CHINESE IN MUTINY ON BRITISH VESSEL

Long Voyage Marked by Constant Trouble With Unruly Crew.

WHITE OFFICERS ATTACKED

Algoa, Back From Rotterdam, Has Hard Experience With Sullen Forecastle and Tempests Raging Without.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19 .- (Special.) -With 30 Chinese in almost constant mutiny and having encountered two hurricanes since leaving Rotterdam on May 11, Captain A. Lockett and his eight white officers aboard the British steamer Algon breathed a sigh of relief when the vessel entered the Golden Gate this morning with a large and valuable cargo of general European Twelve days from England the Chiness crew became rebellious, and it was only after a desperate battle, in which the white officers used revol-vers, that they restored order. Chief Engineer John Ross, Second

Chief Engineer John Ross, Second Engineer Robert Mallet and Third Engineer Thomas Kane were attacked in the fireroom by 20 of the mutineers armed with shovels and bars of iron. The chief engineer was nearly killed by a blow from a shovel. He was unconscious for days and is still in a serious condition.

Crew Constantly Troublesome. Cries of the white officers in the hold were heard by Captain Lockett and deck officers, who went to their assistance and, with revolvers, drove the mutineers into the forecastle of the Captain Lockett left here with the Algoa September 26, 1912, with a cargo for Naples. Almost every day during the nine months Captain Lockett and the nine months Captain Lockett and his officers have had trouble with the Chinese crew. The crew that left here became mutinous shortly after leaving this port and finally deserted the ship at Genoa. The skipper was forced to proceed to England, where he shipped another and no better crew of Chinese. The second crew of Chinese behaved well until the vessel was 12 days out, when they became sullen and refused to work.

Constant Vigit Kept. To protect themselves, the white officers were constantly armed and divided day and night watches so that at least six of the eight could be on watch all the time. Several of the supposed ringleaders in the Chinese crew were confined in the brig, but the officers soon discovered that all of the crew were sullen.

their merits.

As the steamship company is responsible for the Chinese crew, it is likely that police protection will be asked for the ship until they can be deported on the first steamer sailing for the Orient. To make matters worse, the Algor ran into ugly weather while the crew was in the most villainous mood and while there was mutiny within the vessel, it was combating a tempest without.

Provisions were telegraphed for to arrive by expressed on every side, and a bigger and a better city will no doubt take the place of the one burned.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., July 19 .-(Special.)—The case of the Willapa Lumber Company and the Siler Mill Company against the Raymond Water Company was heard yesterday and a decision is expected soon. The basis of the case is in the fact that when Raymond was founded the water company offered free water. pany offered free water to all mills that would come there. Lately the water supply has not allowed them to live up to this, and the court declared that the agreement should be considered abrogated.

The two named mill companies, however claim to have a special agreement with the water company because it took over the water works which they had originally built, between them, with the promise to supply the two mills with water for 49 years in re-

It will be operated by a motor of 150-horse power and the pulp motor of 150-horse power and the pulp will be brought by cars on an elevated road from the pile north of the mill building. After being put through the shredder and pulverized, the pulp will be carried by machinery to the pulp chest and later pumped to the beaters.

A number of other improvements are contemplated in the near future but nothing definite has been announced.

Machine No. 8, by way of test made a 24-hour run this week and Superintendent Lamoureaux is greatly pleased with the results. The machine during the test turned out paper at the rate of 581 lineal feet per minute, even though it was at no time speeded to the limit. During the entire 24-hour test, not a single wet-end break occurred.

Now that machine No. 8 is installed and giving satisfaction, there is much speculation as to when No. 9 will be installed. Superintendent Lamoureaux stated that he was not able to say definitely when another machine would be installed, but was sure it would be within the next two years.
