ATHLETIC PROWESS NOT OVERLOOKED IN SCHOOL TRAINING OF NORTHWEST

In Track and Field Sports Preparatory and Finishing Institutions of Learning Now Hold Their Own With the East and Indications Are for Even Greater Activity in Future.

OR many years past the entire Nation has been bowing at the shrine of Pacific Coast college and preparatory athletics, and from present indications the future will see no cessation of the incense-burning, as plans for rehabilitating and improving the athletic departments at the various institutions will attest.

In the Northwest athletics are waxing stronger every year. Departments are becoming more and more systematized; better instructors and coaches are being secured and conditions are being ameliorated.

At the Oregon Agricultural College Dr. E. J. Stewart, an Eastern athletic director of note, has been placed in control of athletic affairs, and already control of athletic affairs, and already his master hand has worked miracles in all branches. The University of Oregon also will have a noted football tutor on the gridiron next fall, Hugo Bezdek, the famous Chicago star. At Willamette University Dr. G. J. Swestland, Jr., still holds over, and the eminent coach is now in the East studying the trans-Mississippi methods.

Other States Advance. In Washington and Idaho similar ad-vancement is noted in all branches of

The University of Washington crew gained lasting fame recently by getting third place in the Intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., defeating several of the crack Eastern eights. Washington also had a good year in Washington also had a good year in football and track, winning both titles in the Northwest.

Johnny Bender is in charge of athletics at Washington State, the famous sprinter, Archie Hahn, at Whitman, and "Pink" Griffith at Idaho.

Pacific University, Whitworth College, McMinnville and a host of other well-known institutions all help swell the advancing tide.

Football, baseball, track, tennis, wrestling, golf, basketball—these are some of the branches of athletics in which the Northwestern college boys are being drilled every season.

At Reed College in Portland intercollegiate contests are taboo, but athletics are on the boom there just the Columbia is Promising.

Columbia Is Promising.

In the preparatory and high schools this same athletic activity is noted. Columbia University had a particularly notable collection of track stars this Spring, winning all the interscholastic meets on the calendar.

In the preparatory football field Washington High, of Portland, had an eleven which ranked with the most formidable in the country. Their overwhelming rout of the Wendell Phillips High, of Chicago, by a margin of over 40 points shows how strong the local school really was.

schools also go in strong for the development of the physical as well as the mental.

the mental.

This is why athletic experts believe that past standards will be lived up to, for it is in the high and preparatory schools that the first lessons in athletics should be assimilated.

OREGON WOMAN PRESIDENT

Luella Clay Carson, Late of U. of O., Now Head of Mills College.

Mills College is the one woman's college on the coast, and its work in all departments is recognized as contributing to high ideals of character, scholarship, culture, and efficiency. Mills College does no preparatory work—is not a "finishing school," but is a standard woman's college ranked by the United States Commissioner of Education in his report of 1910 in division A among the forement in customs and influence.

The course of instruction is directly preparatory to either Stanford Unity preparatory to either Stanford Unity preparatory to californis.

In addition to the efforts which are made to keep the courses up to date and on the highest plane, decided attention is paid to the character development of the boy.

MANY COURSES AT MT. ANGEL

College Established by Benedictine Fathers in 1887 to Reopen.

Since 1887 the college at Mount Angel, which was founded by the Benedictine Fathers, has played an important part in the educational work of the state. The college is situated about five miles from Woodburn, in one of the most attractive sections of the Willamette Valley.

the Willamette Valley.

The courses offered are most comprehensive. Preparatory work, commercial training, classical courses, an academic course, theological and scientific work and many special courses are available to students. The college is authorized to grant the usual academic degrees and honors.

Many social, literary and athletic organizations are maintained in the college and the publications of the students in Mount Angel are rated among the best in the colleges of the Pacific Coast.

Situated near Mount Angel College is the Mount Angel Academy and Normal, conducted by the Benedictine Sisters, a first-class boarding school for girls and young women, offering normal, academic, grammar, commercial, pre-paratory and primary courses, Special courses in art and music are also available. The normal course offers an especially strong preparation for the teaching work in the state leading to the state certificate and life diploma.
