This department is a General Exchange of Ideas for our readers. Nearly everyone has worked out or happened upon a better way of doing something than the usual way—some new wrinkle. If you know any new wrinkle, give others the advantage of it, and at the same time benefit yourself. One dollar will be paid for each new wrinkle accepted. Address NEW WRINKLE BUREAU, Room 1262 Fifth Avenue Building, New York, N. Y.

White woolen blankets are difficult to wash and great care must always be given them. They can be kept fresh and clean if used inside a slip. Four and one-half yards of sheeting by two yards will cover the ordinary blanket. This is folded so as not to make a seam in the center, and the sides are sewed up. The top is not sewed, but pieces of tape attached to the hem, when tied, keep that end closed. Tape is better than buttons, the latter coming off easily in the wash. A few stitches at the sides of the blanket hold it in place.—M. N. W., Woodstock, Ill.

Many housewives who do their own ironing, do not realize that a smooth ironing board greatly improves the work and lessens the time and energy put into the task. Therefore, instead of using a pad or blanket for a foundation, fold several thicknesses of paper and tack firmly and smoothly over the board. Then put the ironing sheet (tightly tacked) over the papers. The papers do not crease up and can be thrown away when a change is needed, instead of washing a heavy pad or blanket.—J. B. B., Wilmington, Ohio.

To keep evening gowns (especially those of lace or net) from turning yellow in the summer, make a cotton bag about the length of the skirt, and pin the dress by the waist band to the top of the bag, first stuffing the sleeves with tissue paper. The bag should first be dipped in a strong clothes blueing, which will prevent moisture having any effect, as well as prolonging the life of the net or lace. No dust can reach it if the bag is carefully sewed at the top, not gathered, and two loops attached to hang it up by.—A. G., New York, N. Y.

A new way to bake apples is to core and place them in a flat open pan with about an inch and a half of water sufficiently sweetened, and to which has been added a slice or two of lemon. Boil about fifteen minutes, adding more water if necessary. Then remove and sprinkle the tops with granulated sugar and place under the broiler to brown. This gives a better flavor, and requires much less fire and trouble to prepare.—A. G., New York, N. Y.

When enclosing a stamp in a letter, instead of moistening the corner to attach it to the paper, just moisten a spot in the center. The removal of a small part of the adhesive substance from the center will not impair the use of the stamp, whereas the corner is very often destroyed in detaching.—L. M. B., Everett, Mass.

A simple way to shrink dress goods is to place it folded, in a tub of cold water, to which a few handfuls of salt have been added. After a few hours hang on the line without unfolding. The weight of the water prevents wrinkles drying in and the salt sets the color.—G. A. M., Jersey City, N. Y.

When the spring in the roller of a window shade is weak and will not roll to the top, rewind it without taking it down. First coax the shade up as far as possible, and then pass the lower end over the top of the roller, from the front several times, or until sufficiently tight.—W. K. B., Chicago, Ill.

For years I tramped stupidly into the pantry, and stooped laboriously to the flour bin every time that I needed a small portion of flour. At last I discovered that there was no law against my having a small can of flour right at hand in the kitchen.—R. A. B., Atlanta, Ga.

When you buy a box of talcum powder, remove the top and take out about half the powder, replacing it with ordinary baking soda well sifted. This will save about half the bills for talcum powder, and the mixture is much more cooling to the skin.—E. M. B., Chicago, Ill.

The skin of a boiled egg is the most efficacious remedy that can be applied to a boil. Peel it carefully, wet and apply to the part affected. It will draw off all the matter and relieve the soreness in a few hours.—M. G., St. Louis, Mo.

When baking apples, instead of filling with sugar after the core has been removed, try filling with honey and broken walnuts. This is a delicious dish and a decided change from the sugar filled apples.—L. C., Washington, D. C.

RETROSPECTION

S

INGER, singing at my door,
 Bird of Summer, sing no more;
 Save indeed you can bring back
 All the singing years before—
 Bird of Summer, sing no more.

Bird of Summer, had you heard,
 Sweeter far than any bird,
 Those old voices still I hear,
 Looked into those far-off faces,
 Wandered into hidden places
 Still to me so near;
 Singer, singing at my door—
 You would sing no more.
