"With such a course, Eugene will have a complete vocational department just as they have in Boise, and particularly so in Portland. Our domestic science department for the girls is entering the third year. Our courses for girls are similar to those offered at the Oregon Agricultural College."

PLACE HUNTERS NUMEROUS

New Candidates for Klamath Postmastership Bob Up.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The crop of candidates for the postmastership increases day by day, since the request for the resignation of Postmaster Brandenburg.

William Whitlock and former Chief Clerk McAllister are both working for the position. It was thought that the fact that McAllister had been discharged from the postal service would eliminate him, but his friends say now William Wagner is confident that he will receive the appointment and W. A. Delsell, who is in Oklahoma, has telegraphed that he will return at once and make a fight for the place.

MAN, UNDER KNIFE, FLEES

One Sight of Operating Kit Stirs Murphy to Floor Surgeon.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—There was a fight at Thirty-ninth street and Emerald avenue last night, and when John Murphy, who says he was an innocent bystander, recovered consciousness he was upon an operating table in the Emergency Hospital with a fine collection of glittering knives in sight, and Dr. William Borrelli, with uprolled sleeves, all ready to use them.

"Whoop! Stop! Help!" yelled Murphy as he jumped from the operating table. With one little gesture Murphy, whose nose was broken from the early disturbance, banged Dr. Borrelli upon the nose, scoring a knockout. With another gesture of adieu he leaped through a window and ran away, without regard to his injuries.

CO-OPERATION IS KEYNOTE

Clarke County School Superintendent Says Parents Should Visit Schools Often and Observe Children's Progress.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling, the first woman County Superintendent of Schools here since Washington became a state, has assumed the duties of her office and succeeded Professor Jay V. Fike. Mrs. Sterling taught in the Vancouver schools 10 years before she entered the political field last year and secured a large majority over Mr. Fike.

"Mrs. Sterling is a strong advocate of co-operation between the teacher and the parents to create an interest in the public schools. She believes that if the parents take an interest in the schools and visit them often, that they will insist with more energy that their children get their lessons and obey the rules necessary for discipline."

The will bequeaths an automobile to Dr. A. B. Eastham, and the home where Mr. Hazard has lived for many years goes to Mrs. A. B. Eastham. DALLAS CROPS UNHURT

HOPKICKING RESUMED AFTER FEW DAYS' LAYOFF.

Most of Grain is Threshed, Though Shortage of Hands May Prove to Be Costly.

DALLAS, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—For the hopgrower in this section, things do not look so gloomy today as they looked the middle of the week. The sun is shining and every indication points to a continuance of good weather throughout the rest of the picking season. The rain was of great benefit to the crop, and the delay in picking has done no damage. No fear is entertained of mold, and the lice are not bad. Every yard in this vicinity is picking today. Pickers are more than plentiful, and many are unable to secure jobs.

It is not believed that the rain damaged the grain any. Most of the grain of the county has been harvested before this, but there is considerable that remains unthreshed, and some has not been cut yet. Farmers with grain to harvest are having threshers stopped to go into the hop fields.

The fruit of this section is in excellent condition, particularly the prunes. Prune-growers are elated over the prospects of a bumper crop of exceptional quality, with good prices prevailing. The J. K. Armsby Company is buying a great deal, and it is said that the price is ranging from 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 cents a pound. Dr. Mark Hayter, of Dallas, who owns a 35-acre tract of prunes, is much pleased with the prune outlook for this season.

FIAT MONEY PERIL NOTED BY BANKERS

Strong Stand Taken Against Note Issue Only Partially Secured by Gold.

CREDIT EASILY IMPAIRED

Harvard Professor Says Regional Reserve System, "With Some Modifications," Will Prove Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Senate banking committee wandered from the provisions of the Administration currency reform bill today and delved into theoretical discussions of plans for currency revision which had found favor with some of its members. Plans to refund the entire present issue of Government notes with a general Federal currency secured only by a 50 per cent gold reserve, and proposals to amend the present Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency act formed the basis for much of the questioning of James B. Forgan and George M. Reynolds, of Chicago; Sol Wexler, of New Orleans, and Professor Sprague, of Harvard University. The hearings, probably, will be extended through next week.

The Administration bill will be taken into the House Monday with a favorable report from the majority of the House banking committee. Debate will begin early in the week. Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota, "Progressive," today filed a minority report criticizing many features of the bill.

Half Secured Notes Opposed. The bankers before the Senate committee took a positive stand today against the feasibility of any issue of Government notes secured only by a partial gold reserve, and put out as the direct obligations of the Government. They referred with emphasis to the days of "fiat money" to show that the Government's credit might easily be impaired and that it might be put into an embarrassing position by heavy demands for payment of gold on its notes.

Professor Sprague, of Harvard University, said he believed the system of regional reserve banks to be established by the bill, "with some modifications," would be fairly satisfactory. Publicly Relied On. Publicity such as would center about the operations of the Federal reserve board would prevent the board from "going very far wrong," he said. "I don't care what kind of a central bank we might have, I do not believe its powers could be much abused," Professor Sprague added.

His chief objection to a plan for the direct issue of currency by the Government was that it would set up an institution that would have a large power toward the extension of credits. "I see no way in which a purely governmental institution could exercise the necessary restraint over credit expansion," he said.

SLAYER'S LIFE SOUGHT

GERMANY'S WHOLESALER MURDERER PLOTTED VENGEANCE.

Grudge Held Against Vilagers Because They Interfered With His Wedding and Inheritance.

MUEHLHAUSEN, Baden, Germany, Sept. 6.—An attempt was made today by the son of one of yesterday's victims of the shooting, ready to kill Wagner, the wholesale murderer, who is lying in a local hospital.

The number of the killed among the villagers was increased to 18 today by deaths of wounded. The others are recovering. It has been disclosed that the murderer and arsonist were harbored acts of vengeance, which had been contemplated for six years by the murderer because the villagers tried to interfere with his marriage and took sides against him in an inheritance dispute. Wagner wrote: "There are too many people on earth. Half of them should be killed off." He had hoped, according to memorandum found in his papers, to kill many more. His plans had been "carefully drafted so as to permit as few as possible to escape."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant a brew of sage tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By adding at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair. A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray has turned brown. For another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.
