of the Week.

Miss Helen Stokes of Philadelphia.

yellow satin gown, with bead trimming. A wedding supper was served from the marquee, where the bride's table also was placed. The table was adorned with huge crystal bowls of bride's roses and placed about the marquee were tall standards of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Mary Robertson was the fortunate captor of the bride's bouquet, and Miss Louise Burns secured the ring from the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis left amid a gay scene of multi-colored confetti and shouts of good wishes. They are passing a week at the coast and will go immediately upon their return to the East for several weeks, returning home in November.

Mrs. Davis' going-away suit was a chic blue serge, trimmed with collar and cuffs of seakink, and a scarlet brocaded vest. She wore a smart black hat and a corsage of orchids.

Upon their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Davis will be at home at 188 North Twentieth street.

The engagement was announced at an informal tea last May, and the bride is one of the most popular girls in the exclusive set. She is a graduate of St. Helen's Hall, later finishing at Briarcliff School in the East. At the conclusion of her school days Mrs. Davis traveled abroad for a couple of years.

Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Davis, of Saginaw, Mich. The Davis family is well known throughout the Middle West and Pacific Coast, where they have large timber holdings. Mr. Davis is a Director of the Waverly County, University and Multnomah clubs, and his interesting personality makes him in demand at all social functions.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Whitley, of Salt Lake City, who have been passing the Summer in Portland and at Gearhart, returning to their home via the Canadian Rockies. Mr. and Mrs. Whitley have been house guests of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty.

An elaborate affair of the week was the tea given by Mrs. Frank Widdow to compliment her charming sister, Miss Cordelia Cammell, of London, England. About 75 matrons and maids of the smart set called during the afternoon. Japanese lilies in artistic baskets were arranged in the drawing-room and the dining room was brilliant with a profusion of scarlet salvia, which also adorned the tea table.

The dining-room was presided over by Mrs. E. T. C. Stevens, Mrs. D. W. L. MacGregor, Mrs. Walter F. Burrell and Mrs. David T. Honeyman. Miss Hazel Weidner served punch and Miss Esther Tucker and Miss Louise Burrell assisted about the rooms.

Mrs. John Murphy, wife of Captain Murphy, United States Army, has left for Fort Mason, Cal., to join her husband, who left here a few weeks ago for his new station. Mrs. Murphy has been the guest of Colonel and Mrs. John Murphy.

Wynn Coman-Schram arrived last week to visit Mrs. E. M. Coman for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Davis, of Saginaw, Mich., who came to attend the wedding of their son, C. H. Davis, Jr., to Miss Anita Burns, left Thursday morning for their home via the Canadian Rockies. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Weyerhaeuser, of St. Paul, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, left the same day for their home, stopping en route in Tacoma for a brief visit.

Complimenting the much-feted visitor in town, Mrs. James N. Allison, of New York, Mrs. William H. Skene presided at an attractive luncheon Thursday. Seated around the table, which was adorned with a silver bowl of pink asters, old-fashioned nosegays marking the places, were Mrs. Allison and her sisters, Mrs. J. Frank Watson, Mrs. William Muir, Mrs. C. C. Ball and Mrs. Herbert Hixon, the hostess' sister-in-law, Mrs. W. B. Mackay, and Mrs. Skene.

Mrs. Ball has cards out for a bridge luncheon next Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Allison, who will leave early in October for her home in the East.

Miss Virginia Burns, accompanied by her brother, Jack, left Thursday for New York to attend Dobbs Ferry School. Jack Burns returned to Yale.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Hoffman presided at a charming dinner Thursday evening in honor of Miss Margaret Weymouther of Washington, D. C., followed by a theater party at the Orpheum. Additional guests were Kurt Koehler, Miss Frances Wilson and Irving Webster.

Honoring Miss Margaret Catlin, whose wedding to Will F. Morton will be an event of this month, Mrs. Donald R. Munro was hostess at an informal tea on Friday, her guests being members of the Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club, of which Miss Catlin has been a member for years.

Mrs. F. H. Page, of Portland; Mrs. R. M. Schofield, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. J. Lovell, Mrs. Smith, of San Francisco, and Miss Laura Smith motored to Chanticleer Tuesday and had luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry C. Eastham, who returned recently from an extended sojourn at the coast, have taken apartments at the Nortonia for the Winter. Mrs. Eastham was the guest of honor at a large reception given by Mrs. C.

SEPTEMBER has been such an exceptionally fine month for outdoor pleasures that society folk are loath to take up actively formal social duties.

The country clubs are proving so attractive, with such inducements as golf, tennis and motoring, that informal luncheons, dinners and dances at the various clubs are the only diversions offered.

Weddings will continue to be the center of attraction for the rest of this month at least. Last week all other affairs were completely overshadowed by the Davis-Burns nuptials, which was one of the most notable weddings of the year.

