Miss Ramona Aberdeen, Wood Wood Well, becomes the bride of Henry Weisiger this week.

Miss Roth Church whose wedding to Kenneth Robertson will be an event of Wednesday.

Mrs. Robert Ames Nelson, Constance Guerrier, a bride of the week.

OF COURSE, the gala event of the week was the Japanese reception and ball on Friday evening, and with the pure glee of the carnival spirit of revelry in the atmosphere the past week was one of the maddest and liveliest from the standpoint of the younger set at least that Portland has known for some time. Dancing claimed most of the attention of society, the two larger dances of the week, the Friday Night Dancing Club and the ball on Friday evening, being preceded by numerous dinner parties. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shevlin entertained a number of the younger set Wednesday night at dinner at their home, and Mr. and Mrs. William MacMaster presided at a charming dinner Friday evening at Hotel Multnomah, Gay Lombard being a dinner host the same evening, also at Hotel Multnomah.

The Halloween dance at Trinity parish-house, given by the Ladies' Guild on Thursday evening, was a jolly affair, and a representative gathering of the smart set assembled for the event.

Luncheons and teas at the Waverly Country Club on Wednesday, the day of the golf match between the English stars and the club's best players, of which the week was replete with enjoyment.

One of the larger luncheons was presided over by Miss Caroline Flanders, her guests including Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. Walter John Burns, Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Mrs. C. Hunt Lewis, Mrs. John C. Alsworth, Mrs. Elliott R. Corbett, Mrs. J. Jay Morrow, Mrs. Edmund L. Devereaux, Mrs. William L. Brewster, Miss Salie Lewis and Miss Louise Burns.

Roderick Macleay was also a luncheon host on Wednesday. Seated around the table were Mrs. K. A. J. Mackenzie, Mrs. Peter Kerr, Miss Evelyn Carey, the Misses Jean and Barbara Mackenzie and the host.

One of the most charming of the Halloween gatherings was the children's party last Friday, at which Mrs. George McCabe and Mrs. Frank Villa were point hostesses at the Irvington home of Mrs. McCabe, 438 East Twenty-sixth street North.

Miss Seidee Lu Knapp who will become Mrs. Arthur A. Murphy this week.

The affair was in the form of a Halloween masquerade and dainty, little hobgoblins, brownies and ghosts of all Hallow's made merry.

Twenty-eight juveniles did their best to instill fear into each other with pumpkin heads, witches and all the other paraphernalia of Halloween which the decorations placed ready to hand.

Games and dancing were indulged in by the little ones, who enjoyed an evening repast at a well-appointed table. Those present were:

Viewed from whatsoever angle, brilliant is the only word that fitly could be applied to the ball in honor of the zanine balcony. Among the attractive gowns noted were:

Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett was arrayed in a striking creation in black charmeuse, velvet and lace, elaborated with brilliants. She wore diamond ornaments.

Mrs. C. E. Grell was charming in a handsome pale pink chiffon brocaded velvet gown, gracefully draped.

Mrs. David T. Honeyman's gown was admirably adapted to her coloring; it was a handsome corse and gold brocade, trimmed with fur.

Mrs. James A. Dougherty was admired in a chic model of white satin, silver trimmed, and bands of ermine edging the tunic.

Mrs. Langdon R. Mason was charming in a blue chiffon silver embroidered tunic over white satin. A sweeping osprey in her coiffure completed her costume.

Miss Malsie MacMaster wore a handsome silver and white brocaded gown.

Mrs. George F. Sanborn's gown was a striking American Beauty satin, with gold lace.

Mrs. Adrian F. Fleming, of the Army Post, was attractive in a black lace gown, heavily jetted, with splashes of pink on bodice.

Miss Isabella Gauld was charming in a white gown with overdrape of white and black lace, trimmed with silver.

Mrs. Frances Brady, whose engagement was recently announced, was attractive in a lovely gown of white satin, with vivid green chiffon over drape.

Miss Violet Erskine was in a silver gray satin, with pinkish lines, which she wore with a white osprey in her coiffure banded with brilliants, and a corsage of orchids.

Miss Katherine Hart was admired in a soft-toned green chiffon gown over white satin, the drape being caught with pink roses at one side.

Mrs. Max Houser wore a filmy creation of white chiffon, lace and satin, with silver trimming.

Mrs. George Kirkham Smith wore a pretty gown of white satin, gracefully draped, with embroidery in silver.

Miss Marlon Jackson was attired in a Frenchy gown of spotted crepe meteor, with lace panniers and deep girde of blue silk with tiny rosebuds.

Mrs. John Banks, a recent bride, was attractive in a white gown, with silver trimming, with overdrape of rose brocade satin. She wore a bird of paradise in her hair.

Mrs. Peter Kerr was admired in a silver embroidered white chiffon over vivid green satin, banded with fur.

Mrs. James G. Gauld was distinguished in a white and silver creation, with rare lace trimming.

Mrs. MacMaster also adopted the white and silver gown, and wore diamond ornaments.

Mrs. H. R. Albee was in a pretty gown of orchid and gold chiffon over same toned satin.

Mrs. Henry R. Falling was charming in a chic gown in yellow tones.

