M. Duval is trying to limit this young man's opportunity for running up debts by obtaining a restraining order of the court against him. By the time he was 18, young Pierre Duval had accumulated $4000 worth of liabilities. He then entered a cavalry regiment for his term of military service, and, despite an allowance of $20 a week from home, he soon added another $4000 to the total. His father then obtained the transfer of his son to an Algerian battalion, but a couple of thousand dollars were soon owing there, and in addition Pierre borrowed $60 from a shoemaker of the regiment.

When his son returned to France the restaurant proprietor advertised in the newspapers that he would not be responsible for further debts. The young man replied by sending to his father a postcard bearing a lifelike sketch of himself, addressed "Au gentilhomme consommé"—a French pun which may be roughly rendered, "To a broth of a gentleman."

The message read, "Many thanks for the little advertisement. From a scion of Godfrey de Bouillon—the brilliant French medieval knight, whose surname happens to be the title of the first course on the bills of fare of the Restaurants Duval."

WOMEN ARE VIGILANTES

Watch Kept on Liquor Traffic in County of Roscommon.

BERLIN, July 12. — (Special.) — Prompted by a spirit of emulation, a number of women in the County of Roscommon have started a crusade against the activities of the liquor traffic in that territory.

They have not yet adopted the Amazonian methods of the women of Kansas, but there is no doubt they have gone a long way towards modeling their campaign on the best American lines.

The town of Roscommon has a liquor saloon for every 20 of its adult population, and the women feel that this generous provision of drinking facilities must be reduced before the place can be restored to a normal state of sobriety.

They have therefore constituted themselves a sort of vigilance society, and for the last two or three market days they have paraded the town looking for persons under the influence of drink, whom they promptly hand over on discovery to the nearest policeman. They also mix amongst customers in the saloons, disguised in various ways, and report the smallest breach of the licensing laws to the local judges.

What is most surprising is that many of the wives and daughters of the harassed saloon-keepers have joined these new temperance campaigners. They feared the social ostracism that would follow a refusal to act with the other women more than the remonstrances of their husbands and fathers.

HEAD OF LETTUCE MEASURES 50 INCHES IN CIRCUMFERENCE AND 22 INCHES IN DIAMETER.

GIANT SPECIMEN GROWN BY E. D. DEWEY IN HIS GARDEN AT EAST SEVENTH AND KNOTT STREETS.

A family salad may be made from a single head of the lettuce that E. D. Dewey has growing in his garden at East Seventh and Knott streets. The head shown in the picture measured 50 inches in circumference and was nearly two feet across—22 inches, to be exact, when it was taken from the garden. It grew so fast that its leaves are crisp and tender. It is still a young head and has not sprouted the blossom-stem that indicates lettuce has grown too old to be tender and palatable.

STRIKE IS PUT OFF

Trainmen and Conductors Defer Final Action.

FUTURE COURSE UNDECIDED

Head of Brotherhood Says Leaders Are Uncertain What to Do Today, in View of Conference With Wilson.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Representatives of the 100,000 trainmen and conductors who threatened the Eastern railroads with a strike for a wage increase deferred formal ratification of the recent strike vote at a conference concluded today.

A. B. Garretson, head of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, said tonight the leaders were undecided whether to approve the vote at a meeting to be held tomorrow, in view of the conference called for Monday in Washington to be attended by President Wilson and other Government officials, at which efforts are to be made to avert an industrial conflict.

"Frankly, we don't know tonight what action we shall take tomorrow," Mr. Garretson said. "It is possible we will ratify the strike vote then, but there is nothing certain about it."

NAMES OF CONFEREES GIVEN

Railroads and Unions to Send Delegates to White House.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary of Labor Wilson tonight made public the names of the representatives of the railroads and of railroad employes who will confer with President Wilson, the Secretary of Labor and leaders in Congress in an effort to arrange a common ground on which the Government, the railways and the unions of railway workers can meet for the settlement of future wage troubles.

Representing the railroads will be Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio; George W. Stevens, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio, and Frank Trumbull, chairman of its executive board, and W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central.

Representatives of the employes will be Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. S. Carter, of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, and possibly A. B. Garretson, of the order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Senator Newlands, chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee; Representative Clayton, chairman of the House judiciary committee; Representative Mann, Republican leader of the House; President Seth Low and Chairman Easley, of the executive council of the National Civic Federation, also have signed acceptances of the President's invitation.

FARMERS OPERATE STORE

Co-operative Establishment Is Organized at Bickleton.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., July 12.—(Special.)—Eastern Klickitat farmers have started a co-operative general merchandise store at Bickleton. An experienced man will be employed to manage the business, and the concern has a cash capital of $10,000, for which seven shares were issued at $500 each and the balance for $100 each.

The plan is to sell all goods for cash only at regular retail prices. At the end of the year, after all expenses have been paid and 8 per cent on the money invested, any remaining profits will be distributed pro rata among the farmers holding stock in the concern, according to the amount of merchandise each one has purchased during the year.

McDonald Claims Seat in House.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—William J. McDonald, Progressive, of Michigan, today filed a brief with the House formally claiming the seat for the Twelfth District of Michigan. H. Olin Young, who held the seat, resigned. The House is expected to act soon in McDonald's favor.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., July 12.—(Special.)—One of the fastest teams in the Willamette Valley is the Lorane aggregation, composed of farmer boys who got their first practice by throwing potatoes and apples at one another. Hardness of sinew and soundness of breath developed in following the plow and the cultivator have stood them in good stead in many a hard tussle.

The last decisive victory of this team was at Crow, on the Fourth, when it wrested victory from the fast team at that place by a score of 6 to 3. O. Crowe, who does most of the twirling, is not much on stature, but he is there with the goods and has unusual support.