The golf tournament to be played for the trophy put up by Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett will begin tomorrow. Devotees of polo are slated over the victory of the Waverly Country Club team, which won matches played in Spokane. The Portland polo team, with Henry Ladd Corbett as captain, includes Captain Gordon Voorhies, Sherman R. Hall, Hamilton F. Corbett and Victor A. Johnson.

Mrs. E. C. Shevlin asked a few friends to luncheon at the Waverly Country Club on Monday in compliment to Mrs. Frederick Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul. After luncheon the guests made up two tables of bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Ekstrom of Boston Spa, New York, are being felicitated upon the arrival of a son, who made his advent Thursday. Mrs. Ekstrom as Florence Morey was one of the popular belles in Portland society. She is a sister of Fred P. Morey.

Miss Alice Carey left for the East Thursday morning and will visit for five or six weeks in the New England States.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Burrell presided at a charming little dinner on Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Baillie, of Tacoma, who passed several days in Portland last week. Golden helianthus and blue larkspur adorned the table around which were seated Mr. and Mrs. Baillie, Dr. William MacMaster, Mrs. William Jones of Tacoma; Harry S. Montgomery and the hosts.

The chimes of Trinity Episcopal Church pealed forth the announcement of the wedding of Miss Anita Burns to Charles Henry Davis, Jr., on Tuesday evening. The ceremony was solemnized by Rt. Rev Charles Scadding assisted annals of Portland society as a memorable event.

The bridal party received the congratulations of their many friends standing before a bank of asparagus fern closely interspersed with tiny white wild asters, and huge bowls of pink and blue hydrangeas were placed about the drawing-room. Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Weyerhaeuser received with the bridal party.

Mrs. Burns was charming in a handsome gown of old blue and gold brocade and she wore a magnificent diamond necklace.

Mrs. Davis was distinguished in an orchid shade of lavender charmeuse, with an elaborate silver embroidered drape and trimming of silver lace. She also wore a diamond and pearl necklace.

Mrs. Weyerhaeuser, who is an attractive and stately brunette, was admired in a stunning Paquin model of white shimmering satin, with overdress of chiffon, embroidered heavily in silver and draped with brilliant. A chic part of her gown was a graceful tulle scarf loosely draped around her shoulders. A headdress of brilliant and bird of paradise in her coiffure and diamond necklace completed her costume.

Mrs. Thomas Robertson, sister of the bride, wore a smart gown of pink crepe drap and filmy lace trimming. Mrs. Hawley Hoffman, another sister of the bride, was handsome in a pastel by Rev. A. A. Morrison. The wedding was picturesque and notable, in that it united two prominent families, as well as two of the smart set's most popular and attractive members. Simple and stately were the decorations of the church, the chancel being banked with palms and huge ferns, with tall vases of lilies on the altar. The costumes of the bridal party were beautiful and rainbow in color effect.

The bride, who is a striking brunette, was given in marriage by her father, Walter John Burns. She was charming in a lovely gown of white charmeuse, trimmed with a drape of exquisite silver lace. She carried an artistic bouquet of rare white orchids and lilies of the valley. She also wore the bridegroom's gift, a beautiful pearl necklace, with a diamond and platinum pendant, the center being a pear shaped blue diamond drop.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Louise Burns, sister of the bride, was charming in a stunning gown of pastel pink shading to deep rose crepe meteor and chiffon, with beaded bodice. She carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses. The gowns of the bridesmaids were stunning models, in tones of pink, pale green and lavender.

The Misses Margery Hoffman and Polly Young, of Vancouver Barracks, wore pink charmeuse gowns, combined with pink chiffon and crystal beads.

Next came the Misses Jean Mackenzie and Gully Cook, who wore white charmeuse gowns, veiled with pale green chiffon and embellished with beads and lace.

The Misses Cornelia Cook and Frances Wilson, a cousin of the bride, were charming in orchid toned lavender charmeuse and chiffon with crystal bead trimming. All six bridesmaids carried shower bouquets of Madame Aaron Ward roses and violets.

Amasa Rust, of Saginaw, Mich., acted as best man, and the ushers were Roderick Macleay, Jack Burns, brother of the bride; Jordan Zan, Ellis Brazg, Kurt Koehler and C. Hunt Lewis.

Following the ceremony, a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Nineteenth and Irving streets. An orchestra played on the veranda, and the lawn, with stately trees and shrubs, was a beautiful setting for the handsomest toilettes of the hundreds of guests who thronged the rooms and gardens surrounding the house. Close to the entrance to the house a huge marquee was erected and gaily lighted with Chinese lanterns which were also strung from the house to the trees around it. Beautiful, balmy weather and bright moonlight permitted of an al fresco reception. The ensemble was most picturesque and enchanting, and will be put down in the
