

Head and Shoulders Above the Masses!

The greatest men of all times have been legally trained. History is filled with biographies of men who studied law and became the greatest statesmen, financiers and master minds of every age. Abraham Lincoln, Patrick Henry,

Alexander Hamilton, John Marshall, Daniel Webster, James A. Garfield, William McKinley and Wm. Howard Taft were all legally trained. President Woodrow Wilson and every member of his Cabinet, with but one exception, practiced at the bar. Through their knowledge of law they qualified for the highest offices in the land. Over ninety per cent of the public offices, National, State and Municipal, are filled with men with a legal training.

In the fight for business supremacy a knowledge of law grows more vitally important each year. The way in which law is taking a hand in private business means that the higher you climb, the more you will need a knowledge of this far-reaching subject. John Wanamaker, Elbert H. Gary, R. S. Lovett, Marshall Field, Edward H. Harriman and countless other masters of finance were all students of the law—many of them studied law at home. In all walks of life the legally trained man stands head and shoulders above the masses. Advancement by reason of this training is quicker, easier and more certain. Decide NOW to become legally trained. Take advantage of the exceptional offer we are making at this time. Clip the coupon at bottom of page and send to us AT ONCE. It will bring you our big free 132-page book on law and full particulars. Mail it today—now.
