OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 8.—(Special.) —Three announcements from Wash-ington, D. C., this week have done wonders in helping to knit together factions of Western Washington De-mocracy, but have left a decided sore feeling in Eastern Washington. The announcement of greatest im-portance was the forthcoming appoint-ment of David J. Williams, of Tacoma, as collector of internal revenue. Wil-liams was the candidate of Hugh Wal-lace for Democratic state chairman, and ince for Democratic state chairman, and as such was indorsed by the 1912 Walla Walla convention, controlled by Wallace and George Turner. For this precise reason, however, he was re-fused the position when the state committee organized, and Pierce County Democrats went so far as to threaten to bolt the ticket, until it became ap-parent that Ernest Lister would get the nomination for Governor. The sore feeling persisted, however, and was intensified when National Committeeman Pattison refused to give Williams his indorsement, either as first or second choice

The appointment of Williams will not only help to settle factional dif-ferences in Pierce County, but will give the west side an office always considered as belonging to Eastern Wash-ington. Also, since the passage of the income tax law and the removal of civil service guards will mean incldental patronage in greatly increased quantity, the office takes rank as one of the most important in the state.

White Gets Important Place.

Another announcement of interest to the Democrats was the confirma-tion of Henry M. White, of Bellingham, as immigration commissioner. This is which the state organization has abso-lutely dictated. White was an original Wilson man, but the confirmation of his appointment had been held up so long that his friends had begun to worry. The third announcement was the official decapitation of United States Marshal Jacoby, of Seattle, whose term was not due to expire until 1915, to make another plum available. In spite of the springing up of several recent nake another plum available. In spite of the springing up of several recent endidates for this position, George E. Ryan, of Seattle, ex-secretary of the state committee, seems to have the ad-vantage, with indorsement of nearly all branches of the party organization. Ryan, evidently possessing inside in-formation as to when this place would be open, got the lead, while others regarded this place as too far in the future to be worth consideration.

Eastern Washington Is Loser.

Williams' victory for collector of revenue will take from Eastern Washof revenue will take from Lastern wash-ington, however, the only state position which the Democrats there had counted as their own, it being re-garded as a foregone conclusion that a Western Washington man will be

Two Raids Mark Beginning of Crusade Against Baker Resorts.

BAKER, Or., Nov. 8. - (Special.)-The first steps in a carefully planned moral crusade by city and county offiora were taken last night in raids on two residences, classed as unlawful re-sorts. Deputy Sheriffs served abate-ment writs on Phoebe E. Rawson, her on a charge of conducting an im-moral place, and arrested Dora Riggs, charged with conducting another such place, and served an abatement writ on Ida A. Bowen, owner of the prop-

rty. The complaints filed in both cases purpose to have the Sheriff seize and sell all the furniture of the houses and to lock and bar the house sfor a year, under the recently enacted abatement law. It is understood that this is the beginning of a widespread move to at-tempt to wipe out resorts in Baker.