OFFICES GO BEGGING

Postoffice Department Lacks Applicants to Go 'Round.

EXAMINATION NOT POPULAR

More Than 3600 Offices of Various Grades Still Vacant, and No One Appears at Dates Set for Formal Tests.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 6.—Postoffices are going begging, notwithstanding the general clamor of Democrats for places on the Federal payroll. In Oregon, for example, there are four Presidential postoffices vacant, in face of the fact that the Postmaster-General called on Senators Chamberlain and Lane to submit recommendations. The names of the offices are not made public at this time, but unless the Senators make recommendations soon, the department will take other means of filling them.

In addition to the four Presidential offices, there are 20 fourth-class offices in Oregon unfilled, but these will be filled by competitive examination under the new civil service order, the salaries being between $500 and $1000. Forty-five additional fourth-class offices, where the salaries run less than $500 per annum, are vacant and will be filled by postoffice inspectors.

Other States in Like Condition.

In Washington the situation is equally bad, there being seven Presidential offices and 29 fourth-class offices worth more than $500 a year vacant, while 39 of the smaller offices are to be filled by inspectors. In Idaho one Presidential office is vacant; 30 fourth-class offices of the higher grade, and 35 of the smaller offices are all awaiting appointments.

In the United States at large there are 471 vacant Presidential postmasterships, and there are 1353 fourth-class offices paying from $500 to $1000 where candidates have not appeared, while the total of small offices vacant is 1796. This situation, except as to Presidential postoffices, indicates that candidates who otherwise might apply for these appointments do not care to bother with a civil service examination.

Applicants Do Not Appear.

Of the better grade of fourth-class offices, all are vacant because when examinations were set no one appeared to take the test, and in the smaller offices the vacancies occur largely because those appointed by postoffice inspectors must pass a pro forma examination before they can be commissioned.

It looks, at a glance, as though the Postoffice Department is in for a long siege of embarrassment because of the civil service rule applied to fourth-class postoffices, and the prediction, made when the order became operative, is being fulfilled. People do not want to bother with a civil service examination to get a small-salaried office.

SUIT FILED TO QUIET TITLE

State Is Asked to Clear Ownership to Wagon Road Grants.

Charles Aitschul brought suit yesterday in the Multnomah County Circuit Court against the State of Oregon to quiet title to 107,893 acres of land, part of old wagon road land grants. Through a clerical error this land was conveyed years ago by the Federal Government to the State of Oregon instead of to the Willamette Valley & Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Company, which was to receive it in consideration for building a wagon road across the southern counties of the state.

The tract consisted originally of 876,480 acres, covered by 23 patents. Of these, No. 1, was issued erroneously, the others being issued directly to the company. The relief sought by Mr. Aitschul is that the state be decreed to have held the land in trust for the company.

Rivers to Be Surveyed.

SALEM, Or., July 11.—(Special.)—Extensive surveys of rivers in the state to determine water power possibilities will be made this Summer by the state and Federal Government acting in conjunction. R. L. Harrison, a Government engineer, went to Cazadero to begin the survey of the Clackamas River. The maps will be on a scale of two miles to the inch and will show the topography of the country and profiles of the rivers. Other streams to be surveyed are Hood River, Sandy River, Santiam River, McKenzie River and the middle fork of the Willamette River.

PAPER INDUSTRY ANCIENT

English Production Harks Back More Than 500 Years.

LONDON, July 12. — (Special.)—British papermakers who are taking steps to form a federation, control an industry over 500 years old. The first book printed on English paper, "De Proprietatibus Rerum," appeared in 1495, the paper having been made at Hertford by John Tate, who subsequently became Lord Mayor of London. It is of excellent quality, and bears a watermark consisting of an eight-pointed star inclosed in a double circle.

At the end of the book are printed the lines:

"And John Tate the Younger doo make this paper thynne,
That now in our Englysch this boke is printed Inne."

WATER IN BIG DEMAND

STATE ISSUES 114 PERMITS IN QUARTER ENDING JUNE 30.

Sites Granted for Development of 14,000 Horsepower and Irrigation of 54,000 Acres.

SALEM, Or., July 12.—(Special.) State Engineer Lewis during the quarter ending June 30 issued 114 permits for the appropriation of water, 15 being for the construction of reservoirs and the development of 14,000 horsepower. Among the important permits were those issued to C. B. McConnell and Leonard and Emery Cole, of Burns, who plan the reclamation of 54,000 acres of land in Harney and Silver Creek valleys with the waters of Silvies River and Silver Creek. It is proposed to store the water in several large reservoirs on these streams and their territories.

The Teel Irrigation District obtained additional water for its 20,000-acre project near Echo. The Pilot Rock Irrigation Company has obtained a permit to appropriate the waters of Birch Creek for the irrigation of 1900 acres of land in Umatilla County.

Some interesting power filings have been made, among which is the filing of B. T. McBain, of Oregon City, for the development of 12,000 horsepower on the Clackamas River. The Dry Gulch Ditch Company, of Richland, Baker County, has appropriated the waters of Eagle Creek for the development of 1600 horsepower, and B. F. Jones, of Roseburg, contemplates the development of 1000 horsepower with the waters of Siletz River in Lincoln County.

A large percentage of the filings are for the irrigation of a few acres of land on homestead and desert claims. Several small power filings also have been made for the development of power for domestic use.

Under the 15 reservoir permits it is proposed to store 377,487 acre feet of water. The reservoirs will submerge 12,481 acres of land and will cost, according to the estimates submitted, $1,492,600. Seven permits have been issued for hydraulic mining purposes and several for domestic use.
