PROMINENT WASHINGTON STATE POLITICIANS BEING GROOMED FOR RACE FOR SENATOR BY THREE PARTIES.

ABOVE, JUDGE STEPHEN J. CHADWICK, DEMOCRAT—BELOW, LEFT, J. A. FALCONER, PROGRESSIVE; RIGHT, M. E. HAY, REPUBLICAN.

JURIST IS GROOMED

Friends Want Chadwick to Run For United States Senate.

MUCH URGING IS NEEDED

Failure to Obtain Federal Judgeship Makes Washington Democrat Shy About Entering Lists.

MOOSE WANT FALCONER.

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 26.—(Special).—Democrats who have been casting about for a suitable candidate for United States Senator, have recently approached Judge Stephen J. Chadwick, of the State Supreme Court, and urged him to make the race.

Chadwick will become a candidate in another matter. It took a great deal of urging to force him to declare himself an aspirant for the Federal Judgeship, and since he has lost that the situation is made still more difficult. Democrats have for years tried to make political capital out of Judge Chadwick's popularity. Nearly two years strong pressure was brought on him to become a candidate for Governor, and it was well known at that time to the friends of Marlon E. Hay that Judge Chadwick was the one man in the state the then Governor feared. After considering the matter for some time and looking up constitutional questions involved, Judge Chadwick declined, writing an open letter that resulted in shaping political history in two states. Judge Chadwick declared he could not run because of the constitutional prohibition against a judge of the Superior or Supreme bench being a candidate for other than a judicial office. A year afterward, Judge W. W. Black, overlooking this provision or placing a different interpretation upon it, became a candidate and got the Democratic nomination for Governor, but was declared ineligible by the Supreme Court on the same reasoning laid down in Chadwick's letter. The immediate result of the Chadwick letter was practically to count Justice J. F. Allshie out of the race for the Republican nomination for Governor of Idaho. Judge Allshie was the man most prominently mentioned in Republican councils at the time, but after the publication of the Chadwick letter he was looked upon as impossible. The constitutional prohibition would not apply in the case of Chadwick's proposed candidacy for Senator. So far Progressives seem to rest on the belief that Representative J. A. Falconer will be their senatorial candidate, though Falconer is by no means agreed to this. On the Republican corner of the triangle there appears to be no opposition whatever to Wesley L. Jones as the old party candidate to succeed himself.

Turner has just completed his report for the year ending June 30, which discloses receipts for the year of $12,514.73 as compared with $10,231.07 for the year ending June 30, 1912, a net increase of 22.35 per cent. The total receipts for this year are almost $2000 in excess of the amount necessary to obtain the free delivery of mail. Domestic money orders to the number of 12,382, representing $137,672.81, were issued. GOLD HILL ANGLER TAKES SIX GAMEY BEAUTIES WITH LIGHT TACKLE IN ONE AFTER-NOON'S FISHING

STRING OF STEELHEADS CAUGHT BY CLYDE WALKER IN ROGUE RIVER.

GOLD HILL, Or., July 19.—(Special).—Using a light rod and gray hackle fly, Clyde Walker, of Gold Hill, yesterday afternoon took six handsome steelhead trout, weighing from 5 1/2 to 8 3/4 pounds apiece, from the Rogue River at Dowden's Falls, three miles above this city. The fish were taken within a few hours and represent but one of the many excellent catches made this summer from Rogue River, which is amply sustaining its reputation. Tourists who have fished with the fly in Scotland, Alaska and other parts of the world say that they have never found the fishing better, nor the fishing grounds easier of access, than along Rogue River in Jackson and Josephine Counties. The river parallels the Southern Pacific railway for 25 miles, and almost any point in this distance offers rare sport for the angler. Many Portland sportsmen visit this point each summer, as the railroad facilities are such that they can leave home at night, arrive here next morning, have a full day's fishing and take the night train from here back to Portland, arriving there the next morning.

RECALL ELECTION SET FOR AUGUST 16

Extravagance and Carelessness Are Charged Against Clackamas Officials.

JUDGE BEATIE EXPLAINS

Spite Is Declared to Play Part in Proceedings and Male Voters Are Reported Favorable to Men Who Are Under Fire.

OREGON CITY, July 26.—(Special).—Clackamas County will vote upon the recall of R. B. Beatie, County Judge, and N. Blair, County Commissioner, on August 16.