Mrs. Thomas Rortzen wore a lovely white crepe meteor and lace gown, with pink rose trimming.

Mrs. Oskar Huber's gown was black lace, jet and satin.

Mrs. Frank E. Ritley was prettily gowned in turquoise blue brocade, trimmed with brilliants and lace.

Miss Frances Wilson was charming in a pink chiffon velvet gown, with silver beaded bodice.

Miss Louise Burns wore an imported creation of chiffon and crepe with beaded bodice shading from palest pink to deep rose. She wore a corsage of sunburst roses and violets.

Mrs. J. F. Dickson entertained on Wednesday at a matinee party, followed by a tea at the Portland. The performance at the Regis and the later festivity were planned for the pleasure of Miss Gertrude Talbot, Miss Evelyn Van Winkle, of San Francisco, and Miss Cook, of New York. Others who shared the afternoon's pleasures were Mrs. Guy Webster Talbot, Mrs. Harold Sawyer, Miss Isabella Gauld and Miss Hazel Dolph. They honored guests are all visitors in Portland and they are being cordially entertained by local society.

The Friday Bridge Club will meet Friday with Mrs. Robert F. Howard. The membership includes: Mrs. Henry C. Wood, W. L. Brewster, C. J. Frank Watson, Mrs. F. E. Hart, Mrs. John Eben Young, Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. Howard and Miss O. von Destinon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eben Young have returned from the East and are at their home, 302 King street.

Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett and her children, Elizabeth and Henry Ladd, Jr., will leave the latter day for a week for an extended visit with Mrs. Corbett's parents, in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Davis, Jr., who have been taking an extensive wedding trip in the East, are expected to arrive home today.

Between teas and dinners society is kept busy just now, but never for a day do the younger set neglect the rehearsals for "Jappylant," the gay, tuneful musical fantasy that is to be given November 27, 28 and 29 for the benefit of the Baby Home. The affair requires some self-denial and lots of effort to dance many miles, but the maids and matrons and the bachelors, too, are entering into the affair with great enthusiasm. For several years the Baby Home has been in need of an up-to-date heating apparatus; the nurses have been put to their wits' end to keep the tiny pink toes and fingers of the babies from being icy cold in the Winter, and when the appeal was made by the society and the need of the home was made known, the response was gratifying to the management. Under the capable leadership of Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, "Jappylant" is bound to be a success.

As a social event it will be the biggest affair ever planned in Portland. Those who do not participate in the dances will have booths, where flowers, ices and dainties will be found, and costumes to be worn are so varied in coloring, so generally becoming, that the dancers will present most charming pictures. Among the dances and their chaperones will be:

"Parisian Craze" Dance—Chaperons, Mrs. Max Fleischer, Mrs. H. Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Sol Blumauer, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson.

"Happy Jappy Girl" Dance—Chaperons, Mrs. E. C. Shevlin, chairman, Mrs. N. McArthur, Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooks, Mrs. Elliott R. Corbett, Mrs. Charles Hart, Mrs. E. C. Mearns.

"Columbia" Dance—Chaperons—Mrs. Dom Zan, chairman, Mrs. Julius Meier, Mrs. H. W. Lewis, Mrs. J. Alsworth, Mrs. L. N. Lipman, Mrs. C. A. Dolph, Mrs. W. H. Norman.

"Moonlight Dance"—Chaperons, Mrs. D. W. MacDere, Mrs. David W. Houser, Mrs. Martin Gay Lombard, Mrs. C. Hunt Lewis, Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mrs. Robert Smith.

"Tama Yama Dance"—Chaperons—Mrs. Victor A. Johnson, chairman, Mrs. J. Morrow, Mrs. Donald Green, Mrs. George Kirkham Smith, Mrs. M. Lincoln Devereux, Mrs. Antoine J. Labbe.

"Western" Dance—Chaperons, Mrs. James A. Dougherty, Mrs. Morris H. Whitehouse, Miss Hazel Dolph, Mrs. Thomas Robertson, Mrs. David Lewis, Miss Claire Houghton.

Among the patronesses for "Jappylant" will be:

Mrs. C. H. Lewis, Mrs. R. L. Gilson, Mrs. R. W. Lewis, Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. C. E. Wood, Mrs. C. A. Dolph, Mrs. W. H. Norman, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. C. P. Adams, Mrs. Robert Howard, Mrs. J. and you can be sure of the genuineness of the furs we sell, because we guarantee them.

Strangely unlike most other rare and precious things, furs are intrinsically worth what they cost. Hardly, if ever, do you hear of them depreciating in value. Like a diamond, you "invest" in a fur, and, if it's genuine, you will not lose.

We especially urge you this season to buy Furs. Good Furs—Skins are scarce now, and will be more so next season—this statement you may rely on as being authoritative. We are in a position to know.

MINKS—The Choicest and Most Beautiful of All Furs, Are in Extraordinary Demand This Season.

If you are a lover of the beautiful you must not fail to see our wonderful array of styles in large and small Scarfs, separate Muffs, Full Sets and Shoulder Pieces. Every style is new, made especially for this season's selling. You can depend upon enjoying the maximum of satisfactory service from these Furs.
