Governor Says He Wants Full Information Before He Decides Extradition.

Invasion of Library Resented by Leading Counsel, Who Says He Deprecates Intrusion of "Circus Element."

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 20.—A mass of information bearing on extradition precedents in New Hampshire lay before counsel for Harry K. Thaw tonight ready for presentation before Governor Felker on Tuesday in an effort to defeat the attempt to have the slayer of Stanford White returned to Matteawan asylum. The order of the procedure of the defense will be decided on Monday. It had been hoped to submit an outline of the plans to Thaw's mother and sister, Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie, today, but no members of the family except Harry are here.

There was considerable uncertainty tonight whether Mrs. Thaw would be able to make the trip here before the extradition hearing on Tuesday. She is in charge of a physician and a trained nurse, and it is feared the excitement sure to attend the proceedings next week may be inadvisable to bring her to Concord.

William T. Jerome, who is in charge of New York State's case, is not expected before Monday night. He is expected to arrive Monday from his home in Rochester. He was quoted today by a close friend as saying: "Now that this matter has been put up to me I shall decide it in accordance with what seems to me to be my duty, simply, solely, uninfluenced by public clamor or any other consideration. My mind is perfectly open on the subject of extradition, and I want full information before I decide."

SUFFRAGE BREAKS FAMILY

"Votes-for-Women" Cause Disturbs Joseph McGrane's Temper.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—And here we have another peaceful Brooklyn home disrupted (as is Rupp) by the votes-for-women cause. Joseph McGrane, 5 feet 6 and possessed of a Harry Lauder accent, was taken into the Flatbush Police Court charged by his wife, who is 5 feet 11 and braw proportionately, with having bitten her, slipped her a wee bit of ketchup and a bottle of beer. "I am a suffragette," she announced as she took her seat in the witness chair close beside Magistrate Steers.

"Thank you for your profession of faith," said the magistrate. "I am not sure that that has to do with the case." "Ye will, yer worship!" exclaimed McGrane, grimly. And after the story of the bite and the bottle had been told by his wife, he narrated his own difficulties.

24-HOUR LIGHTS ASSURED

Seaside Soon Will Have Electric Service Day and Night.

SEASIDE, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Twenty-four-hour electric light service instead of the night service only, as has been the case in the past, is now assured by the residents of Seaside. Workmen are installing the necessary power units to supply the day-light current.

Negotiations are pending between the Seaside Electric Company and Prouty Brothers, new sawmill men here, which may result in the establishment here of a new and better factory with electric drive for every machine in the entire plant.

If the two concerns can come to terms the electric plant will be supplied with sawdust and stabs for fuel and the mill company will be supplied with power.

DATE FIXED FOR FESTIVAL

Swedish Colony at Vennersborg to Show Exhibits September 27.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The date for holding the harvest festival at Vennersborg, a Swedish colony about 30 miles from Vancouver, is Saturday, September 27, and not today, as was first announced. Several persons journeyed to the colony today, to be disappointed.

There will be fruit and farm products exhibitions from ground that one, two and three years ago was raw stump land. The picnic and holiday will run over into Sunday. Several members of the Vancouver Commercial Club will go to Vennersborg next Saturday.

PUFF ON FIELD FORBIDDEN

Swearing Also Will Be Prohibited on Athletic Grounds.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—No smoking or swearing will be permitted on the grounds of the municipal athletic field, according to a warning issued yesterday by Superintendent Carl Rothfus. One regulation size football field has been laid out by the superintendent and smaller ones for the grammar school lads will be completed shortly.

OUIMET WINS OUT

Scenes of Frenzied Excitement Attend Climax.

CHEERS ANNOY EXPERTS

Excitement is intense. The scenes of jubilation on the home green after the match had been won were therefore natural expressions of pride and pleasure at Ouimet's success in obtaining a championship for America which was considered good enough to take him across the Atlantic.

Cheers rang out in his honor. Excited women tore bunches of flowers from their bodies and hurled them at the youthful winner; hundreds of men strove to pat him on the back or shake his hand.

Among those who struggled to Ouimet's side was a little, plainly dressed woman whose hair was streaked with gray. She was buffeted first one way, then another in the crush, but, persevering, she finally stood almost directly under the champion as the throng swirled and eddied about his supporters. With hat pushed back, and with shining eyes, she looked up and called the one word, "Francis."

Ouimet glanced down and catching sight of the little woman, jerked his hands from those of his admirers and reaching down, grasped her uplifted hands. What she said was lost in the cheering, but those near heard young Ouimet say:

"Thank you, mother. I'll be home soon."