The recall movement has been fostered by Edward Olds, of Oak Grove; W. H. Hagemann, of Tualatin precinct, and M. J. Brown, publisher of a weekly paper at Oregon City, and is based upon charges that the two officials, as a majority of the County Court, have been extravagant in their use of county funds, have maintained the county records in such form that they could not be understood by citizens, and have improperly conducted the county business.

The campaign for the recall has been carried on for the past six months. About three months ago a series of detailed charges was presented to a committee of five for investigation. The committee was unable to agree and two reports were submitted. Three favored the recall, in which it was said all the charges had been substantiated, while the other members declared they found no corroboration of the charges at all. Subsequent to this a further investigation of the records moved some of the majority to radically modify their first report.

BEATIE DEFENDS COURT.

County Judge Beatie has been the spokesman for the County Court, and has defended himself against the charges mainly on the ground of economy gained for the county. In regard to the timber-cruising, figures show that Clackamas County will gain in assessed valuation and taxation more than enough to pay the cost of the entire cruise this year. The question of increased taxation has also been taken up and threshed out, and County Judge Beatie has submitted figures to show that while there has been an actual increase in taxation, the major part of this has been chargeable to the mandatory taxes levied under the state law, and that other increases have been brought about by road and school levies authorized by the people themselves. When the present County Court took office the county was heavily in debt, and this debt, under their administration, has been paid off, and there is at present a healthy surplus in the county treasury.

WOMEN'S VOTE TO DECIDE.

There is intense interest in the recall throughout the county, and registration for the election has been heavy. The general impression is that the recall will not carry. There is a growing feeling that there is a personal spite in the movement, and while some of the charges preferred have not been answered in the preliminary campaign, the defense which the County Court has put up has seemed on the whole to be well founded upon facts. The vote of the women of the county probably will decide the issue, as a majority of the male vote is known to be in favor of the present administration. Quite a percentage of the signers of the recall petition are women, but their names were secured only after the petitions had been circulated a second time, and there is at present a healthy surplus in the county treasury.

FLEEING BOY PROVES COSTLY.

MARSHFIELD, Or., July 26.—(Special).—For fleeing Harold Smith, an 18-year-old Roseburg boy, who recently came to this city, out of $42 in a crap game in his room in the hotel, Jess Dalrymple was fined $30 and costs. Judge Butler told Smith he had a notion to punish him also for gambling, but owing to his youth he would suspend sentence during good behavior.

MAN, 74, REVENGES HIMSELF FOR KNOCKOUT BLOW BY SHOOTING COMPANION, 67, WHO RETALIATES WITH KNIFE FROM KITCHEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Two old men in the county almshouse quarreled this morning about a pinch of dust and four hours later one of them lay dying, shot through the lungs, and the other was in a hospital cot, badly slashed by a knife. Fred Snyder is 67 years old and has been an inmate of the almshouse four years. John Jonkosky is 74 years old and has been an inmate of the almshouse six years. Snyder was making Jonkosky's bed in the old men's ward this morning. The two oldsters began to worry the clothes in sport, and Jonkosky, to be more frolicsome yet, flipped a pinch of dust into Snyder's eyes. Snyder was furious. He swung heavily at the older man with both fists and knocked him down and out. When Jonkosky came to he snatched a kitchen knife and the quarrel flared up again at sight—this time to the death. Jonkosky drilled a hole through Snyder's chest and one arm, but before Snyder collapsed he managed to lock the other arm around Jonkosky's neck and bore him to the floor, slashing and stabbing the white with the free arm. He had almost evened the score before his own weakness and hurrying attendants prevented further damage.

NEW WATER RULE PLEASES

Extensions to Be Granted by Government at Increased Cost.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., July 26.—(Special).—Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, has announced the extension of time which the water users on reclamation projects can pay the operation costs, if they are unable to make payment now. To obtain this concession the water user must agree to pay an additional charge of one cent a month on each acre of his land until payment is made. Heretofore the custom has been to threaten cancellation of water right applications or suits to collect from delinquents. As no cancellations were made and no suits pressed, the land owners were growing more careless about making their payments each year. The penalty, it is thought, will have the effect of making all those pay who are really able, without working any hardship on the others.