Crowd Sweeps Ouimet Homeward. The crowd, most of them excited, swept Ouimet homeward, while his mother slipped to the outskirts and hurried away across the field to her home, just across the street.

Ray and Vardon, whose fight for the open championship brought out the possibilities of Ouimet as a golfer, were not forgotten in the celebration of victory. Each Englishman was given a "three times three" before the parade started for the dressing quarters, where the recent competitors changed to dry clothing for the presentation of the medals and other prizes.

During this ceremony, in which Secretary John Reid, Jr., acted as master of ceremonies, both Ray and Vardon took the opportunity to praise Ouimet as a sportsman and golfer. Ray said that Ouimet had played the best golf during the four-day struggle that he had ever seen in America and that it had been an honor to play with him and no dishonor to lose to him.

Vardon brought cheers when he said that he had never had a chance to play with the little woman, the play-off, because the lad played better golf and never gave them an opportunity. He congratulated Ouimet and America on the victory.

Apologies Made for Cheering. Secretary Reid in awarding the championship to Ouimet, the trophy of the Woodland Club of Auburndale, Mass., which he represented and cash prizes to Vardon and Ray, took occasion to apologize, "in a slight way," as he put it, for the outbursts of cheering at inopportune times.

This was a delicate reference to a feature of today's play which is likely to be a subject of international comment by the going contingent of England and the United States. Several times today the gallery violated the ethics of the sport by cheering wildly whenever Ouimet gained a point. The same outbursts occurred yesterday, but Ouimet was then playing with George Sargent, who had no chance for first place.

Today it was different and the outbursts plainly annoyed both Ray and Vardon. Approaching the 17th hole,

EAT WHAT YOU LIKE, OFFICIALS ADVISE

Government Warns Public to Avoid Fads of Professional "Food Experts."

RAW FOOD IS ALL RIGHT

Truth Is, However, That Proper Cooking Sterilizes Foods—Civilization Dates From Time When Men Took Pains.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Beware of freak diets and of fakery calling themselves food experts; eat what you want when you feel like it, giving attention to cleanliness and wholesome cooking. This is the official advice of the Department of Agriculture in a warning to the public, issued tonight, as a result of an investigation just finished by the Government specialists into the operations of self-styled "experts in dietetics."

"Some of the advocates of freak diets are sincere, but are themselves deluded," the warning says. "Others are fakery who seek to make monetary gain by advising peculiar systems of diet. Neither class can offer trust to cleanliness and wholesome cooking. LABOR, ADVISES PRIEST

Inefficiency Bars Progress, Says Father O'Hara.

Women's Noblest Work is in Home, Declares Speaker at Milwaukee Juvenile Industrial Fair.

MILWAUKEE, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—"The noblest work of women is to take care of the home, to be the queen bee there, rather than to be able to play bridge and serve pink tea, and hence industrial education has come for girls and for boys," declared Rev. Father Edwin O'Hara this afternoon in his address before the Industrial Juvenile Fair, held in the Milwaukee schoolhouse. His subject was "Industrial Education." Father O'Hara said it gave him great pleasure to examine the garden produce, the cooked poultry, the preserved fruits and the other exhibits of the Milwaukee Industrial school districts here assembled. He said that as a member of the Welfare Commission of Oregon he had found the greatest problem is the lack of efficiency.

"I am intensely pleased to see the handiwork and products of these boys and girls," continued Father O'Hara, "and interest that is taken by them. Industrial education has come to be a necessity. No teaching is right if it does not emphasize the fact that labor is honorable, and that the idle are a menace and danger. Labor builds character, to produce and add to the world's wealth is to labor with the hands."

"Industrial training is needed by hundreds employed in Portland. The girls who can sew and make their own dresses can save from $75 to $100 a year more than girls who cannot do this. The school should prepare the boy and girl for life. And hence I am glad that these girls are being held for the encouragement of industrial training of the boys and girls, so that when they grow up they will not join the great hordes of idlers who are a constant danger to society."

The exhibits were placed on tables in the schoolroom, and were all the work of the boys and girls of five school districts. They included garden products, cooking, preserved fruits, sewing and poultry. All day the rooms were thronged with boys and girls. Also many visitors were present. Prizes were awarded to winners in the afternoon. Mrs. Maggie Johnson was in charge. The Milwaukee Grange served dinner. In the evening a programme was rendered.

Pastor and Wife Entertained. MORTON, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Thursday evening a reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Miller, whose marriage occurred recently in Tacoma. The function was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Broadbent, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with Autumn leaves and Fall flowers. About 45 were present and the evening will long be most pleasantly remembered. Rev. Mr. Miller is the popular young pastor of the Morton Methodist Church. As an expression of their appreciation of Mr. Miller and his wife, several useful and valuable presents were given them by friends.

Woman Fined Second Time. Josie Bosatti, accused of selling liquor without a license and on Sunday, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court yesterday, and was fined $100. The conviction, which is the second case of selling liquor without a license against her, brings her liable for action by the Federal authorities.

Roundup Admitted to Be Thrilling, But—

Dayton Visitor Sees Something of Inhuman Side of Pendleton's Big Show.

DAYTON, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—There was lots of noise, dust over everything, and we were three hours late getting home from the Roundup. But how we did enjoy it!

The dust was a much finer quality than we get at home, and as for late trains—that's the fault of the Roundup for being so popular, and it isn't every day in the week that we get the chance to wait three hours at Bolles Junction, anyway.

You can't tell us that civilization is advancing, for while the Roundup is thrilling, it is brutal, but we took it as if we had always been used to it.

Perhaps the first day we shuddered a little, as a steer driven round and round the arena by a yelling maniac on horseback was thrown so violently, when finally roped, that a horn was broken, and we even turned away when the four horses in the stagecoach race piled up like sheep and the driver was jerked from his seat into the midst of the kicking horses; but we're excusable for that—the Roundup wasn't in our blood yet.

The second day quite calmly we

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 12.—Experiments in the use of quinine as a remedy and prevention of rabies in hydrophobia probably will be made on animals soon in the laboratories of the Pasteur Institute on the State University campus, following announcements of success attained in that method by Dr. L. D. Harris, of St. Louis, and Dr. Virgil Moon, of Chicago.

Dr. Moon, who experimented on dogs inoculated with rabies, after waiting for the sickness to develop, announced a complete cure of two dogs of the three treated. At death the third showed a complication of causes. The quinine was fed to the animals in capsules containing from 15 to 25 grains for each dog, the amount varying with the weight of the animal. For man the dose would be from 12 to 18 grains.

In the treatment of malaria and other malarial where quinine is prescribed an average dose is about five grains, according to Dr. O. McDaniel, in charge of the Pasteur Institute. The rabies treatment would require a tremendous dose for a human being, in cases where the dogs have been unable to swallow the capsules the quinine is injected in solution.

A theory advanced by some physicians as to the manner in which the remedy works out is based upon the supposition that rabies is a disease arising from an animal parasite instead of bacteria, and that the quinine is a destructive agent, as when it attacks the malaria parasite.

could witness riders being thrown, but by the last day were hilarious, yelling savages whom nothing could terrify.

On Saturday two white girls and three squaws were thrown, but what was that to us as long as there were others still running?

This merely furnished excitement, and we had the fun of seeing the Red Cross Corps "hotfoot" it over the field with cots and "whacks" for first aid to the injured.

We later learned that one of the girls had suffered a broken leg, but couldn't hear any further "sickening pernicklers." The casualty list isn't complete as yet, but the squaw, who is alive to the latest fashion hints and mindful of her complexion.

We noticed one in the parade carrying a long-handled green silk parasol and wearing a beauty-spot veil. We presume that she has read in The Sunday Oregonian that the beauty spot is good this year.

The funniest event of the whole affair was the riding of steers, bulls and old bosses. They didn't exactly ride, but saddled up, mounted and then dismounted.

"Dismounted" is one way of saying that they did reach the ground again. It hurts us to say so, but Salem, Or., had the liveliest delegation there of any town represented.

We didn't know it before, but we do now that Salem has a cherry fair every year.

Every night, with Japanese lanterns in their hands, "The Cherrians" did a serpentine "rag" up and down the main streets and made a noise hit, particularly with the fair women.

The town gave every appearance of being open all night, every night, and the carnival spirit ran riot.

They say there were a few little stabbings and such, in dark streets (sorry we didn't get in on some of them), but they were not serious, and heighten the excitement, and that's what we went for. "Let 'er Buck" another year!

Results Not Influenced by Age or Time Standing, Says Expert.

Rupture is not a tear or breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but is the stretching or dilating of a natural opening, therefore subject to closure, said F. H. Seeley, on a late visit to Portland.

"The Spermatic Shield Truss closes the opening in ten days on the average case, producing results without surgery or harmful injections," Mr. Seeley has documents from the Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. Anyone interested will be shown the truss or fitted if desired. Sold and fitted only by Laue-Davis Drug Co., Third and Yamhill streets, sole and exclusive agents for Oregon.

Other firms advertising and selling imitation "Seeley" Spermatic Shield Trusses are impostors. Look for the word patented on each spermatic corrugated shield.
